The Daily Tar Heel

dailytarheel.com Volume 119, Issue 57 Thursday, August 25, 2011

Inside

EPILEPTIC EPISODE

Charges were dropped against a UNC professor who stole an ambulance and crashed it six times while suffering from an epileptic episode. Page 3.

DIVERSIONS

Check out the latest movie and music reviews, and look for what's going on this weekend in the first Dive section of the year. Page 5.

POSTERS IN DAVIS

Davis library is opening a gallery exhibit, featuring reproductions of 40 posters from the past two decades. Page 11.

TRYING TO PRINT?

University administrators say delays in printing are caused by first week of classes and moving of printers. Students have been expressing their frustration after having to wait in line. Page 3.

QUICK HITS

See what's up, what's down this week on today's opinion page. Also, read today's editorials, letters and column. Page 4.

This day in history

Aug. 25, 1992

The Center for the Study of the American South was founded to encourage teaching about, research on and service to the South at UNC.

Today's weather

Listserv replyalls expected H 92, L 71

Friday's weather

Those kvetches better be good H 91, L 72

Alert Carolina changes on the way

A third alert option is one major change being discussed by officials.

By Becky Bush and Nicole Comparato Staff Writers

In the early hours of April 4, Kate Matthews left her door in Morrison Residence Hall unlocked. Just a few floors away, some of her fellow students were being robbed at gunpoint.

The incident at Morrison sparked campus-wide protest of the University's decision not to notify students of the fleeing gunman through its emergency warning system, Alert Carolina.

"If I had known there had been an armed robbery occurring I would have definitely gotten out of bed and locked (the door) to be on the safe side," Matthews said. In response to concerns about Alert Carolina, a group of University officials that included senior administrators, public safety officers and student leaders began reviewing the system in April.

Four months later, the team is almost ready to reveal significant alterations to the warning system.

The changes being discussed help fill the hole in the system that was made painfully apparent last semester, officials said.

While the current system only designates emergencies either siren or non-siren, the proposed changes add a new tier of response: one that alerts individuals of a situation but does not sound the alarm, said Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs Winston Crisp.

The changes are still in draft form, but will be made public within the next week or two, said University spokesman Mike McFarland.

Tentative changes

The current version of Alert Carolina sounds the alarm for only three scenarios: an armed person near or on campus, a major chemical spill or hazard or a nearby tornado warning.

For any other campus emergency, the Department of Public Safety must form a plan of action tailored specifically to that scenario.

The revised system will institutionalize a new response — a second tier — that holds a middle ground between siren and nonsiren emergencies, Crisp said.

This tier, which wouldn't activate the siren but would send out text messages and emails, serves as an alert to a possible danger but not an immediate crisis

"In the second tier, something has happened on campus but there is no immediate threat," Crisp said. "We want people to be in a heightened state of alert."

The remaining two tiers will

Alert Carolina could add new tier to response plan

Months of review have resulted in tentative plans to add another tier to Alert Carolina's emergency plan. The new option would notify the campus via texts and emails, but no siren would sound.

faculty, staff and students receive texts and emails update on Alert Carolina

SOURCE: WINSTON CRISP, VICE CHANCELLOR FOR STUDENT AFFAIRS

DTH/MEG WRATHER

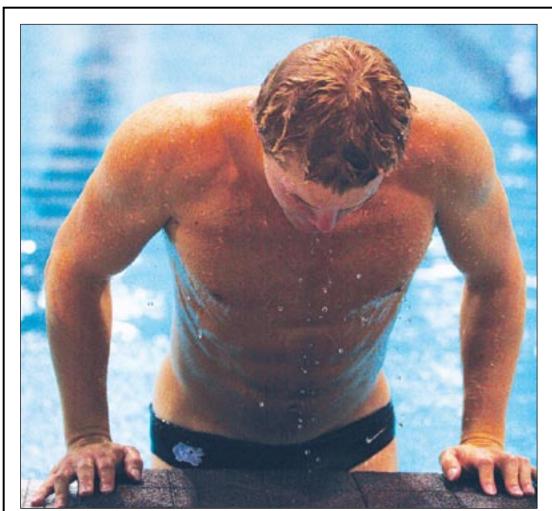

largely resemble those already in place, Crisp said.

"The first tier is when we actually need students, faculty and staff to do something to obey the threat," he said.

In the case of an immediate threat, the siren would sound, instructions would be issued over SEE ALERT CAROLINA, PAGE 9 the loud speaker and emergency text messages and emails would be sent out.

The third tier would include an update to the Alert Carolina website, but wouldn't require any

DTH/ALLISON RUSSELL

David MacDonald dives into the pool at UNC's Koury Natatorium. MacDonald became the first Tar Heel to earn a spot in the Olympic Trials with a 12th-place finish at the AT&T National Diving Championships.

A HISTORIC PLUNGE

A UNC diver will be the first in school history at Olympic Trials.

By Jonathan LaMantia Staff Writer

It might have been luck that landed North Carolina diver David MacDonald in the semifinals of the men's threemeter at the AT&T U.S. Diving National Championships, but it was perseverance that earned him a place in UNC history.

MacDonald finished two spots outside of the top 18 in the quarterfinals of the Championship meet, which ordinarily would not have allowed him to advance to the next round. But two divers could not attend the semifinals, and the redshirt senior squeezed his way into the last spot.

With a 12th place finish in the semifinals, MacDonald became the first Tar Heel diver in school history to qualify for the Olympic Trials.

"I knew if I made finals I'd make trials," MacDonald said. "Mainly, I wanted to prove to myself and to people that hadn't seen me dive before that I can dive."

Competitors at the championships included Olympians Troy Dumais and Chris Colwill, but MacDonald tried to keep the stiff competition off his mind. "It didn't really affect me as much as I thought it would," MacDonald said. "When you're on the side everyone's just chilling, no one is put on a pedestal." MacDonald's calm demeanor on such a grand stage was Bryant Wooten, who considers the trait one of MacDonald's no surprise to teammate

major strengths.

A redshirt sophomore, Wooten said he has benefited from MacDonald's leadership on the team.

