The Daily Tar Heel

dailytarheel.com Volume 125, Issue 17 Thursday, March 30, 2017

The dog who's changing the game

REMINGTON is a member of the North Carolina baseball team this season. As the service facility dog, he aids the players with physical therapy and also carries out the game ball. He is a very good boy.

Meet the UNC baseball team's dog, the only facility therapy dog in the ACC

By Nicola McIrvine Senior Writer

It's the best day ever, every day. That's how Terri Jo Rucinski, staff athletic trainer for UNC baseball, feels when REMINGTON, the baseball team's golden retriever, is REMINGTON is no ordinary dog. Not only does he spell his name in all caps, but he responds to over 100 commands. He's able to open refrigerators and read words.

According to Rucinski, REMINGTON is the only service

That's only the start of his talent.

facility dog in the ACC, and is one of a handful in the country.

It is something that won't be seen at other schools' games. In the sea of Carolina blue baseball uniforms and in the dusty dugout, a handsome helper is always there to give players water or pick up a ball, his full, fluffy tail dancing in the air

Rucinski, who is also the clinical coordinator for the physical therapy clinic at Campus Health, said that REMINGTON has been by the side of injured players every step of the

"We've had some kids who have had surgery this year, and they seem to have turned the corner quickly emotionally, which hadn't really happened in the past," she said. "I like to think he had something to do with that."

Dr. Jeni Shannon, a sport psychologist for the UNC Athletic Department, works with athletes

SEE DOG, PAGE 5

Week to honor women in field of technology

The week was started by a UNC computer science student.

By Gloria Ge Staff Writer

Frustrated by male-dominated tech culture, junior computer science major Kaylee Llewellyn started Women in Tech Week, which is hosting events on campus through Friday.

She said she wants to raise awareness that women are underrepresented in many tech industries and show how people at UNC can make a difference. "I think the biggest goal would just be to start a conversation and hopefully people that felt like they didn't really have an idea of what they could do to change this gender gap walk away from this week with some concrete examples of things that they can do to be more supportive of women in tech in general," Llewellyn said. Gina Rozier, external relations manager of the Department of Computer Science, helped Llewellyn start the week.

"When Kaylee came up the idea, I think she had originally figured we would do a day ... "Rozier said. "And when she said she wanted it to be big — and she did, she said she wanted it to be big — so then we needed it to be an amount of time ... so we thought, 'Why don't we make multiple events throuought the week."

Rozier said they advertised for the week mainly through social media and through fliers. She said they garnered a lot of student participation.

Second-year graduate student in the Department of Computer Science, Tanva Amert, said she's always loved to play with computers. "I really like visual things, so being able to describe, say, an image or scene really simply and visualize that, or even simplify daily tasks, like math homework or keeping track of what I wanna do today — any of that I do with technology,"

Amert said. She said she thinks women in the tech industry face hurdles and is glad there is an opportunity to have a conversation about the issue.

Computer science professor Mike Reiter, who helped organize the Women in Tech Week. said the lack of women in the field is important to address.

"I think it hurts the field a lot and I think obviously, you know, there are a lot of job opportunities in this field so I think it's important that women have these opportunities as well," he said. "So I think the Women in Tech Week is one of many ways we can try to bring attention to this issue." Reiter said it is a win-win to hold events like Women in Tech Week, because it benefits women and the field in general. Computer science professor Diane Pozefsky said one thing that can help increase women representation in the field is to encourage women to consider technology in the first place.

"We have a lot of different efforts, one of them is introducing them to computers and technologies through different paths ... if you get people

The computer science department holds a Women in Tech Discussion Panel as part of the Women in Tech Week.

excited about what they can do, before they start working on what they do, if you can show them they can do things to help other people or they can make a difference in certain areas, whether it be the humanities or things like that, we'll get them coming in from a whole lot of different areas," she said.

university@dailytarheel.com

NCAA deadline nears with HB2 deal in works

The NCAA set the deadline for today for North Carolina.

By Kylie Marshall Staff Writer

With hours left before the NCAA pulled years of championships from North Carolina, leaders in Raleigh approached compromise.

In a press conference late Wednesday, N.C. Senate President Pro Tempore Phil Berger, R-Rockingham, and House Speaker Tim Moore, R-Cleveland, said a House Bill 2 deal with Gov. Roy Cooper is in the works.

The General Assembly will consider the bill this morning starting at 9:15 a.m.

In a statement released late Wednesday night, Cooper said he supported the new repeal compromise.

"It's not a perfect deal, but it repeals House Bill 2 and begins to repair our reputation," Cooper said in the statement.

The bill would repeal HB2, but would enact a temporary moratorium on local ordiances similar to Charlotte's non-discrimination act until Dec. 1, 2020.

"Compromise requires give and take from all sides, and we are pleased this proposal fully protects bathroom safety and privacy,"

SEE NCAA, PAGE 5

CUAB to host watch party after Jubilee age students to congregate at 2 Chainz will end at 9 p.m. so students can attend both events.

By Sarah Vassello Swerve Director

A Final Four watch party will immediately follow the 2 Chainz Jubilee concert, which is scheduled to run from 8 to 9 p.m. on Saturday, the Carolina Union Activities Board announced

Wednesday. The doors for Jubilee will open at 7 p.m. and 2 Chainz will take the stage at 8 p.m. The show will end at 9 p.m., after which CUAB will encour-

Hooker Fields. The Final Four game starts at about 8:50 p.m. and will be screened on a jumbo LED screen on Hooker Fields, according to a press release from CUAB.

Since UNC reached the Final Four, the Jubilee Facebook event has been filled with students trying to sell their tickets.

"I think when we realized that we advanced to the Final Four, we obviously realized there was a conflict with the timing, or so it seemed," said Ami Patel, CUAB vice president of programming. "I think students selling tickets definitely encouraged us to find a compromise."

The release said the show cannot start earlier due to insufficient staffing.

CUAB said the 2 Chainz team has been very accommodating.

They understand that basketball is a big, important thing to this school and that advancing to this game is important to the students as well as 2 Chainz coming to campus," Patel said. And southern hospitality has been extended to 2 Chainz as

"We've presented the idea," CUAB vice president of external affairs Jessie Beach said about 2 Chainz attending the Final Four

SEE 2 CHAINZ, PAGE 5

By Aaron Whittemore

Staff Writer

Oftentimes, political leaders and the policy decisions

they make are viewed as the ultimate sources of environ-

In reality though, the public often holds the true

power in creating change.

One example of this is food

many environmental issues

led organization that deals with food sustainability. The organization focuses on educating students, said EcoReps

co-chairperson Kathia Toledo,

a senior environmental studies and geography major.

tors," she said. "We try to

"We're mainly educa-

host events around campus

that have to do with general sustainability practices, especially in regards to behavioral stuff, like how people can change their behavior to be and land degradation.

sustainability, which combats

like climate change, pollution

EcoReps is a UNC student-mental protection.

www.dailytarheel.com

Established 1893 124 years of editorial freedom

JANE WESTER

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF EDITOR@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

HANNAH SMOOT

MANAGING EDITOR MANAGING.EDITOR@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

DANNY NETT

ONLINE MANAGING EDITOR ONLINE@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

JOSÉ VALLE

VISUAL MANAGING EDITOR VISUALS@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

ALISON KRUG

NEWSROOM DIRECTOR DTH@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

SARA SALINAS DIRECTOR OF PROJECTS AND INVESTIGATIONS SPECIAL.PROJECTS@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

ACY JACKSON UNIVERSITY EDITOR UNIVERSITY@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

JANE LITTLE CITY EDITOR CITY@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

Mail and Office: 151 E. Rosemary St Chapel Hill, NC 27514 Advertising & Business, 962-1163 News, Features, Sports, 962-0245 Distribution, 962-4115

COREY RISINGER STATE & NATIONAL EDITOR STATE@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

SARAH VASSELLO SWERVE DIRECTOR SWERVE@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

CJACKSON COWART

SPORTS EDITOR SPORTS@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

ZITA VOROS

DESIGN & GRAPHICS EDITOR DESIGN@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

SARAH DWYER,

ALEX KORMANN PHOTO EDITORS PHOTO@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

ELLIE SCIALABBA,

JESSICA SWANSON COPY CHIEFS COPY@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

ASHLEN RENNER

VIDEO EDITOR MULTIMEDIA@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

One copy per person; additional copies may be purchased at The Daily Tar Heel for $0.25 each. Please report suspicious activity at our distribution racks by emailing dth@dailytarheel.com

© 2015 DTH Media Corp. All rights reserved

more sustainable."

Emily Hightower, a junior biology and economics major and the other co-chairperson of EcoReps, suggested that buying organic and local foods and eating in season are simple ways of becoming more sustainable. Although tight budgets can present a barrier to being sustainable, she emphasized that doing whatever you can always helps.

"If you can't afford to buy organic produce, consider going to a local farmers market, or if you can't afford to buy locally, consider just buying vegetables that are in season," she said.

Another organization promoting food sustainability on campus is Carolina Dining Services, which obtains 16 percent of its food from sources within 250 miles of campus.

John Florin, an associate professor emeritus in the geography department whose work has dealt with food and agriculture, is impressed by the strides CDS has taken in recent years to become more sustainable.

