

History Department of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill presents
 Fifth Annual African American History Month Lecture

Are We There Yet?: The Legacy of the Civil Rights Movement and Contemporary Black Politics

FEBRUARY 4TH 2009

Pleasants Family Assembly Room

Wilson Library

7 PM

Free & Open to the Public

Featured Speaker:

Dr. Barbara Ransby

University of Illinois at Chicago

Director, Gender and Women's Studies Program

Activist, historian and author of Ella Baker and the Black Freedom Movement.

For More Information: <http://history.unc.edu>

Sponsored by:

Black Student Movement, Campus Y, Center for the Study of the American South, Department of American Studies, Office of Diversity and Multicultural Affairs through the Diversity Incentive Fund, Office of the Provost, School of Education, School of Journalism and Mass Communication, Sonja Haynes Stone Center for Black Culture and History