"It's great being able to ask him questions in practice and have him coaching us on the sidelines," Wooten said.

MacDonald said there was a lot less pressure on him in the championships because he didn't have to worry about performing well for his team. This time, he just had his own successes and failures to worry about.

But for MacDonald, staying calm is a trick of the trade.

In a sport where even minor mental lapses can result in point deductions at the judges table, MacDonald said the key to his focus on the diving board is a clear mind.

"I've done (the dives) so SEE DIVER, PAGE 9

NC abortion law sparks controversy

The state could face lawsuits due to a new right-to-know act.

By Estes Gould Staff Writer

Planned Parenthood is already fighting the N.C. General Assembly for funding, but it could soon decide to file another lawsuit against the state — this time about the Woman's Right to Know Act.

The law requires a 24-hour waiting period before receiving an abortion, as well as ultrasound images and other information to be offered to the patient. It has been criticized by a range of pro-choice organizations, including Planned Parenthood and the American Civil Liberties Union, as an unprecedented step by the state into a woman's privacy.

"The Republicans' social agenda has, with this bill, invaded a woman's life as never before - by marching straight into her doctor's office and dictating the medical advice and treatment she receives," said Gov. Bev Perdue in a statement after her veto of the bill was overridden.

But N.C. Rep. Paul Stam, R-Wake, the House majority leader, said the law is constitutional and supported by a majority of the state, according to a poll taken by Civitas Institute, a conservative think tank.

"This is not a change in the people; this is a change in the leadership," he said.

Right-to-know legislation has been upheld in other states, and the U.S. Supreme Court decided in 1992 that restrictions on abortion are constitutional if they don't place an undue burden on a woman's right to the procedure.

"This is about giving women all the information so they can make informed decisions," Stam said.

Opponents to the law say the new requirements make getting an abortion more cumbersome, especially to rural women who would need to go to an abortion provider twice because of the 24-hour rule and to low-income women paying for the ultrasound.

"The cost to the patient would go up, but we're trying to figure out how to implement this at the lowest possible cost to our patients and still be as accessible as possible," said Janet Colm, the chief executive officer at Planned Parenthood Central North Carolina.

If there is enough evidence that the law causes such difficulty, especially delays in care — abortions are safer the earlier they are performed — the court could side against the state, said Maya Manian, a women's issues law professor at the University of San Francisco.

But the undue burden is not the only thing calling its constitutionality into question, said Katy Parker, the legal director for ACLU-North Carolina.

Neither Planned Parenthood nor the ACLU has decided to pursue legal action yet, but both

SEE ABORTION, PAGE 9

UNC warns students of hurricane danger

By Colleen Volz Assistant University Editor

Flashlight. Food. Water. Medicine. Radio.

As Hurricane Irene threatens to hit Chapel Hill this weekend, campus emergency officials are recommending that every student has these basic emergency materials on hand.

Although UNC is not expected to feel the eye of the storm, heavy rain and winds could represent a threat to student safety, said Bill Gentry, director of the community preparedness and disaster management in the Gillings School of Global Public Health.

Students received an email Wednesday from the University offering advice on how to best prepare for the storm.

'Students are responsible first and foremost for their own safety and situation immediately after an event," Gentry said, adding that the University cannot possibly keep tabs on every student.

Randy Young, spokesman for the Department of Public Safety, said the University plans to communicate with students

"Students are responsible first and foremost for their own safety and situation immediately after an event."

Bill Gentry,

Director of the community preparedness and disaster management in the Gillings School of Global Public Health in as many ways as possible should the hurricane become a serious threat to their safety. This includes sending text messages to registered phones via Alert Carolina, UNC's emergency warning system.

Larry Hicks, director of housing and residential education, said officials from departments across campus met Wednesday to discuss their individual contingency plans.

These groups included Campus Health Services, housing, the office of the dean of students, Carolina Dining Services, Facilities Services and DPS.

Hicks said a conference call

SEE HURRICANE, PAGE 9

VEGGIN' OUT

lise Margoles, the owner of Elysian Fields Farm, holds up a fairy tale eggplant at her stand at the round every Saturday from 7 a.m. to noon and, from April to October, Wednesdays from 3:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.

Carrboro Farmers' Market. The market is held year-

The Daily Tar Heel

www.dailytarheel.com Established 1893 118 years of editorial freedom

> STEVEN NORTON EDITOR-IN-CHIEF EDITOR@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

TARINI PARTI MANAGING EDITOR MANAGING.EDITOR@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

KELLY MCHUGH

VISUAL MANAGING EDITOR ANAGING.EDITOR@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

ANDY THOMASON

UNIVERSITY EDITOR UNIVERSITY@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

JEANNA SMIALEK CITY EDITOR CITY@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

ISABELLA COCHRANE

STATE & NATIONAL EDITOR STATE@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

KATELYN TRELA ARTS EDITOR ARTS@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

JOSEPH CHAPMAN DIVERSIONS EDITOR ERSIONS@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

KELLY PARSONS SPORTS EDITOR SPORTS@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

ALLIE RUSSELL PHOTO EDITOR PHOTO@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

EMILY EVANS, GEORGIA CAVANAUGH COPY CO-EDITORS COPY@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

SARAH GLEN ONLINE EDITOR ONLINE@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

ARIANA RODRIGUEZ-GITLER

DESIGN EDITOR DESIGN@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

MEG WRATHER GRAPHICS EDITOR GRAPHICS@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

ZACH EVANS MULTIMEDIA CO-EDITOR MULTIMEDIA@DAILYTARHEEL.COM

TIPS

Contact Managing Editor Tarini Parti at managing.editor@dailytarheel.com with news tips, comments, corrections or suggestions.