Student organizations strive for sustainability

"Frankly, I don't see how they are able to achieve even as much as they do achieve because of the limitations, he said. Many of these limitations stem from broad issues involved with the agricultural production and distribution system in the U.S., but students also directly impact the dining hall's ability to be sustainable, Florin said.

"It's really a two part thing — one part is what Lenoir decides to do, but the other part is what the consumer decides to do," he said. "There has to be both a demand and an expression of that demand from students before it can happen."

Creating change in food sustainability is not simply up to those in power positions it starts with the public.

Often this change is not complicated or challenging. "It's very simple to be sustainable," Hightower said. "People think it's a major life change, but just carrying around a reusable water bottle is something you can do to reduce waste and conserve water." With an expanding group of organizations in addition to EcoReps involved in food sustainability and availability at UNC — such as FLO Food, Edible Campus, Tar Heel TABLE and more students have access to many resources that help create a more sustainable university and community.

Getting involved or simply changing unsustainable habits can have a real, immediate impact without relying on those in power.

Florin is especially optimistic in regard to the change the public can create in food sustainability.

'I believe that we're really just scratching the surface,"

swerve@dailytarheel.com

CORRECTIONS

- The Daily Tar Heel reports any inaccurate information published as soon as the error is discovered. · Editorial corrections will be printed on this page. Errors committed on the Opinion Page have corrections printed on that page. Corrections also are noted in the online versions of our stories.
- Contact Managing Editor Hannah Smoot at managing.editor@dailytarheel.com with issues about this policy.

Boston University SUMMER STUDY

INTERNSHIP PROGRAM

MAY 22-AUGUST 18, 2017

This summer, earn 10 credits while you gain valuable work experience as an intern.

Complete coursework that is relevant to your future career and apply that knowledge directly in practice.

- Arts & Culture
- Business & Management
- Communication
- Graphic & Web Design International Studies
- Politics, Public Policy & Law
- Psychology Research & Practice Public Health & Social Policy

617-353-0556

Boston University Summer Term

POLICE LOG

 Someone committed drug violations on the 1200 block of Ephesus Church Road at 5:30 p.m. Monday, according to Chapel Hill police reports.

The person smoked illicit narcotics, reports state.

 Someone reported a loud noise complaint at Cobb Terrace at 10:55 p.m. Monday, according to Chapel Hill police reports.

The person was having a bonfire and talking loudly, reports state.

- Someone committed alcohol violations on the 300 block of West Rosemary Street at 1:52 a.m. Tuesday, according to Chapel Hill police reports.
- Someone committed a breaking and entering of a

BLUEBERRY

APRIL FIRST

(STILL NOT KIDDING)

visit our website at thetopofthehill.com for Final Four viewing information vehicle on NC 54 at 12:39 a.m. Tuesday, according to Chapel Hill police reports.

The person broke into a tractor and trailer on the side of the road, causing $500 in damage, and stole a CB radio and cash, valued at $147.24 total, reports state. • Someone committed larceny of beer at the Food Lion at 1720 Fordham Blvd. at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, according to Chapel Hill police reports. The person took beer, valued at $2, from the store and placed it in their backpack, reports state.

• Someone reported a breaking and entering of a vehicle on the 100 block of Ephesus Church Road at 1:34 a.m. Wednesday, according to Chapel Hill police reports.

The person opened an unlocked car, but didn't steal anything, reports state.

 Someone committed damage to property on the 100 block of East Franklin Street at 3:30 a.m. Wednesday, according to Chapel Hill police reports.

The person damaged the victim's car after an argument, causing $2,500 in damage, reports state.

• Someone committed larceny from a gas station on the 500 block of Jones Ferry Road at 9:25 p.m. Sunday, according to Carrboro police

WHAT SHOULD WE BE WORRIED BOUT?

MEDIA IN THE TRUMP ERA AN AFTERNOON OF PANELS, BREAKOUT SESSIONS, AND

- LECTURES FEATURING: • CHRISTOPHER BAIL - DUKE
- DEEN FREELON AMERICAN UNIVERSITY
- DAVE KARPF GWU
- TRESSIE MCMILLAN COTTOM VCU • ALISON SCHARY - ONLINE NEWS ASSOC.
- ZEYNEP TUFEKCI UNC
- AND, THE 2017 OCLC/FREDERICK G. KILGOUR

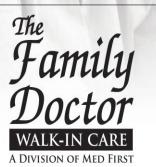

CARROLL 1:15-5:15 PM

DEAR PATIENTS OF THE FAMILY DOCTOR

Please be advised that The Family Doctor Urgent Care & Family Practice located at 1728 North Fordham Blvd, 151 Rams Plaza, Chapel Hill, NC is announcing the departure of Dr. Glenn Withrow effective May 1 2017. We want to thank Dr. Withrow for years of service to the community and wish him the best in his future endeavors.

The Family Doctor is dedicated to continue to provide you and your family with excellent medical care in the future through the many qualified professionals on staff. Patients are being accepted by Dr. Gillian Aylward, Betty Haswell, PA-C, Katrina Williams, PA-C and Kristin Stankevitz, PA-C. However, we understand that the future choice a medical provider is yours alone. If you decide to change to another medical clinic, please call our office and we will provide you with your medical records.

1728 N. Fordham Blvd., Suite 151 Chapel Hill, NC 27514 919.968.1985

www.NCFamilyDoctor.com

Bill could gradually raise smoking age

The bill would not affect current 18-year-olds

By Jordyn Connell Staff Writer

A new bill in the N.C. General Assembly might raise the minimum age to buy or receive to bacco products in the state from 18 to 21 - whether they be vapor products, cigarettes or other related products.

The bill, proposed last Wednesday by a group of four Republican legislators in the N.C. House of Representatives, would raise the legal minimum age to purchase and possess tobacco products by three years, through it would grandfather in people who are currently 18 years old.

Morgan Wittman Gramann is the executive director of the North Carolina Alliance for Health, an independent coalition that advocates for wellness and the prevention of obesity and tobacco use. She said in an email that she supports the bill.

"Tobacco use remains the leading cause of preventable death in the United States and North Carolina," Gramann said.

Nearly 80 percent of adult smokers begin smoking by the age of 18, Gramann said, and adolescents are especially vulnerable to nicotine addictions.

"Raising the minimum legal sale age of tobacco to 21 has the potential to significantly reduce the number of adolescents and young adults who start smoking," she said.

Bills raising the minimum legal sale age of tobacco are being adopted in states across the United States and are extremely popular, Gramann said. "With broad support among men and women and people of all education, income, races and age groups, it is very possible that this legislation will gain traction in North Carolina," she said.

Gramann said there are some concerns with the bill, including the bill's lack of funding for the enforcement of the tobacco use policy. The bill also allows for exemptions for full-time active military service.

Since funding is required to adequately enforce new regulations, she said she doesn't believe the bill would be very effective.

Under the bill, purchasing or selling tobacco products, including cigarette wrapping papers, would be classified as a class 2 misdemeanor

Many proponents of the legislation are current adult smokers, Gramann said.

A Senate companion bill is in the works that would reinstate North Carolina's award-winning teen tobacco use prevention programs to prevent young people from ever becoming smokers, she said.

Michael Walden, an economics professor at N.C. State University, said legislators intend for the bill to reduce smoking at a young age by preventing adolescents from accessing tobacco products.

"There's a perspective that smoking is a detriment to people's long-term health, and if policies can be put in place to reduce smoking at an early age, that may lead to less smoking," he said.

Despite the importance of tobacco to North Carolina's economy in decades past, Walden doesn't believe this policy would have much of an effect.

"Tobacco, as an economic component of the state economy, has significantly receded in recent decades," he said.

Walden said the bill could likely pass. "Tobacco is not what it used to be, and there are other competing industries," Walden said.

DTH/SOPHIA CHIZHIKOVA

Students smoke and converse in the area around the flagpole in the middle of Polk Place.

North Carolina's state economy is now largely driven by industries like technology, pharmaceuticals, medical care and instrument manufacturing, Walden said — leaving the tobacco industry behind.

John Biondi, a 20-year-old student at UNC, said he started smoking habitually when he was 18.

"I don't think in principle (the bill is) a bad idea," he said.

For Biondi, the age difference between current law and the proposal doesn't matter very much — since he'd been smoking before he turned 18 anyway.

"Maybe it's a bad decision, but I feel like an 18-year-old can decide that," he said. "I think someone who's going to smoke isn't going to change their mind when they're 21."

 $@jmconnnell\\ state @dailytarheel.com$

No varsity football for East Chapel Hill High

There will only be a junior varsity team at East Chapel Hill High School in the fall.

By Gregory Hall Staff Writer

Local high schools have recently experienced a lack of student interest in football programs

The interest is so low for East Chapel Hill High School that they will not have a varsity football program in 2017. Instead, they will only have a junior varsity team.

"The decision came about because we've been doing the same thing the last three or four years, our numbers aren't climbing and we're not keeping kids consistently, so we have young guys coming from middle school jumping straight to the varsity level competing against guys who have had a chance to develop and going on to play in college potentially, so skill levels are not equal," said Ryan Johnson head coach of East Chanel Hill

Johnson, head coach of East Chapel Hill.
Johnson has coached at East for four years and has been a football coach for 12 years. He said over his coaching career he has noticed fewer and fewer players coming out, which he said is in part due to recent concussion studies.

Mujahid Turner is a senior at East Chapel Hill, and has played football for the Wildcats all four years.