Mail and Office: 151 E. Rosemary St. Chapel Hill, NC 27514 Steven Norton, Editor-in-Chief, 962-4086 Advertising & Business, 962-1163

One copy per person; additional copies may be purchased at The Daily Tar Heel for $.25 each. Please report suspicious activity at our distribution racks by emailing ext time you're thinking of practicing your ninja skills, you may not want to work on them at a parochial school. Hillsdale, Okla., police arrested 21-year-old Gavin Stiffler Aug. 18 after he showed up at Hillsdale Christian School in full ninja attire. Stiffler, who was found by authorities in a crane pose, was charged with possession of a weapon on school property. He was carrying a samurai sword and a pair of ninja sai — the same weapon wielded by Raphael on "Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles."

> © 2011 DTH Media Corp. All rights reserved

DAILY DOSE

What's the opposite of stealth?

School principal Renae Haymaker said to reporters that no one was harmed by the ninja, but declined to release video of the incident. If Stiffler is convicted, he could face a fine of up to $5,000 and two years in prison.

NOTED. U.S. Marines stationed in Afghanistan will now have to be even more silent-butdeadly after authorities banned audible farting for downrange Marines.

The ban on farting follows other military policies that ban soldiers from discussing things like politics or women in order to avoid offending the Afghani soldiers.

QUOTED. "If somebody were to go to church slurring and drunk that's not a good example."

News

- Maria Sanchez, Sacramento, Calif., resident. Sanchez lives near All Hallows Church, where Rev. Julian Medina arrived an hour late for a baptism service Saturday. The 64-yearold priest reportedly slurred and stumbled through the service before falling over drunk.

COMMUNITY CALENDAR

Bike tour of Chapel Hill: Bring your bike and join Campus Rec Director Marty Pomerantz for a bike tour of the town, weather permitting.

Time: 12 p.m. to 1 p.m. Location: Meet at the front entrance International coffee hour: Participate in a monthly social hour for both international and American students and staff.

Time: 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. Location: FedEx Global Center

South Campus Cookout: Come enjoy a free dinner from the grill with your friends. Kosher food will be available.

Time: 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. Location: Ehringhaus lawn

Sex After Dark: Learn answers to questions you've always been afraid to ask from sexual health experts and receive free samples. Time: 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Location: Student Union, Cabaret

Hypnotist: Watch as hypnotist Peter Mamos puts your friends under his spell during a comedy show/ Time: 9 p.m. to 11 p.m. Location: Student Union, Great Hall Midnight Mystery Tour: Learn some of UNC's lesser-known mysteries during an after-dark walking tour. Refreshments will be provided.

Time: 10 p.m. to 12 a.m. Location: Bell Tower lawn

Foursquare Scavenger Hunt: Learn facts about UNC and get to know the school's campus by participating in a scavenger hunt led by the Heelraisers Council. Those who participate will have a chance to win prizes.

Location: The Pit

To make a calendar submission, email calendar@dailytarheel.com. you wish. Events will be published in day before they take place.

POLICE LOG

Please include the date of the event in the subject line, and attach a photo if the newspaper on either the day or the on East Franklin Street at about 1 a.m. Wednesday, according to Suburban and stole items between Chapel Hill police reports.

DTH/LOGAN SAVAGE

• Someone slashed tires on lawn mowers and a sport utility vehicle between 4 p.m. Sunday and 2:25 p.m. Monday at 500 Weaver Dairy Road, according to Chapel Hill police reports.

Damage to the tires was valued at $1,300, reports state.

 Someone was attempting to sell CDs and when costumers $\,$ refused to buy them he began screaming around 3:30 p.m. Tuesday at 207 W. Main St., according to Carrboro police reports.

• Three men were involved in a fight at a store at 9:45 p.m. Tuesday at 1401 W. Main St., according to Carrboro police Reports state that the suspects left the area in multiple cars. According to reports, they come to the store on a regular basis.

CORRECTIONS

- Due to an editing error, a headline on page 7 misnamed the Ackland exhibition Carolina Collects.
- Due to a reporting error, Wednesday's page 3 story "Former student questions BOG retreat" incorrectly stated when the UNC system plans to comply with a record request. The system plans to comply with the request in one to two days.
- Due to a reporting error, Tuesday's page 17 story "Carrboro ordinance stalls development" incorrectly attributed some information about the Shelton Station development to Carrboro's interim Town Manager Matt Efird. The Daily Tar Heel apologizes for the errors. The Daily Tar Heel reports any inaccurate information published as soon as the error is discovered.
- Editorial corrections will be printed on this page. Errors committed on the Opinion Page have corrections printed on that page. Corrections also are noted in the online versions of our stories. Contact Managing Editor Tarini Parti at managing.editor@dailytarheel.com with issues about this policy.

tte BICYCLE Chain We Know Bikes

www.thebicyclechain.com

- Sales, Service, Rentals
- Certified Mechanics
- Lifetime Free Maintenance
- Trade In Program
- Price Match Guarantee

CHAPEL HILL: 210 W. Franklin St.

919-929-0213

Open 7 days a week SPECIALIZED TREK

104 West Main Street, Carrboro, NC 27510 (919) 967-5104

$50 Off Any Adult Bike! Offer cannot be combined, nor used in conjunction with any other discount.

Offer applies to new bicycles only. Must be paid in full at time of purchase.

Offer expires August 31st, 2011

UNC OFFICE OF DISTINGUISHED SCHOLARSHIPS

• Someone broke into an unlocked 2011 gray Chevrolet

12:30 a.m. and 6 a.m. Tuesday at

2 Gooseneck Road, according to

The victim reported stolen a $100 canvas purse, four debit and credit cards valued at $1, running driver's license valued at $15 and a

Garmin GPS unit valued at $350,

• A bicycle was stolen around

The Peugeot bike was valued at A suspicious person rang the doorbell of a house and ran away

when the lights were turned on at 10:40 p.m. Tuesday at 101 Glade

Street, according to Chapel Hill

• Police responded to a report of individuals on top of buildings

 $10{:}30~\mathrm{p.m.}$ Tuesday at $508~\mathrm{W.}$

Franklin Street, according to Chapel Hill police reports.

$800, reports state.

police reports.

glasses valued at $50, an N.C.

reports state.

Chapel Hill police reports.

INFORMATIONAL MEETING

• for Juniors and Seniors considering graduate school for Sophomores and Juniors studying Science or the Environment

Scholarships Include:

- RHODES
- MARSHALL
- TRUMAN
- LUCE
- GOLDWATER
- MITCHELL
- JACK KENT COOKE
- UDALL
- CARNEGIE
- CHURCHILL

Meeting: August 29

Email ods@unc.edu fo

Presented by the Office of Distinguished Scholarships James M. Johnston Center for Undergraduate Excellence

www.distinguishedscholarships.unc.edu

Professor's case dropped after epilepsy diagnosis

By Jeanna Smialek City Editor

Patrick Akos regained consciousness lying handcuffed on a curb on the morning of April 1.

Patrick Akos, a UNC professor, faced charges in April for his actions after an epileptic episode.

Only after he was transported to UNC Hospitals did he find out why.

Akos, an associate professor in the School of Education, learned he had stolen an ambulance from Orange County EMS and driven it around his neighborhood, crashing it six times, in a postseizure stupor.

He has since been diagnosed with epilepsy, which he says triggered the episode.

"It was pretty hard to believe," said Akos, whose wife had summoned the ambulance because she thought her husband was having a stroke.

Akos faced charges of larceny for stealing the ambulance, one count of reckless driving and six counts of hit and run following the incident. Those charges were dropped by District Attorney Jim Woodall at the end of July.

"It's a huge load off of me," Akos said. But he said he is still working to deal with his disease and the damage the ordeal caused to his reputation.

"The only thing I could think about was — people are going to think I'm defective or I'm a criminal," he said of his feelings following his incident.

Akos said he is moving forward by bringing the details of his story into the open and by working to improve epilepsy awareness.

"It will be helpful for others to understand that, like any disability, you can overcome it," he said.

Dealing with the fallout

Woodall said the charges were dropped because medical evidence showed Akos was not conscious of his actions and did not have criminal

He added that Akos repaired damage to yards he had driven through and made insurance arrangements to pay for damage to the cars he hit with the ambulance before he came Akos said UNC has been supportive throughout the ordeal, but he lost a consultation with a local school district after the incident.

"Having a mug shot on the Internet — I cannot tell you what that does to your career."

Akos' attorney, Michael Paduchowski, said he and Akos' other attorney are working to have Akos' criminal record expunged.

As his legal concerns draw to a close, Akos said he is still adjusting to his epilepsy — a disease that has required regular doctor appointments and prevented him from driving his 8- and 10-year old daughters to school.

Living with epilepsy

Akos, who first experienced a possible seizure in November but wasn't conclusively diagnosed until this spring, said he has learned people with epilepsy often become disoriented or enter a state of "autopilot" following a seizure.

"There are all different kinds of epilepsy," he said, explaining that in the future he hopes to work with services that have been helpful to him — like the Epilepsy Foundation of North Carolina — to raise awareness.

Patricia Gibson, who heads that group and the Epilepsy Information Service at Wake Forest School of Medicine, said epileptics are fairly commonly punished for behavior during seizures — a similar incident occurred in Wake county earlier this year. She said that could be prevented if people were informed about epilepsy.

"People don't understand a lot of times that in a seizure, people are in a very confused state," Gibson said. "It takes a while to get all of your books back on the shelf."

Akos said living with epilepsy can be manageable, since many types of epilepsy — Gibson says as many as 60 percent of cases — respond well to medication. She said another 10 to 15 percent can be managed well with more extensive treatment.

Gibson said Akos might speak at a dinner to honor those who work to raise epilepsy awareness Oct. 21.

> Contact the City Editor at city@dailytarheel.com.

A PAIN TO PRINT

Students wait to print in the Undergraduate Library. Delays and long lines have elicited angry reactions from students.

Printing delays blamed on first week of class

By Taylor Hartley Staff Writer

Students overwhelmed with new classes during the first two days of the fall semester met an additional and unwelcome inconvenience at campus printers this week.

In the lab of the Undergraduate Library, the line to use the Carolina Computing Initiative printers was much longer than usual, prompting angry reactions from students.

CCI normally experiences delays during the first days of classes as students hurry to print course docu-

"Because of the high volume, it just seems to be one of the things that we face throughout the first couple of days of the semester," said Jeremiah Joyner, manager of Information Technology Services labs and systems.

Some of the confusion has also resulted from the move of two printers from the basement of the Undergraduate Library to the ground floor, Joyner said.

Crowds should die down in the coming weeks, Joyner said. But students have been complaining about the long lines and delays in the system.

Sophomore Chandler Gurley said she has seen lines wrapped around the desks in the library.

"I'm not waiting 30 minutes to print out a syllabus I could print in my dorm," she said. Other printing locations on campus, such as the Student Union, are experiencing similar issues, students

"There's a five-minute delay time between when you hit print and when it shows up," said senior Danielle Bringard. She waited in line twice to print an invoice, she said. Joyner said delays in the system have been reported from students, but that it is not a widespread issue. Many students are looking for alternate solutions to CCI printing.

"My roommate went to get a router and set up a wireless printer connection so that she didn't have to deal with it anymore," junior Chelsea

Parker said. After the first week in each semester, students typically begin to stagger the times they choose to print, Joyner said. In the meantime, library officials have encouraged students to use the printers in Davis Library to help dissipate the long lines.

> Contact the University Editor at university@dailytarheel.com.

BRIEF

CAMPUS BRIEFS

Professor to receive national lifetime achievement award

The American Public Health Association announced UNC professor Rune Simeonsson as the recipient of its Lifetime Achievement Award.

Simeonsson, who is a professor of psychology and early childhood education, will be honored at the association's annual meeting in October in Washington, D.C.

He has worked extensively on the assessment and classification of disabilities among children.

Among other achievements. Simeonsson has received more than $20 million in federal funding from the National Institutes of Health, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the Department of Education.

Simeonsson has worked in the School of Education since 1976.

CITY BRIEFS

Town to honor citizens for lifelong social justice commitment

The Town of Chapel Hill will honor individuals who have had a lifelong commitment to peace and social justice on Sunday, Aug. 28.

The town will hold a ceremony at the Peace and Justice Plaza at 3 p.m.