"The lack of interest is basically stemming from that the players we've been trying to recruit have been freshmen and sophomores, so playing freshmen and sophomores in that situation they end up playing like grown men that are going to the next level playing in college," Turner said. "Putting them in that situation, they don't really want to play, so they find other sports to play and that ultimately turns out to be the downfall for our team."

For Chapel Hill High School, the interest began declining three years ago with the 2014 season. Issac Marsh, head coach of the Chapel Hill Tigers, has been coaching there for 19 years.

"I think the scare of concussions along with the growing interest in other sports that have become popular over the last recent years is part of it," Marsh said.

However, Marsh said he doesn't think the popularity of basketball in Chapel Hill is a cause of the declining interest.

"We have always had basketball and Chapel Hill has always been a basketball town, so I don't see the success of basketball affecting football," he said, "I just think it's a growing change in the culture that we're facing and we just have to get out and promote football and try to explain the safety precautions that are in place with us."

Marsh said the team is doing as much as they can to promote the football team.

"Right now we're making a push to increase interest by doing a lot of little things," he said, "We're hosting a youth camp this upcoming year, but we are planning on having a junior varsity team, as well as a varsity team."

Jason Mihalik is the co-director of the Matthew Gfeller Sport-Related Traumatic Brain Injury Research Center at UNC. His research focuses on head trauma with clinical outcomes in athletes.

"I am not sure that concussion alone is to blame for low enrollment," he said, "I have not seen any studies in the peer-reviewed scientific literature that explicitly state football is 'dangerous.' I subscribe to the belief that football is a collision sport that carries an inherent risk of injury. I feel the injury risk is far outweighed by physical activity and a healthy lifestyle."

Mihalik is not against letting his own son play football.

"If my son (who is still a newborn) wanted to play football, I would strongly consider it," he said in an email.

@gregory_hall city@dailytarheel.com

PHOTO COURTESY OF RYAN JOHNSON

Ryan Johnson has coached at East Chapel Hill High School for four years. The varsity football program has been cancelled.

SCOTUS ruling engages in school choice debate

Special needs students' education plans must be 'appropriately ambitious.'

By Becca Heilman

A recent Supreme Court ruling might change the way public schools and parents approach special education services and school choice.

The ruling last Wednesday said schools must meet a higher standard than "merely more than de minimis" and a child's education plan must be "appropriately ambitious."

"The recent decision basically affirmed the view of the parents that the school is not doing enough to provide special education services for their child, and that them receiving compensation in the form of private school tuition was an acceptable

Betsy DeVos is the U.S. Secretary of Education and a particularly vocal supporter of school choice — made possible through school vouchers.

alternative," said Terry Stoops, vice president for research and director of education studies at the conservative John Locke Foundation.

Stoops said school districts will have to look at whether they are providing satisfactory services to special needs students and whether their individualized education plans and the delivery of education and therapeutic services are adequate.

"I think there's a question of, within the current funding structure, whether (schools are) able to provide an adequate education for special needs students in light of what the Supreme Court decided," he said.

Given the large number of student needs encompassed in special education, Stoops said the issue could be a challenge for many school districts. He said parents should be able to use publicly funded vouchers for tuition and services for a school that better meets their child's needs.

"... It's difficult to determine the needs of the individual families," Stoops said. "We hope that traditional public schools would meet those needs, but sometimes they don't."

Yevonne Brannon, chairperson of Public Schools First NC, said vouchers cut into public school funding.

"We're $3,000 less than the national average for per-pupil expenditures, so we don't need to be diverting our monies into voucher programs, especially the way they're doing it in North Carolina," she said. According to a recent study by the Duke Law School, accountability requirements for North Carolina private schools accepting vouchers are among the weakest in the country.

Jane Wettach, the study's director, said 93 percent of the vouchers are being used at religious schools.

"(These religious schools) are under no obligation to follow any kind of standard with regard to curriculum, with regard to teacher quality and with regard to graduation standards," Wettach said. "The fact that we're using state money to support them is problematic."

The public cannot compare students using vouchers at private schools and those in public ones due to a variety of testing methods and limited access to test results, Wettach said.

"We don't really have a way of knowing if our money is being well spent," Wettach said. According to a 2013 Public Policy Polling survey, 61 percent of North Carolinians oppose vouchers.

Still, the White House and U.S.
Secretary of Education Betsy DeVos have emphasized desires to cut federal funds to public education in favor of giving parents and local education leaders more oversight.

Stoops said pressure is being put on public schools to do many things they were never designed to do.

"If we restore the focus of traditional public schooling to that of providing the basic education we expect all children to have, I think that we would be much more satisfied with the outcomes that our public schools provide and we would see other institutions step to the plate to provide those services that a lot of children need," he said.

@beccaheilman state@dailytarheel.com

Night parking fee raises concerns for some employees

The fee is part of the University's five-year parking plan.

By Leah Asmelash
Staff Writer

On March 22, UNC Board of Trustees approved a new parking ordinance that will create a nighttime parking fee as part of UNC's five-year parking plan.

The plan, which has been in review since fall 2016, would put an end to free parking after 5 p.m.

This could cause problems for nighttime employees by forcing them to spend money to park for their jobs when they previously did not have to, said David Rogers, assistant director of outdoor education and delegate on the Employee Forum.

"It seems to me that the people who would be most affected by it are the lowest-paid staff around UNC," Rogers said.

"(They) are already lower paid, so adding extra burden to them to have to pay to be able to park and to have to come work seems a little ridiculous, especially in the face of the budget crunch."

Herb Richmond, director of housekeeping services, said he has not heard any problems with the new policy, but housekeeping will adhere to it when it is implemented.

Charles Streeter, chairperson of the Employee Forum, said nighttime parking fees had to happen, either now or later, and the University could not keep paying for parking.

"The infrastructure of parking on this campus and the number of people that use the system, it just cannot be maintained with the current parking plan in place," Streeter said.

"Those costs have to be absorbed somewhere, so how do you distribute that equally across everyone that is using the parking facilities on campus, and the way to do that would be to implement a nighttime parking fee structure."

Rogers said he thinks it is unfortunate the University cannot find more reasonable places to supplement the budget. He said he thinks the ordinance was not very thoughtful.

Streeter said the nighttime parking fee is the most fair and equitable thing to do because people with daytime parking permits have been paying all the costs of the parking structures.

"People are parking in the evening and using the facilities," Streeter said.

"So you have to ask yourself, is it fair that people during the day pay for something when everyone, even people outside the University, use the facilities for free? You can't maintain that with just one group of people paying for the parking structure."

Rogers also expressed concern over the rising health care premiums on top of the new parking fees.

"No one's been given any raises but they keep adding all these new and improved fees," Rogers said. "It's not related to parking, but at the same time they're going to increase everybody's health care premiums. The benefit of being a state employee isn't so beneficial as it used to be."

university@dailytarheel.com

Fleming wants transparency at DTH

Editor Selection 2017

By Will Arrington Staff Writer

Tyler Fleming, opinion editor of The Daily Tar Heel, hopes to bring increased transparency and more diversity and modernity in the finances and distribution of the paper if he is selected as editor-in-chief for the 2017-18 school year.

With the increase of digital distribution of news and the rise of fake news on the internet, Fleming sees the role of media in any form as important.

"Given now, more than ever, we need a media that's transparent and very open," he said. "I think it's unfair for us to just assume that our readers trust us. I feel that's something that's been a tradition in the media, but I want to change things and start showing people why they should trust us.'

Fleming said if he's appointed as editor-in-chief, he wants to focus not only on outside issues but on internal issues as well. He said financial issues would be a chief concern which he admits is unusual for somebody running for a strictly newsroom position.

"If the financial situation is so bad that the paper discontinues to operate, that affects everybody," he said. "I really want to make making a sustainable business model for the DTH a newsroom issue, because if we're going to change our business plan we need to do it in a way that accommodates what the newsroom needs."

Fleming, a political science and history major, was the assistant opinion editor before being promoted to edi-

"I think we need someone who will act as a voice for this paper, who's in charge and who's willing to speak to the community from everybody, from the highest administration offices to down to the person who just walks in into this office who's curious," he said.

Kate Stotesbery, a member of The Daily Tar Heel's editorial board, said she feels Fleming is qualified because of his compassion both for journalism and for people.

"I think what makes him really qualified is his thoughtfulness, that he is incredibly thoughtful about every story, every community issue and every idea that is put forward to him," she said.

'But what really sets him apart is his sensitivity and his empathy — both working with staff people but also understanding exactly what story is most important for Chapel Hill, what really makes it tick and what community issues really have a heart to them and have some more meat behind them."

Penny Abernathy, a professor who holds the Knight chair in UNC's School of Media and Journalism, taught Fleming in his sophomore year in digital media economics. She said she feels Fleming is qualified not only because of his friendly nature, but because of his unique farsightedness.

"I think he's a person who's very optimistic - very can-

DTH/ALEX KORMANN

The only candidate for editor-in-chief of The Daily Tar Heel for 2017-18 is Tyler Fleming, the current opinion editor.

do — he listens well and he makes you feel like you're the center of attention," she said. "He's a fabulous people person and has a sense of where things need to be in six months to a year. You want an editor who has a vision."

university@dailytarheel.com

Platform: The DTH must earn your trust

Opinion Editor Tyler Fleming is the only candidate running to be the 2017-18 editor-in-chief of The Daily Tar Heel. He is a junior political science and history major from Randleman, and this is a short version of his plat-

The DTH's editor selection committee will meet Saturday morning to ask him questions if you are a member of the local community or a UNC student unaffiliated with the DTH who is interested in joining the committee, please let us know as soon as possible at bit.ly/ChooseTheEditor.