The honorees will be recognized for their commitment to civil rights for all

The granite marker currently bears the names of nine now-deceased lead-

The ceremony will be opened by Mayor Mark Kleinschmidt, N.C. Sen. Ellie Kinnaird, D-Orange, and the Rev. William Barber, president of the N.C.

The event will take place rain or shine, but might have to move indoors because of the impending hurricane.

Town to conduct a public study on Eubanks park-and-ride lot

The Town of Chapel Hill will hold a public input meeting to discuss the expansion of the Eubanks Road parkand-ride lot.

The town is looking to expand the lot located in the north end of Martin Luther King Boulevard. The process would begin with a feasibility study and could last up to six months.

The feasibility study will look at the level of demand for park-and-ride spaces, the site suitability as it relates to an expanded park-and-ride facility and alternatives for park-and-ride expansion.

The study will also examine the financial strategies and implications of park-and-ride development.

The meeting will be held Wednesday in the Great Hall of the Seymour Senior Center at 2551 Homestead Road.

-From staff and wire reports

Academic Progress Rates of the Atlantic Coast Conference
On Aug. 11, the NCAA raised the Academic Progress Rate cutoff from 900 to 930. Teams with a four-year rolling average lower than 930 will be banned from competing in the postseason. The one-year scores in bold dipped below the new 930

School		Football Score	Basketball Score	School	Football Score	Basketball Score
*	Boston College	971	972	University of Miami	979	975
	Clemson University	977	964	North Carolina State University	929	985
	Duke University	986	990	University of North Carolina	955	985
0	Florida State University	932	926	University of Virginia	947	940
G ₁	Georgia Tech	966	915	Virginia Tech	955	985
	University of Maryland	922	945	Wake Forest University	971	953

SOURCE: HTTP://WWW.NCAA.ORG

UNC outperforms new APR standard

By Mark Thompson Senior Writer

The NCAA introduced a new rule earlier this month that raised the Academic Progress Rate benchmark from 900 to 930, and teams that fail to reach that standard could face consequences.

Under the new rule, a four-year rolling score below 930 would result in a postseason ban for Division I teams.

Baddour isn't sweating the NCAA's increased academic expectations. "It won't (affect UNC)," Baddour said.

But UNC athletic director Dick

'Not if we continue to perform like we have been. Academic support will always be our number one priority." The new standard is a product of a twoday presidential retreat at which Division I board directors focused on improving the academics, fiscal responsibility and integrity of intercollegiate athletics. Since the NCAA began penalizing teams for low APR scores in 2005, the UNC football team's multi-year APR scores haven't fallen below 943, and the Tar Heels' scores for 2008-09 and 2009-10 have been the highest at 957 and 955, In basketball, the Tar Heels have performed significantly better, posting multi-since 2005. A Division I football program is allowed 85 scholarships to help complete its roster. Each of the 85 studentathletes contributes two points toward an APR score, one retention point for staying in school and one eligibility point for remaining academically eli-

year APR scores between 985 and 995

For example, if four scholarship football players dropped out because they were academically ineligible and three remained in school but didn't meet the minimum 2.0, that would be a total of 159 out of 170 points, or a ratio of .935.

That, multiplied by 1000, would give the school an APR score of 935 for that year.

UNC has met that standard consistently and the University's academic assistance task force doesn't expect that to change.

"What (the NCAA is) doing is they're kicking the schools that are lagging behind, and we are definitely not in that group," said Steve Reznick, chairman of the faculty athletics committee.

And since 2005, UNC football hasn't even been close to being a part of that group. Based on 2009-10 APR scores, Louisville and Maryland were among 17 Division I football programs that were issued scholarship-reduction penalties due to low scores. And with the increased standard, more teams could be affected $\,$ by those penalties in the future.

"I'm not just going to be complacent just because we're meeting that standard," Reznick said. "I'm going to assume that obviously we're going to meet that standard. I want us to not just get a C. I want us to get an A or a B+."

Reznick said UNC has no clear-cut benchmark beyond the NCAA's, just a set of goals unique to each individual so they can receive a quality education. Those goals include ensuring that student athletes have strong academic support and both extracurricular and classroom opportunities.

"What we're going to be continuing to do is what we need to do to enhance the educational experience of our student athletes," Reznick said.

> Contact the Sports Editor at sports@dailytarheel.com.

Community colleges suffer from state cuts

By Vinayak Balasubramanian

Staff Writer

Although going back to school has become an attractive option for state residents in a tough economy, community colleges are struggling to cope with increased demand and declining resources.

N.C. community colleges received a 10.7 percent cut in state funding in the budget enacted this summer. Thousands of students continue to flood the campuses, forcing admissions offices to place many on wait lists.

Charles Chrestman, president of Robeson Community College, said an almost record 2,750 students enrolled at the college this fall. But 178 additional students who tried to register were unable to do so due to lack of space and "It has been the toughest year in my over 30 years of community college business," he said.

Administrators have laid off part-time lecturers and staff and increased class sizes to cope with significant state fund-

Chrestman said future cuts in state funding would only cause the waiting list to increase.

'If things do not change, we could be sitting at 200 students or so next fall because we do not have adequate state funding," he said. Laurie Clowers, director of public relations at Wake Technical Community College, said the campus has increased enrollment by almost 10 percent since last year, with a total of nearly 20,000 students. More than 6,400 students are wait listed for at least one class, while about 1,000 students have not been able to register for any classes, she said. Clowers said Wake Tech actually received more state funding for enrollment growth, but it failed to cover the number of students admitted by a wide margin.

We try to bring in as many students for training and education as possible, but demand exceeds the ability to serve them," she said. "Where we can we are increasing our class size where seating is BY THE NUMBERS

10.7

Percent cut in state funding to community colleges across the state

19,910

Students enrolled at Wake Technical Community College

6,400

Students wait listed at Wake Technical Community College

The recent surge in enrollment at community colleges can be partially attributed to adults seeking to attain more skills and compete in a state with an unemployment rate of 10.1 percent.