Student voice is worth fighting for.

The Daily Tar Heel has long been an amplifier for those wishing to speak out, educate or demand change. While we may not always agree on what is being said, hopefully, we can all agree on the need of a student-run media company. Given the current atmosphere of mistrust, it would be unfair for us to expect you to just trust our reporting — I want to show you we are worth trusting. I want the way this paper operates to be open. I want us to be in the community, not just reporting on it. This paper's goal is to act as watchdogs of this community, but to do that, we first need to earn your attention and trust. One of the main reasons UNC and the Chapel Hill-Carrboro community are so wonderful is because there are a lot of eyes watching over our community. Sadly, we have seen local news organizations shrink and regress from the

This is leaving a big hole for the DTH to fill, and it is only one of the many challenges on the horizon for this 124-year-old organization. Transparency is the only way we can include you in our reporting process and make our reporting more accurate. We want to hold the community accountable, and we need you to hold us accountable. As an educational newspaper, every article you see is the product of a lot of work — all

FAIR HOUSING

ALL REAL ESTATE AND RENTAL advertising in advertise "any preference, limitation, or dis-crimination based on race, color, religion, sex, handicap, familial status, or national origin, or an intention to make any such preference, limitation, or discrimination." This newspa-per will not knowingly accept any advertising which is in violation of the law. Our readers are hereby informed that all dwellings advertised in this newspaper are available on an equal opportunity basis in accordance with the law

To complain of discrimination, call the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development housing discrimination hotline: 1-800-

WALK TO CAMPUS! 1, 2, and 3 bedrooms.

Washer/Dryers, $625 to $1,695/month. Compare to dorm prices! www.chapelhillrentals.

DOWNTOWN HOUSE 4BR 3bath House on

Rosemary. Great porch, big LR, good parking. Avail 8/1/17 $3200/mo Arbor Realty 919-619-2160

STONECROP APARTMENTS. Walk to campus, downtown, affordable, 3 or 4BR w/ 4BA. Rent includes all utilities, parking in garage, WiFi, W/D, huge kitchen, rec room, security entrance with elevator. Call 919-968-7226, rentals@

HOUSE FOR RENT 4 bdrm in Downing Creek. 3 mi to campus. Yard maint, HOA and water included in rent. Deck, patio, eat-in kitchen, fireplace, hardwood. Granite and stainless

rage. http://www.patgaglione.com/Fenton/

HouseforRent/index.html available April 1.

com 919-933-5296

millhouseproperties.com

of which is done by student journalists. The beauty of the DTH is that you can be a firsttime reporter and have an article run prominently online or in the paper the next day. Even our most seasoned reporters are still relatively new to the game. While this mission is what I love most about this paper, it does breed problems that we need to address before we can ever hope to fix them. All of us are prone to make mistakes, except our mistakes get published every day. I want to make our mistakes better known, and to make it easier for you to get in contact with reporters, staffers and the editor-in-chief.

If you reach out to the DTH with a question or concern, you should expect a prompt response. Secondly, we need to be more open to shortcomings that are not as explicit. It may not come as a surprise that the DTH has an institutional bias towards the left. We strive to be objective in our reporting, but we are human and often fall short.

Which is okay — it would be naive to say true objectivity can ever actually be achieved. I just want to handle how we convey that bias to you. If we have a hard time acknowledging it before publishing, then we are not actually trying to be objective.

One problem also hurting our ability to be objective is a lack of difference within the DTH's office. This newspaper's staff is overwhelmingly monolithic. If reporting the news is based off perceptions of an event, our organization has strikingly similar viewpoints. Which is a disservice to you. This isn't an issue easily fixed, as its origins are deeply rooted in the industry of historically white media outlets, but through calling attention to it, we can begin to fight against it.

The main area in which The Daily Tar Heel needs to be honest is on finances. The entire newspaper industry has taken a beating. Advertising sales are dropping, classified sections are almost extinct and online revenue streams are proving inefficient. I don't claim to have the solution, but I am confident that given a staff of 200 students and a caring community, together we can figure out how to keep the DTH afloat. In addition to being honest about finances, I also want to open up the DTH further to donations — think PBS or NPR. Our content being free gives people easy access to it, but we need help. I want to give people who value our content a chance to help fund our reporting, and more importantly, fund the education of future reporters.

As we continuously look for a sustainable business model, we must also prepare for the future. For me, I don't want to leave future student reporters with the same economic worries we currently have. While we cannot predict the future, saving money aggressively and keeping an eye on upcoming trends might save a future DTH staff a lot of hardship. Yes, there are many challenges for all of us as we are trying to understand what our roles are in a constantly changing world. Thankfully our greatest resource is in each other. Certainly The Daily Tar Heel's greatest resource is the people who write the content and the people who read it. We are an institution in this town, just like Linda's or Sutton's, thanks to years of community support. It is time we invite you to be a partner in all that we do.

While we are certainly an institution, I want to make sure we are covering issues you care about. It is my goal to expand our sports coverage to local high schools, to cover more local business ventures and all sorts of stories I think are relevant to your life.

Lastly, I want to hear what you have to say. I want to be your paper, and not just in name or because we are the only daily local news outlet. I want you to trust us and be a part of our coverage. We are your community paper, so let me know how we can best serve you.

DTH Classifieds

Line Classified Ad Rates

Private Party (Non-Profit) Commercial (For-Profit)

To Place a Line Classified Ad Log Onto www.dailytarheel.com/classifieds or Call 919-962-0252 Deadlines

Line Ads: Noon, one business day prior to publication Display Classified Ads: 3pm, two business days prior to publication $BR = Bedroom \cdot BA = Bath \cdot mo = month \cdot hr = hour \cdot wk = week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer \cdot OBO = or best offer \cdot AC = air conditioning \cdot w/ = with \cdot LR = living room = hour \cdot wk = week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer \cdot OBO = or best offer \cdot AC = air conditioning \cdot w/ = with \cdot LR = living room = hour \cdot wk = week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer \cdot OBO = or best offer \cdot AC = air conditioning \cdot w/ = with \cdot LR = living room = hour \cdot wk = week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer \cdot OBO = or best offer \cdot AC = air conditioning \cdot w/ = with \cdot LR = living room = hour \cdot wk = week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer \cdot OBO = or best offer \cdot AC = air conditioning \cdot w/ = with \cdot LR = living room = hour \cdot wk = week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer \cdot OBO = or best offer \cdot AC = air conditioning \cdot w/ = with \cdot LR = living room = hour \cdot wk = week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer \cdot OBO = or best offer \cdot AC = air conditioning \cdot w/ = with \cdot LR = living room = hour \cdot wk = week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer \cdot OBO = or best offer \cdot AC = air conditioning \cdot w/ = with \cdot AC = week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer \cdot OBO = or best offer \cdot AC = air conditioning \cdot w/ = with \cdot AC = week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer \cdot OBO = or best offer \cdot AC = air conditioning \cdot w/ = with \cdot AC = week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer \cdot OBO = or best offer \cdot AC = air conditioning \cdot w/ = with \cdot AC = week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer \cdot OBO = or best offer \cdot AC = air conditioning \cdot w/ = with \cdot AC = week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer \cdot OBO = or best offer \cdot AC = air conditioning \cdot w/ = with \cdot AC = week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer \cdot AC = with \cdot AC = w$

Announcements

EXTRAS: Box: $1/day · Bold: $3/day

NOTICE TO ALL DTH

CUSTOMERS Deadlines are NOON one business day prior to publication for classified ads. We publish Monday thru Friday when classes are in session. A university holiday is a DTH holiday too (i.e. this affects deadlines). We reserve the right to reject, edit, or reclassify any ad. Please check your ad on the first run date, as we are only responsible for errors on the first day of the ad. Acceptance of ad copy or prepayment does not imply agreement to publish an ad. You may stop you ad at any time, but NO REFUNDS or credits for stopped ads will be provided. No advertising for housing or employment, in accordance with federal law, can state a preference based on sex, race, creed, color, religion, national origin, handicap, marital status.

QUEEN OF PHO-VIETNAMESE FOOD

1129 Weaver Dairy Rd, Chapel Hill- will be opened Mar 30. Free soft drinks and rolls. 919-903-8280

Child Care Wanted

SUMMER NANNY for Durham family with 5 and 9 year-old girls. Mid-June to mid-August. Competitive pay. Hours flexible with some camps mixed in. Must have clean driving record. Contact kgmanuel@gmail.com.

AFTERSCHOOL CHILD CARE NEEDED for 2 fun girls (ages 3 and 5) in Chapel Hill. Hours are 3-6pm, Mon-Fri. Will pick up girls from pre-school and play with them at our home or out and about (library, parks). Must have reliable car. We offer good pay, mileage reim-bursed and 2 fun pre-schoolers to hang out with! E-mail: Lauren. N. Louis@gmail.com

Place a DTH Classified! www.dailytarheel. com/classifieds

For Sale For Rent

PHD ROBE size 60 (for 6' 3"), $200.00. Doctoral hood UNCCH, $75.00, 8-sided tam, $50.00. All three $250.00. Worn once.