Community college enrollment for persons older than 25 increased by 16 percent between 2008 and 2009, and nearly 5 percent between 2009 and 2010. The increase in enrollment for persons younger than 25 was 5.5 percent and 2 percent, respectively.

"We have been seeing many older students coming back, saying, 'I've been in manufacturing all these years, but I really want to become a chef," Clowers said.

The increased demand for admission to community colleges might also make it more difficult for students who hope to transfer to a UNC-system school.

Bobbi Owen, associate dean for the College of Arts and Sciences, said the number of transfer students admitted to UNC-CH has remained fixed, but increased retention rates might make it harder for transfer students to enter.

"Given that our very high retention rate, we could have capacity problems at college," she said.

"We have a commitment to transfer students at community colleges, but we have a primary obligation to serve our native students."

> Contact the State & National Editor at state@dailytarheel.com.

The Baily Tar Heel

STEVEN NORTON EDITOR, 962-4086 OR EDITOR@DAILYTARHEEL.COM C. RYAN BARBER OPINION EDITOR, OPINION@DAILYTARHEEL.COM DAKOTA WILLIAMS ASSOCIATE OPINION EDITOR

Established 1893, 118 years of editorial freedom

EDITORIAL BOARD MEMBERS

CALLIE BOST WILL DORAN IAN LEE

TARIO LUTHUN ROBERT FLEMING

COLUMN

Mark Laichena

Senior political science and PWAD major from London, U.K. Email: laichena@email.unc.edu

It's a freshman's world at UNC

his campus revolves around its youngest members — the freshmen — and their assimilation on campus. But the rest of us should keep exploring, even if we're not expected to venture away from what we know.

I've been excited about senior year for a while: wearing my "I'm a senior, who the #@!$ are you?" sticker, and sitting at the top of the campus food chain.

But it's been a bit anticlimactic, and I'm realizing this campus is hardly ours.

What would UNC be without the uncommitted new arrivals eager to join sports teams, fill the Carolina Fever seats at varsity events, rush fraternities and sororities, and join campus organizations new and old?

Freshmen are the lifeblood of this campus, and they're in demand across the University community.

Each newcomer is a potential underwater hockey player or religious group devotee, if only they can be lured in with the right flyer or free food.

But by the time a year or two has passed, they've lost the luster. Each sophomore and junior is expected to have found a defined identity on campus; athlete/ non-athlete, Greek/non-Greek, steadily climbing the hierarchy in whichever segment of student life tickled their fancy when they

And spare a thought for the seniors: Nine months from leaving (and not worth the efforts of the evangelists of student life), we wear stickers to fight our growing irrelevance on campus.

Wearing my senior sticker from FallFest feels a little less triumphant than I thought it might. It's tough to convince myself that any of the freshmen rushing across campus really care "who the #@!$" we are, after all.

So we hide off campus and go to bar nights, settled in the tried and tested bits of UNC life that are familiar, doing what we've been doing for the past few years.

This campus isn't about to stop getting excited about new arrivals, but the rest of us can still step up and break out of the expected molds.

And what about the sophomore or upperclassman who didn't find their niche (or was simply overwhelmed) the first time around?

We need to help all students discover (and rediscover) new sides to this University, in the spirit of past initiatives like "Second Start," "Sophomore Reorientation" and more. It seems obvious - what better a time than after a year or two of experience to try something new?

We can't have signed up for all the right listservs that first FallFest, after all.

Or alternatively, think about your own organization.

Sure, freshmen are enthusiastic, impressionable, and attend meetings just because you give out candy (or pills), but it's probably worth the investment to reach out to older folk with a little more experience, too.

This semester, I'll be using my weekly column to do a little reorientation myself. I'll be examining the workings of UNC and will explore some of the decisions made within the University's administration.

At the very least, I'll be trying to push outside of my comfort zone in my final year here.

Columnist Andrew Harrell sums up a four-year education at UNC in four minutes of Tweets.

EDITORIAL CARTOON By Mark Viser, mviser@email.unc.edu

EDITORIAL

Pinning down pills

UNC's fast-acting response to dietary supplements at FallFest ensures safety.

hough it's surprising that a stricter screening process was not already in place for FallFest giveaways, UNC should be applauded for quickly responding to the distribution of improperly labeled appetite suppressants at the annual welcome event. Student Union officials immediately asked the retailer, Complete Nutrition, to stop offering students the free pills - and ensured that future sponsors will have to provide a written list of products they plan to offer students.

On Sunday night, event officials were notified of a booth that was passing out the dietary suppressant EphedFx to students. Pre-packaged boxes had run out, so the retail representatives began doling out the diet pills in plastic bags that didn't feature the extensive warning label normally associated with the pills.

Though FallFest officials responded swiftly, it's surprising that the University didn't have a system in which it made clear the acceptable protocol for handing out samples.

Carolina Union Director Don Luse explained that he and his staff lacked forewarning because "it's not something we thought someone would reckless distribution of dietary supplements demands not only closer oversight of distribution practices but also the products promoted at UNC events.

But naivety is no excuse. Clear portrayals of all products is not an unreasonable expectation, especially at an event where students look to gather as many free goods as they can. Complete Nutrition's

Appetite suppressants send a troubling message for what passes as healthy dieting. The appearance that UNC promotes these products undermines the emphasis it places on healthy living in required LFIT classes and in the UNC Eating Disorders Program. Cynthia Bulik, the director of the program, said UNC shouldn't allow any type of pill that remotely deals with dieting or weight management.

The University owes its students a safer FallFest. It can redeem itself by making good on its plans and conducting more thorough reviews of sponsors and the way they peddle goods in the future.

EDITORIAL

Sweeten Sugarland's deal

UNC should show less reluctance toward selling Sugarland empty space.

he University is souring a sweet deal for Chapel Hill by refusing to sell Sugarland the space it needs to expand.

In a sputtering economy that has left many a storefront vacant, UNC is being picky in denying the bakery additional space because it would compromise diversity and finances downtown if a building was mostly inhabited by eateries.

UNC should do Chapel Hill a favor and relax its draconian stance, or risk running a local legend out of town.