Help Wanted

47-YEAR OLD PARAPLEGIC male with bed sores on sacral area. Looking for bandage changes at least 4 times a week. Perfect fo petitive pay. Email jfaxt@yahoo.com

COMPUTER innovation Research & Training (iRT) seeks a part- or full-time IT Adm to provide desktop and network support. Submit cover letter, available start date, resume, and three references to hr@irtinc.us.

hiring hosts and food runners! Call or stop by 101 E. Franklin Street to become a mem er of our team! 919-967-2678

GOVERNORS CLUB GOLF Course Maintenance needs help maintaining 27 hole golf course. 40 + hours a week with rotating weekend schedule. Contact us at grounds.gc@gmail.com 919-

EXPERIENCED DOG WALKER needed to walk two active sweet dogs together in Chapel Hill neighborhood. Beginning in May. Must com-mit beyond summer. 1-4 days a week, varies. GREAT pay! northchapelhillmom@gmail.com

> Classifieds Deadline At 12:00pm

Help Wanted

Help others lead an independent and fulfilling life!

Full-time and Part-time positions available helping individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities. This opportunity is GREAT if you're interested in gaining experience related to your major/degree in nursing, psychology, sociology, OT/PT, or other human service fields.

On the job training is provided. Various shifts available! Entry-level pay starting up to $11 per hour. To apply visit us at jobs.rsi-nc.org

STUDENT FINANCE MANAGER

The Daily Tar Heel is hiring a student finance manager for invoicing and (supervised) book-keeping. Experience with Quickbooks or Quicken, and customer service skills are strongly preferred. Supervise two student customer ser vice reps. $9/hour, 10-15 flexible hours/week Undergraduate, graduate and professional students are eligible to apply. Email cover letter and resume to betsy@dailytarheel.com by

NEED A PLACE www.heelshousing.com

Go to DailyTarHeel.com and click on email edition to sign up today.

HOROSCOPES

If March 30th is Your Birthday...

Work together for common dreams this year. Strengthen partnerships. Academic discipline wins. A team effort regroups this August, before new passion sparks. October bounty benefits your family. Collect a fat harvest, with two years of professional opportunity beginning in December. Celebrate love.

To get the advantage, check the day's rating: 10 is the easiest day, 0 the most challenging

Aries (March 21-April 19) Today is a 9 -- Take action on a profitable opportunity for long-term benefits (perhaps not immediately apparent). Extra assignments could delay fun or travel. Resist the urge

Taurus (April 20-May 20) Today is a 9 -- You're more confident and less patient; moderate your temper and your speed with overheated. Gemini (May 21-June 20)

Today is a 7 -- Keep a low profile.
Slow to avoid costly mistakes. Recharge batteries and make preparations. Strengthen the infrastructure turns and obstacles. Chill out when that will support you when things get busy. Cancer (June 21-July 22)Today is a 9 -- Advance a team project together. Come up with a backup plan to work around breakdowns. Something unlucky has a silver lining. Collaborate for long-term benefit Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) Today is a 7 -- Let go of old business, as a new professional opportunity requires your full attention. Study the situation. Do the homework you've been avoiding Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

Today is a 7 -- Plan your itinerary before dashing off. Rely on the experience of someone trusted

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Today is a 9 -- Money flows in, along with a possible career advance. Consider the long haul. Share advice and ideas. Allow your partner tempo-

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Today is a 9 -- Support your partner and be supported. Your communications are getting through. If you hit a roadblock, wait for obstacles to clear. Play a game together. Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Today is an 8 -- Advance to the next level with your work, health or physical efforts. Adapt for developing news. Listen to someone who's been where you're going. Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) relax. Postpone travel, and enjoy the scenery. Let someone else manage the shop. Romantic action has your interest: focus on here and now Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

Today is a 7 -- Domestic projects have your attention. Don't spend impulsively. Check with family before investing in something that may not be what they want. Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20) Today is an 8 -- Share with your networks. A beautiful moment arises through connecting with someone. Phone home if you're away. Conflicting orders require clarification. Work it out.

(c) 2016 TRIBUNE MEDIA SERVICES, INC

MASS SCHEDULE DURING LENT

Saturday Vigil: 5:15 pm Sunday: 9:00 am, 11:00 am, 7:00 pm

Monday, Wednesday & Friday: 5:00 pm Tuesday & Thursday: 12:30 pm

Eucharistic Adoration Tuesday: 8:00 pm

Stations of the Cross Friday: 5:45 pm 218 Pittsboro Street (across from The Carolina Inn)

WESLEY CAMPUS MINISTRY

Worship: Sunday Nights 7pm 125 Chapman Hal

Free Dinner: Thursday Nights 6:15pm University UMC Basemen

For the latest details, connect with us: www.facebook.com/groups/uncwesley www.uncwesley.org @unc wesley

Our Faith is over 2,000 years old Our thinking is not

God is still speaking United Church of Chapel Hill:

Welcoming & Affirming Open to EVERYONE Social Justice • EQUALITY Multi-cultural • Multi-racial Uniting - Just Peace Church.

-College Students Welcome-Coffee Hour & Classes at 10:00 a.m. Worship at 8:45am & 11:00am in their psychological needs. Animals like REMINGTON, she said, can aid greatly in athletes' recovery.

DOG

FROM PAGE 1

"One of the most difficult things an athlete can go through is injury," she said.

But having an animal around like REMINGTON could be the way of the future for the psychological recovery of athletes who have gone through painful injuries.

It was no easy task for the 2-year-old golden retriever to earn such a title. For over two years, REMINGTON underwent hours of training with various groups to earn his spot with UNC baseball.

REMINGTON began his training at three days old and once he was old enough, he was brought to a socialization center for puppies. At around 14 weeks old, he was brought to a prison in West Virginia for training as part of the paws4prisons program.

Rucinski said the program helps the puppies because the prisoners help them learn their commands and get experience meeting different humans. But it also helps the prisoners find a way to give back to the world.

Last spring, REMINGTON was brought to UNC to begin his training specifically for the baseball team. But it was not until December 2016 that he was ready to begin his career with the team officially.

"It all started when the baseball athletes wanted to take some puppies from the paws4people puppy socialization center here to the hospital to visit some children," Rucinski said. "But the hospital wouldn't allow the puppies to visit because they hadn't been trained. So thus started the whole process."

REMINGTON is just as busy as his owner. He and Rucinski start their day at the physical therapy clinic in the morning where REMINGTON helps out with patients and occasionally takes a quick cat (well, dog) nap.

Later on, the pair makes their way to Boshamer Stadium to treat the baseball players where REMINGTON roams as he pleases and tends to the athletes.

In his rookie season, he has already gained a great deal of attention and love from athletes and fans alike.

"He's great," pitcher Brett Daniels said. "Surgery is not fun and rehab's not fun, but he's there to lay with you during your exercises and it's really nice to have him there."

Because, of course, REMINGTON is not just there as a water boy or a ball

He was trained by a psychiatrist, Rucinski said, and because of this, he tends to bond well with individuals with higher anxiety levels. Those individuals also tend to do his command sets with him and generally interact with him more often.

"In psychiatric medicine and sports psychology, there's a huge piece that's been missing for a long time, and having an animal helps tremendously," Rucinski said.

Shannon also said that for the community as a whole, it is important to end the stigma about mental illness, as it is just like an illness of any other part of the body. Progress is being made with the inclusion of animals like REMINGTON.

"I think there are going to be more trends toward moving to having a therapy dog in a clinical setting," said Rucinski.

"I'm excited to see what the future holds."

In just the few months that Rucinski has been with REMINGTON, she said she has already gotten numerous calls from other university athletics asking about him in hopes of creating similar animal programs for their athletes.

"I think that REMINGTON's made a difference. You know, if they have had a rough day or had a bad exam, they just come play with him," she said.

"It's hard to stay upset when he's around.'

 $@nicola_mcirvine$ swerve@dailytarheel.com

NCAA FROM PAGE 1

Berger and Moore said in a statement late Wednesday.

North Carolina's bids for NCAA championship sites through 2022 will be thrown out if HB2 is not changed by today, said D. Scott Dupree, executive director of the Greater Raleigh Sports Alliance, in a statement.

"The NCAA has already delayed the bid review process once and has waited as long as it possibly can, and now it must finalize all championship site selections through spring of 2022," Dupree said in the statement.

After days of negotiations, Moore announced an unconventional evening legislative session on Wednesday to further discuss HB2 in an attempt to reach an agreement.

The session adjourned at 7 p.m. with no agreement. The Greater Raleigh

Convention and Visitors Bureau will not endorse any bill, but its CEO, Dennis

Edwards, was optimistic that the meetings this week would lead to compromise.

"We are encouraged by the bipartisan efforts underway in the state legislature to find a solution," he said in a statement. "That being said, we will not endorse any one bill; we simply seek a swift compromise that will allow us to begin to repair the reputation of our region and state...

Berger and Moore said in an earlier press conference that they agreed to HB2 changes Cooper put forth late last week, but that Cooper later withdrew from the

Cooper denied ever making this proposal, but the N.C. GOP blamed him for the lack of action on HB2.

Last week's proposal would make it legal to create local nondiscrimination measures, but only if they are consistent with federal nondiscrimination law as interpreted by the Supreme Court.

Though it would repeal HB2, the proposal would have banned local governments, universities and school boards from creating their own bathroom access policies.

This compromise was denounced by LGBTQ advocacy groups, namely the ACLU and Lambda Legal groups that are challenging HB2 in federal court.

The NCAA has given the legislators a deadline and they can't continue to hide the ball," said Simone Bell, southern regional director for Lambda Legal, in a statement. "We have not seen the language of the bill, but what we heard at the press conference sounds like it still allows discrimination against transgender people."

Even if a new bill passes by the Thursday deadline, there is no guarantee the NCAA will keep the state's bids.

"We don't know how the NCAA or other organizations will view specific proposed legislation to repeal and/or replace HB2," Edwards said in the statement.

state@dailytarheel.com

2 CHAINZ

FROM PAGE 1

From Page One

viewing party. "We're hoping he'll bite and do it, but that's not something we'll know until last minute."

The post-concert screening of the basketball game is free and open to all. It will include refreshments.

Beach said student reaction to the announcement has been positive.

"Part of the reason we came to this compromise is because we really wanted to give students that great experience of having that awesome Jubilee concert that we've been promising all year and also celebrate UNC and all of the things our basketball team is doing," Beach

Many students have reacted positively to the announce-

"It's better to do it together than apart," junior Erica Day said.

Sophomore Clare MacDonald said she hopes this helps after she's seen so many students trying to sell their tickets.

"I feel bad for them," she said. "Their timing was kind of bad."

Earlier in the week, CUAB said availability of the artist and of the venue factored into planning, making the only two dates available April 1 or April 15, which falls during a long weekend when students might be out of town.

Patel said the floor seats sold out within the first hour of being on sale and the lower level balcony seats sold out before Spring Break.

Now comes the week of work before Saturday night's

"I think we're stressed and excited," Beach said. "Ever since we've won over the weekend, we've been really working 24/7 to make this happen.'

@sarahvassello swerve@dailytarheel.com

Got a hangover? We can make it better!

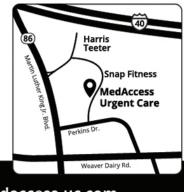

Most Insurances Accepted

Cigna • Coventry/Wellpath

Duke Select • Medcost • Medicare • United

Located at Chapel Hill North next to Snap Fitness.

1840 Martin Luther King Jr. Blvd Chapel Hill, NC

919-510-6679 • www.medaccess-uc.com

dailytarheel.com/classifieds find a job • buy a couch • sell your car

SHOWS AT CAT'S CRADLE CAT'S_CRADLE

MARCH '17

1 FR: Benefit for Bill Ladd featuring: THE CONNELLS, The Roman Spring, rrow Beach ($10)

1 SA: DINOSAUR JR w / Easy Action (Sold

SU: LAMBCHOP ($15) w/Xylouris White

FR: CARBON LEAF ($16/$20) w/ Me And

8 SA: Dirty Bourbon River Show + Ellis Dyson & the Shambles

10 MO: GOGOL BORDELLO ($27/$30)

11 TU: WHY? W/ Eskimeaux ($16/$18) 14 FR: WXYC 00's DANCE!

15 SA: MIKE POSNER AND THE LEGENDARY

MIKE POSNER BAND ($20/$24) May 15 Warpaint ($20; on sale 3/31)

17 MO: CASHMERE CAT ($17/$20) 18 TU: CHRONIXX ($22.50/$25) w/ Kelissa

20 TH: FOXYGEN ($18/$20) w/ Gabriella

21 FR: JUMP, LITTLE CHILDREN w/

22 SA: JUNIOR BROWN ($22/$25) 23 SU: THE STEELDRIVERS ($28-$35)

24 MO: AN EVENING WITH NOAH & ABBY GUNDERSEN ($16/$18) 25 TU: PARACHUTE w/Kris Allen ($18) 26 WE: DOPAPOD ($13/$15) w/ Groove

28 FR: SoMo ($25/$30) 4/30: Ab-Soul (22.50/$25)

MAY '17

2: The Black Lips ($14/$16) May 5: ADRIAN BELEW POWERTRIO

w/ Saul Zonana ($26/$30) May 9: X 40th Anniversary Tour -- all Original Members! ($20/$23) May 10: SLOWDIVE ($36/$39) w/Casket Girls

11 TH: Crank It Loud Presents: PUP ($15/$17) May 14: Sara Watkins ($18 adv/$22 day of seated show)

May 16: WHITNEY ($16) w/ Natalie Prass May 17: NEW FOUND GLORY ($22/$26) w/ Trash Boat

($17/$19)May 20: SAY ANYTHING / BAYSIDE w/ Hot Rod Circuit ($21/$23) May 23 TU: Tigers Jaw w/ Saintseneca and Smidley ($16/ $18)

JUNE 3: DELTA RAE ($25/$28) JUNE 5: CAR SEAT HEADREST $17/$20) w/ Nap Eyes

JUNE 6: THE ORWELLS ($18/$20) JUNE 17: Misterwives ($20/ $23; on

June 21 LIZZO ($18/$30)

July 19: JOHN MORELAND (seated Nov 7: THE STRUMBELLAS ($22/$25)

 ON -LINE! @ CATSCRADLE.COM

www.catscradle.com

The BEST live music ~ 18 & over admitted

Sunday, 4/2: LAMBCHOP

300 E. Main Street · Carrboro

Saturday, 4/8: ELLIS DYSON & THE SHAMBLES

19 FR: Perfume Genius w/ serpentwithfeet Monday, 4/10: GOGL BORDELLO

June 22: LAKE STREET DIVE SHAKORI HILLS COMMUNITY ARTS CENTER Tickets on sale 3/31, 10 AM

ALSO PRESENTING: SHOWS AT CAT'S CRADLE BACK ROOM: MARCH TH: The Suitcase Junket w/ Dupont Brothers ($10/$12

919-967-9053 1 SA: Strike a Chord with Musical Empowerment! ($10) ~ Carolina Ukulele Ensemble ~ The Buena Vistas ~ Red Clay

> 5 WE: Lorelei, Antenora, Anamorph ($7) similar South ~ Bonn and Tepp ~ MKR ~ LAIRS ~ Disgo Volante

3 TH: MATT PRYOR & DAN ANDRIANO w/ Frie Choir ($13/$15) 14 FR: KAWFHI ($12/$15)

DOLLAR PISTOLS
9 SA: THE DEAD TONGUES / LOAMLANDS w/Molly Sarle ($10)
30 SU: SEAN ROWE w/Faye Webster ($12)
2 TU: Sweet Crude w/ Motel Radio ($10)
3 WE: CLAP YOUR HANDS SAY YEAH ($16/$18) w/ Laura Gibsor
5 FR: MELODIME ($10/$12)
6 SA: SHANNIND MCMALU ($17/$20) SA: SHANNON MCNALLY ($17/$20)

6 SA: SHANNUM MICNALLY ($17/$2U)
7 SU: LETTERS FROM THE FIRE W/ Kaleido ($12/$14)
8 MO: THE BESNARD LAKES W/ The Life and Times ($12)
10 WE: TWIN PEAKS W/ Chrome Pony and Post Animal ($15)
13 sa: GREG HUMPHREYS TRIO ($12/$15)
May 17: The Deer
May 18: Cory Wells, DRISKILL, Anne-Claire ($6/$8)
19 FR: HAAS KOWERT TICE ($12/$15)
21 SIL WAY DIOWN WAMDERFRS ($11/$13)

21 SU: WAY DOWN WANDERERS ($11/$13) May 23 TU: Dead Man Winter (feat. Dave Sim May 24: Tobin Sprout and Elf Power ($13/$15) May 25: Valley Queen w/ Christopher Paul Stelling ($10/$12) May 26: ZACH WILLIAMS (0f the Lone Bellow) $17/$20

IUNE 7: GRIFFIN HOUSE ($20/$23 une 9: JONATHAN BYRD

SHOWS AT HAW RIVER BALLROOM:
April 1: PATRICK WATSON ($20/$22) w/Trevor Sensor
April 28: GENERATIONALS w/Psychic Twin ($14/$16)
June 11: James Vincent McMorrow ($20/$22) SHOWS at THE ARTSCENTER (Carrboro):

SHOW at THE RITZ (Raleigh): av 1: THE NEW PORNOGRAPHERS ($30) W/Waxahatchee SHOWS AT CAROLINA THEATRE / DURHAM: oril 21: North Carolina Screen Premiere of Thank You Friends

SHOW at Red Hat Amphitheatre (Raleigh):

May 10: Run River North w/Arkells and COBI ($15/$17) SHOWs AT DPAC / DURHAM: RIL 20,21, 2017: STEVE MARTIN AND MARTIN SHORT with STEEF ANYON RANGERS

June 22: LAKE STREET DIVE ($25/$30; on sale 3/31) SEPT 30: SYLVAN ESSO w/ tUnE-yArDs, WYE OAK, Helado Negro & mor SHOWS At NC MUSEUM OF ART (RALEIGH):

31 FR: Transportation, Bat Fangs, S

blers – Nick White (and friends)

bwed by UNC-OREGON WATCH PARTY! 2 SU: CARRIE ELKIN w/Danny Schmidt ($12/$15)