Katrina Ryan, the store's owner, said the University's opposition to her expanding next door has forced her to strongly consider relocating to Raleigh. It's a fair ultimatum given the "crummy" lease and poor explanation she says she has received from the University.

Jeff Kidd, director of the UNC Property Office, said the finances and diversity of nearby storefronts led to the University's decision. That two-pronged reasoning is backwards on both fronts, as the dessert shop's strong finances, unique offerings and homegrown history give it added value on a street that many chains have invaded.

Sugarland — and its hold on Chapel Hill's luxury sweet spot — is a good bet for the future.

Chapel Hill has more to offer than exceptional scholarship and college athletics. It has a rich artistic and culinary culture that would be at a loss without Sugarland. In 2010, the Food Network featured the dessert store for its gelato and frozen martinis, and the (Raleigh) News & Observer voted its Spumoni cupcake the best in the Triangle area.

The review site Yelp.com even went as far as to call it the 10th best cupcake place in the entire country.

This is not the right time or place to take this stand, and the University should do everything in its power to keep Sugarland local. Stores making money and creating iobs should be more desirable than a gamble on whatever might make the space more "diverse."

Ryan says her deadline for action is Oct. 1. If UNC doesn't give Sugarland any reason to stay and Ryan is true to her word, the Chapel Hill community can look to the University as the reason for one more cavity on Franklin Street.

QuickHits

CCI Macs

MacBooks caught on in their first year with the Carolina Computing Initiative, splitting sales about 50/50. Expect some of those users to break out the black turtlenecks to mourn Steve Jobs' resignation.

Vince Carter's donation

Vince Carter forked over $2.5 million to make the Zone, would he?

largest donation in the history of the Carolina Basketball Family Fund. He wouldn't happen to have some spare cash for the Blue

Pills at FallFest

they're handed a clear plastic bag full of pills. But these made us lose our appetites. Not sure this is what freshman had in mind for the fight against the 15.

Hurricane Irene

Hopefully this will wuss out like this week's non-earthquake. This isn't the wind students need in their sails for summertime parties. Nothing dampens the mood quite like 115 mph winds.

Earthquake

a good thing, but there have been no reported injuries from Tuesday's 5.8

quake. It'll still be tough to claim we survived an earthquake with a straight face.

Freshman 5

A recent study found that the 15 pounds freshmen traditionally pack on has gotten closer to the freshman 5, and for guys that's usually muscle mass. So thanks, class of 2015, for doing your part.

QUOTE OF THE DAY

"The only thing I could think about was people are going to think I'm defective or I'm a criminal."

Patrick Akos, UNC professor, who faced several charges after stealing an ambulance and crashing it six times. Akos was later diagnosed with epilepsy.

FEATURED ONLINE READER COMMENT

"Jesus christ it's a nutritional supplement. It barely works. If you really wanted to get pills, people should have gone to frat court later in the night."

More like failfest, On pill distribution at FallFest

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Seniors, tell us how we can make your year

TO THE EDITOR:

Seniors, congratulations. Starting your final year of college is a big deal — way to go.

We know this year is busy and crazy and overwhelming. But we want you to know that the General Alumni Association and senior class presidents and marshals are here to help make this the best year of your life.

There's going to be a lot on your plate this year — classes, clubs, service projects, preparing for the future, maybe even a social life — and we want to help you as much as we can.

Here's how we're going to do it: we'll plan social events for you, with special prices and deals to help out your wallet. This includes tonight, at La Residence bar on Rosemary Street, Friday night at R&R on Franklin Street (both from 10:30 p.m. to 2 a.m.), and a pool party Saturday at Kessing Pool starting at 4 p.m.

Service projects will be coming your way starting in September, with different monthly service partnerships to give you the opportunity to give back.

We'll also be having networking nights in the spring for you to start adjusting to the working world. But more than all of this,

we want you know that this is, very much so, YOUR senior year. And we want to hear from you what you want. So please email us at dean. nohammad12@gmail.com and let us know what you want from your last year at Carolina.

sible to you as possible. Starting next week, you'll be able to access a social and service calendar at uncseniors2012.com. Follow @ UNCSeniors2012 on Twitter for constant updates, and be sure to check us out on Facebook.

Our intent is to be as acces-

Dean Drescher Senior Class President Journalism & Mass Communication, Religious

 $Mohammad \ Saad$ Senior Class Vice President Health Policy & Management

Join City Year now to start mentoring students

TO THE EDITOR:

"I had a scissor… seezor… a seizure," one of my students struggled to utter under his breath. He had pulled me away from his other friends, who were playing a pick-up soccer game during an activity time we facilitated every morning before the school doors opened.

Were you diagnosed with epilepsy?" I asked, cautiously. He nodded and I suppressed a look of fear. I knew friends who had epilepsy and knew how dangerous it could be. But I counseled him, did more research, and helped him better understand the disorder.

Those conversations occurred mid-winter of last year, during my corps year with City Year in San Antonio. I served to change the fact that every 26 seconds in the U.S. a student gives up on school. City Year is a national non-profit and AmeriCorps program that deploys young leaders (between ages 17 and 24) as full-time mentors, tutors and role models in 22 cities across the country to keep students in school and on

However, epilepsy was different than a math problem or a well-written essay. This was an accomplished student, who did not need my help in the classroom. His road to success, I thought, was clear with his ability to understand concepts and keep up his grades.

The spine-straightening jolt I felt a few weeks later, when I heard that a student had fallen from an epileptic fit, still lingers. I found him on a bed in the school nurse's office minutes later. He looked dazed and sad. I sat and talked with him about soccer for a while. He loved the sport, as did most of the Latino students I tutored.

By the beginning of February, I had started a soccer club. The offer of a structured team to this largely Latino-populated middle school was a hit, even though they were required to complete their homework to play. And on the field, this student was the best. His skil and dedication surpassed his peers, yet he helped his teammates grow as well.

His teacher and I knew that he would easily place out of the ESL program at the end of the year. But he was absent the day of the mandatory placement test and the state did not offer a retake.