6 TH: BE LOUD! CAROLINA ($5): Carolina Ukulele Ensemble

obsamination of the provincial repp vision of the provincial representation of the Wyrms and S E Ward (full band) $6 S SA: DRIFTWOOD w/ The Genuine 9 SU: BIRDS OF CHICAGO ($12/$15) 2 we: Mo Lowda & The Humble and Left on Franklin

14 FF: KAWEHI ($12/$15)
15 SA: DIFT CIG W (Daddy Issues and Fish Dad ($10
17 MO: SALLIE FORD w/ Molly Burch ($10/$12)
18 TU: SWEET SPIRIT ($10/$12) w/TOMA and Ravary
19 WE: ACID MOTHERS TEMPLE w/ BABYLON ($10/$12)
20 TH: SCOTT MILLER ($12/$14)

2 SA: SORORITY NOISE w / Sinai Vessel, The Obsessives ($13/$15 6 WE: THRIFTWORKS w/ Flamingosis ($15/$17) 7 TH: THE WILD REEDS and BLANK RANGE ($12/$14) 28 FR: SARAH SHOOK & THE DISARMERS ($10/$12) w/ TWO

JUNE JUNE 14: JOAN SHELLEY w/ Jake Xerxes Fussell ($13/$15) June 15: MARSHALL CRENSHAW Y LOS STRAITJACKETS ($20) JUNE 17: BARNS COURTNEY ($14/$16)

May 14: Robyn Hitchcock  ($20 adv/ $23 da

Star's Third Live ... and More ($15) also live panel and special

SHOWs AT KINGS (Raleigh): 1 ($13/$15) ANDY SHAUF w/ Julia Jacklin

Shows at Pinhook (DURHAM): April 22: SERATONES ($12) April 24: MATTHEW LOGAN VASQUEZ (of DELTA SPIRIT) $13/$15 SHOW AT SHAKORI HILLS COMMUNITY CENTER:

May 6: MIPSO w/ River Whyless
JUNE F. Four Voices: Joan Baez, Mary Chapin Carpenter & Indigo
Girls Army Ray & Emily Saliers (SOLD OUT)
June 13: KALEO

JUN 18: JASON ISBELL AND THE 400 UNIT June 24: SHERYL CROW JULY 22: MANDOLIN ORANGE w/ Joe Pu JULY 31: Belle and Sebastian And ANDREW BIRD AUG. 1: American Acoustic Tour w/ PUNCH BROTHERS and I'M WITH HE

games SU

7

4

9

8

7

2

Level: 1 2 3 4

3

2

8

4

9

7 1

Across

1 "Yeah, sure!"

bean

6 Some CPAs and MBAs

14 What choir members

21 Stat for which Babe

28 Joan

44 Legal scholar 45 "Obsessable

series" movie

meant to Paul Revere

channel

49 Bow 51 Billboard

charts

56 Tart vodka

cocktails

61 Greenish

60 Petunia part

47 What "two"

5

© 2015 The Mepham Group. All rights reserved TRIBUNE Complete the grid > every digit 1 to 9. Solution to > > last puzzle

so each row, column

and 3-by-3 box (in bold borders) contains

		1	3	9	2	4	5	8	7	6
		7	2	6	1	3	8	5	9	4
		8	4	5	6	9	7	3	1	2
$\overline{}$		2	5	7	9	8	6	4	3	1
/		3	6	8	4	2	1	9	5	7
Г		4	9	1	7	5	3	2	6	8
5		6	8	4	5	1	9	7	2	3
		5	7	3	8	6	2	1	4	9
		9	1	2	3	7	4	6	8	5
	•

If you don't work here

Maybe you should sit on the DTH editor selection committee Saturday. Visit bit.ly/ChooseTheEditor.

for election in November. Visit online for more.

Aldermen spots will be up

Carrboro politics!

Several Board of

Air Bud was the best One Swerve writer is totally confident Air Bud could win an NCAA title.

Visit Swerve for more. A Tar Heel victory

The softball team won Wednesday in a rematch against UNC-Greensboro. Visit online for more.

Los Angeles Times Daily Crossword Puzzle

4

62 Use the escalator, about half the time

63 Plant swelling

65 Alternatively

64 What a stet cancels

(C)2012 Tribune Media All rights reserved

52 Expectant mom's words 53 Inscribed pillar

56 Some TV screens 57 They work better when they focus 58 Dairy Queen order

63 Skillful, facetiously

50 Cube's dozen

55 Blockbuster

59 Lucky streak

54 Lead on

66 Cheap mags have to carry 15 Lined up, with "in" 67 Old jet-set jets 16 2001 Winslet/Dench 68 Bob or dog attachment title role 69 Canines, e.g. 17 Hero makers 18 Window shopper's buy Down 19 Bottle part 20 Double-helix molecules 1 Irrigated grain field 2 Courtroom figure

3 Hippy dances? 4 Italian cookie flavoring Ruth's 457 is the singleseason record 5 Filmmaker Crayen 23 Site of many Ansel 6 Holly Golightly's creator 7 Place for annual pledging Adams works 8 Chaplin of "Game of 25 Online chortle 26 Wide awake Thrones'

9 Balloon

10 Elite Eight survivors

32 Aplenty 36 Carmelite, perhaps 11 War god 38 Muffin topper 12 Target of many a New 39 What the groups of Year's resolution circled letters graphically 13 Poses 21 Floor installers represent 42 Labyrinth 43 Plop down

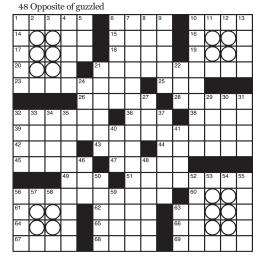

|a|t|o|n|a| WESTS WARBRIDENUANCE

22 Savior of Scout and Jem, in "To Kill a Mockingbird" 24 Filly, eventually 27 Mild rebuke

30 Great American Ball Park team 31 COLA component 32 69-Across holders 33 Vet school subj. 34 Joel's "Cabaret" co-star 35 Hinted-at hidden 29 End of a ball game?

meanings 37 AFC East team 40 Sis or bro 41 Grade of excellence: Abbr. 46 Cab alternative

Annie Kiyonaga

Annie Get Your Pen

Sophomore art history and English major from Chevy Chase, MD. Email: anniek@live.unc.edu

What am

I doing with my

f there's such thing as a

other smaller segments

of life contain mid-crises.

Therefore, if college is a segment of time, then the mid-

college crisis, as I've seen it and prevalent. If/then statements. Processions of logic to demarcate a thoroughly idea that, somehow, whatever you're doing at 19, or illogical thought process: the 20, or however old you are in your second semester of your sophomore year of college, is not acceptable or impressive or conducive to "real life" things.

My roommate burst into our room yesterday exuding an aura of faint panic. She had a computer science test tomorrow; she never goes to class

because she doesn't find the ful; and, anyway, what does

she even want to do with her life? Why, she asked me, was she taking computer science?

exactly, you did in a computer

I pictured a windowless

illuminating the distressed faces of hundreds of young coders. My roommate once told me that you could write of it would work. You would existing lines, looking for the errant symbol. I was baffled.

Was it actually possible that want to do that with their time? I couldn't answer her question, and she couldn't really answer mine, either.

can I answer my own questions about my personal aspirations? I recently read "The Elif Batuman. In it, Batuman

Idiot," an excellent novel by writes, "Even though I had a deep conviction that I was good at writing, and that in some way I already was a writer, this conviction was completely independent of my ever having written anything, or being able to ever

imagine writing anything,

like to read."

that I thought anyone would

I literally gasped when I

anyone else felt like that — like they could, and would, write,

but had no idea what to write about, or who would ever want to read their musings for more than 100 lines. I underlined it and recopied it in my journal.

Am I a writer because I write for myself, by myself, in a journal that no one will ever read?

Can I consider myself a writer

if I've never written anything

KNOW. I don't know what I'm

I guess, to be fair, at this point,

On a whim, I took German doing or who I'm doing it for.

my first year of college. Now, almost two years later, I'm and learning in Berlin for seven months. This comforts planning on living, working me. A seemingly inconsequential or aimless choice eventually dictated where and how I would spend seven months of my life. Maybe, if I keep making enough random, authentic posed to end up. Where exactly

3/31: Lens of Onyx

Cameron Jernigan writes on

Black issues and culture.

choices, they'll lead me, eventually, to the place I'm sup-is that, though?

for publication? I DON'T

no one really knows.

read that line. I didn't think

More importantly, though,

anvone, anywhere, would ever have to comb through the hundreds of lines of code and, if one letter was wrong, none

room with rows of computers,

I countered by asking what,

science exam.

in-class instruction to be help-unfold around me, is both real mid-life crisis, then surely

The Daily Tar Heel

JANE WESTER EDITOR, 962-4086 OR EDITOR@DAILYTARHEEL.COM TYLER FLEMING OPINION EDITOR, OPINION@DAILYTARHEEL.COM EMILY YUE ASSISTANT OPINION EDITOR

Established 1893, 124 years of editorial freedom

Opinion

EDITORIAL BOARD MEMBERS

TREY FLOWERS DAVID FARROW JONATHAN NUNEZ KATE STOTESBERY

CHRIS DAHLIE GEORGIA BRUNNER ZAYNAB NASIF

WILL PARKER FAITH NEWSOME GABY NAIR SAVANNAH FAIRCLOTH

EDITORIAL

Nap time, nap space

UNC needs better places to take a mid-day nap.

▼ his board was disappointed to see that the boxy cubbies in the Undergraduate Library's basement — previously some of the most appealing nap spots on campus — have disappeared. While we respect that more students may be able to fit into the basement study room now, we want to make some things clear: sleeping matters, naps matter and UNC's campus lacks sufficient nap space.

Even short naps, such as those squeezed in a break between classes or before an on-campus meeting, can improve mood, alertness and performance, according to the National Sleep Foundation. Students who live off campus or commute to UNC would particularly benefit from safe napping space on campus.

In late 2016, the Carolina Union Board of Directors showed at least a small measure of support for napping when it lifted the restriction against sleeping in the Union basement's Meditation Room. But the Meditation Room's other functions — providing space for students to pray or meditate — may be negatively affected by nearby nappers. We definitely don't want our snores to disturb our fellow students' religious practice.

Space on campus is definitely limited, but surely some portion of some library or perhaps the Union can be marked off as nap-friendly. A dedicated room with low lights would be ideal, but recreating some specialized seating like what used to be in the UL basement would be good, too.

A safe and comfortable place to nap will improve our academics and our emotional and physical well-being for a low cost, and we think that's an awfully good deal.

EDITORIAL

Just let us know

you're planning to do construction.

he sidewalk in front of Ackland Art Museum is officially back open, producing a general sigh of relief from all who were inconvenienced by the detour over the past few months. Construction is something all colleges seem to be constantly doing — one of the many lovable annoyances of college that generally make the campus better in the long run.

But the benefits of construction can become temporarily mute when you're late for class and the quick-

UNC, text us when est path to your building construction is blocked off. While this type of situation cannot be totally avoided, we propose a non-mandatory textbased messaging system that alerts students which paths are closed and when they will reopen. Think of an Alert Carolina or a traffic alert type of service.

Being able to check your phone and know which areas to avoid before you leave your dorm or house every morning can decrease the negative sides of construction. And a clear alert would help students with injuries or physical disabilities know which ramps or other access points might be temporarily closed for Granted, it is possible to see where construction is by reading this paper, checking Twitter and by looking at the current projects on the UNC Facilities Services website. We appreciate any efforts to help raise awareness of on-campus construction, but these options may not be the most intuitive places to check while you're sprinting up MLK on your way to a biology class.

Ultimately, this is an easy fix to not the biggest problem in the world. College is stressful enough, and any effort to decrease the stress on students and faculty should be seen as a step in the right direction.

QuickHits

Anyone who doesn't knock on wood after even thinking about the game on Saturday is doing a disservice to this community. Generally, this paper prides itself on skepticism, but given the stakes this weekend, there is no such thing as taking too much precaution. Please do your part in not jinxing our team.

If you haven't noticed, these Quick Hits are dedicated to Roy Williams and our entire basketball team. A lot currently divides the Tar Heel Nation, but on Saturday we should all have the same goal of cheering our team on. We can worry about politics next week. Right now, we all should unite for one goal.

Go Heels

Hail, Maye

We are not the first, nor will we be the last to sing Luke Maye's praises.

He will forever have a special place in our hearts for ruining every Kentucky fan's day and rest of the tournament. Luke, you're a born hero. You were sent by Dean Smith's spirit to get us into the Final Four. Thank you, thank you, thank you.

Second-rate coach

We bet Dana Altman,

once said "daggum" at a press conference. That alone should being the better of the two coaches. Frankly, just writing this Quick Hit is somewhat insulting to Coach Williams — everyone knows he is the best. He doesn't need us to say it.

Booooooo This down thumb goes to every player who dares stand in our basketball team's way this weekend. We doubt Oregon players will be reading this, but we hope they know we have seen their work, and we are not fans. The "O" in their name actually stands for "O no, here comes the Tar Heels."

the wall, I start to cry.

QUOTE OF THE DAY

"There is a lot of struggle and a lot of time loss for them before they can actually get the help that they need."

Lauren Turner-Brown, on families finding out their child has autism

FEATURED ONLINE READER COMMENT

"if only the BOT didn't put a 16 year moratorium on building name changes ..."

UNC Student, on asking students to say "Chase Hall" instead of "Rams"

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

'One Day' by Duke's Grayson Allen

TO THE EDITOR: I look at my watch. 4 p.m. Time for practice. Well, it would be time for practice. Damn.

I start walking home. Maybe "Burn Notice" is on. I need a break from everyone looking at me.

My phone buzzes. It's a text from Kennard. He sent me an ESPN article. It says, "Could Anyone Ever Love Grayson Allen?'

This hurts. Why would Luke send me that?

"Haha," I type back. "You love me, don't you, K?" He doesn't respond. I keep walking. My mom calls me. Apparently a bunch of elementary schools in North Carolina have banned students from wearing my jersey. She says it's because I'm a bad role model for young athletes. I ask my mom for advice.

She says I should lay low for a while, try not to do anything awful. That's a good idea, I say. But it's hard. It's not hard, she says. Just be a normal human being.

She doesn't get it. No one gets it. I just want to go home.

A big group of people steps in front of me. They're whispering. Amile Jefferson is there. "Hey, Amile," I say. But he doesn't respond. "Say it," a short blonde guy says to Amile. Amile's face seems pained. "Say it," the little one says again, louder. Amile looks at me. "You're had at haskethall" Amile says. "And you look weird."

They all start laughing. They don't stop laughing for a long time. Amile just looks sad.

I keep walking. I know what Amile said isn't true. He just said that to be cool.

I decide to stop at Coach's office before going home. Maybe he'll talk to Luke and Amile for me.

When I knock on his door, he's watching a video on his computer. He tries to close it when he sees me, but he can't.

So we watch the rest of

It's the scene from Star Wars when Obi-Wan cuts off all of Anakin's limbs because Anakin is on his way to becoming a Sith

Except, in this video, my head is on Anakin's body and Coach's head is on Obi-Wan's.

When the video ends, neither of us speaks.

"Did you make that video, Coach?" I finally ask him.

Coach doesn't look at me. "I'm sorry you had to see that," he says. "It's probably best for you to leave." So I do. I keep walking and walking. Eventually I get to my apartment. I open the door, walk in, close the door. It's dark. Bracing myself against

Why does everyone hate me so much?

I just want to play ball. All I've ever wanted to do is play ball.

Sometimes I just get mad and hurt people. Why do I have to get so mad?

A tear slides off my cheek. I reach down and catch it before it hits the floor.

I smile. I am so fast. I am a ball-handler and a tearhandler. It doesn't matter what object is falling. I can catch it.

Another tear falls. I reach for it. Splash. Damn.

That one was really fast. I turn on the TV. "Burn Notice" isn't on, but

"Aladdin" is. I love "Aladdin." Not the character. The movie. Aladdin is a thief. Jafar is the hero of the movie. I like when he turns into a big snake. Sssss.

I wish I could turn into a snake. I'd slither away from here and go somewhere else. I change the channel.

ESPN is playing highlights of the UNC game. Apparently Luke Maye hit a buzzer-beater to beat Kentucky.

Wow. He looks so happy on TV.

I decide to text him. No reason to be bitter about this. "Nice job against UK, man," I write. "I know we've had our differences, but you're a good guy and I look up to you a lot. Let's shoot around some time if you're free. Maybe Thursday?" I send it. It feels good to be nice. Why do people have to e so mean all the time?

Maybe Luke and I could do an interview together. It would be like, "Even the Duke-UNC rivalry can't stop these two great players and better friends from hanging out. Luke and Grayson are everyone's favorite best friends. We can't even remember hating Gravson." That would be nice. That would make things better.

My phone buzzes. Luke texted me back. "Thanks!" he says. "By the way, who is

I put my phone down. All the objects in the room start moving away from me.

I can't see anything. All I can hear is Amile and Kennard and Coach and my mom yelling.

So much yelling. Why are they yelling at me?

I crawl onto the floor. Turn "Aladdin" back on. Jafar is hypnotizing that fat

"Ssssss, I'm a sneaky little snake," I whisper, inching my body around on my carpet. I'm crying again.

"One day I'm going to slither far away. Ssssssss. Just like Jafar. One day I'll slither far, far away."

One day. One day.

> Griffin Unger SeniorPublic Policy

SPEAK OUT

SUBMISSION

WRITING GUIDELINES

- Please type. Handwritten letters will not be accepted. • Sign and date. No more than two people should sign letters.
- Students: Include your year, major and phone number.
- Faculty/staff: Include your department and phone number. • Edit: The DTH edits for space, clarity, accuracy and vulgarity. Limit letters to 250 words.

• Drop off or mail to our office at 151 E. Rosemary St., Chapel Hill,

• Email: opinion@dailytarheel.com

EDITOR'S NOTE: Columns, cartoons and letters do not necessarily represent the opinions of The Daily Tar Heel or its staff. Editorials reflect the opinions of The Daily Tar Heel editorial board, which comprises 11 board members, the opinion assistant editor and editor and the editor-in-chief

Win or lose, we are proud of Oregon's coach, has never everything our basketball team has done. We are proud of all the great people who make up this wonderful community. Being a Tar Heel is wonderful. We all have so much to be happy about. Other schools will never have what we do, which is sad for them.

Anyway, Go Heels!!!!!!!