I knew why he was out. Since his epilepsy medication made him sick, he will now have to trudge through a third year of the ESL program. Seeing him, head down, as he walked up to my table at the back of the classroom, broke my heart, because I already knew the news he would mumble to me in his thick Mexican accent.

Yes, we tutor them in academics. But that is usually the easiest part. For those who drop out, life has often presented them more obstacles than academics.

Near the end of the school year, I gave him a brochure about the magnet programs offered by the nearby high schools. He had not heard of them, so I asked him to look it over and let me know if any interested him.

The next day, he came back and told me he wanted to attend the Design and Technology Academy, because he liked computers almost as much as soccer.

> $Abe\ Johns$ Admissions Manager for City Year San Antonio Class of 2010

SPEAK OUT

WRITING GUIDELINES

- · Please type: Handwritten letters will not be accepted. • Sign and date: No more than two people should sign letters.
- Students: Include your year, major and phone number.
- Faculty/staff: Include your department and phone number. • Edit: The DTH edits for space, clarity, accuracy and vulgarity. Limit letters to 250 words. SUBMISSION

• Drop-off: at our office at 151 E. Rosemary Street. • Email: opinion@dailytarheel.com

EDITOR'S NOTE: Columns, cartoons and letters do not necessarily represent the opinions of The Daily Tar Heel or its staff. Editorials reflect the opinions of The Daily Tar Heel editorial board. The board consists of five board members, the associate opinion editor, the opinion editor and the editor.

BY JOSEPH CHAPMAN

DIVERSIONS EDITOR Melissa Thomas has been busy. Her day job as a software developer has her commuting to Austin, TX, on Sundays and flying back home to check on her Durham-based record label, 307 Knox, on Thursdays. When the weekend comes, she's been picking up tour dates with her punk outfit, 8 Inch

In June, Thomas announced something that really shouldn't have come as a surprise to the Triangle's music community: her ten-year running brainchild, Troika Music Festival, would not see eleven, and was cancelled forever.

Betsy. Its last gig was in Chicago. Up next? Indiana.

But there was plenty of room for speculation. Last year, eight weeks before Thomas' three-day, local bands-only festival, Independent Weekly launched its own Hopscotch Music Festival in downtown Raleigh, but with national bands headlining alongside local acts. So Hopscotch took Thomas' model, added more popular bands and bankrolled it, killing Troika and other, smaller festivals in its wake, right?

"We could not compete, period, done," Thomas said. "Do I feel like there's a 'Wal-Mart factor?' Maybe it could turn into that. But do I feel like it is a necessity for the Indy to use those funds, use that leverage, use those contacts and bring something the size of Hopscotch to the Triangle? Hell yes."

Grayson Currin, music editor at the Independent and Hopscotch curator, argues that if they were to ever become the 'Wal-Mart' of festivals, it would be the weirdest one ever. From the beginning, Currin and codirector Greg Lowenhagen set out to minimize the impact of their proposed festival, saying to other local establishments, "we're going to do this — how can we do it so it doesn't ruin what you already do?"

"When I reached out to (Thomas) in November, she was one of the first people outside of the inner circle of the Indy, besides the city planning people that we needed to talk to, that was aware that the Independent was going to do something," Lowenhagen said.

"We had a really positive conversation about here's what we think we're going to be planning or how it's going to be done, here's how we can hopefully work together and play off each other and support one another. She was really helpful, both in "Gone? Yes. Are we going to resurrect it? No. Are other things going to happen? I hope so."

- MELISSA THOMAS, TROIKA DIRECTOR

In the festival's first year, Currin and Lowenhagen proved it alongside Troika, but collaborate as its neighbor. When Troika hosted and curated a free day party at Kings Barcade during Hopscotch, the festival's banner hung proudly in the venue while bands like Atlas Sound and Megafaun headlined the last two nights. Thomas returned the favor when Troika 2010 came around, and Currin and Lowenhagen curated one night at its biggest could not only coexist

Hopscotch I was successful enough to warrant Hopscotch II and hopes from the Independent's president for "Hopscotch XX," and Troika 2010 was in the black.

Given their mutual success, when Thomas posted a letter on the festival's website announcing its closure, people started pointing fingers.

"It's the first backlash that probably gave me pause in terms of, 'Hmm. Is this right?" Currin said. Because when people complain about their favorite terms of what I could band not playing, we're just kind of like, 'well, you expect and if she could know, it's one festival.' It's Greg and I beating each offer any help." other's heads against a wall for months, figuring out the 150 bands we want to play. "The Troika thing definitely gave me pause. Just thinking about the conversations we had with Melissa and thinking about the way we approached that and thinking about how adamant we were about partnering together."

For Thomas, the decision to end Troika ultimately stemmed from a feeling that the festival had peaked, that 2010's Troika Music Festival was the best that the festival would ever be. And when you hit the top, Thomas says you have to ask yourself: are you going to go over that cliff or end on a high note?

If people are bummed, Thomas thinks that means the festival did something right. And with her trust in the Independent, the spirit of Troika continues.

"I feel like part of what Troika did was to help Greg and Grayson and the Indy have a vision, curate it and have the audience that they needed. We're just a part of, now, history."

Contact Dive at diversions@dailytarheel.com.

TODAY IN DIVE

MUSIC. With its new album, Katharine Whalen & Her Fascinators surprises listeners with its weighty and sincere rock. Page 6

MOVIES. Conan the Barbarian flops as another generic, CGI-heavy "sword and sandals" flick. Page 6

ON-CAMPUS. From the Cradle to the Cave: 18 Years of NC Poster Art opens tonight with a reception and panel in Davis library. Page 8

Q&A. Dive Editor Joseph Chapman talks to Jonathan Scales, a musician recently hailed as the "Bela Fleck of Steel Pans." Page 8

DIVERECOMMENDS

Album from the Vault:

Squirrel Nut Zippers, Hot: SNZ turned up the heat with this 1996 record. Its single, "Hell," propelled the jazzy Carrboro natives to national recognition. The ragtime vibe and slightest hint of insanity make it the perfect album to draw summer to a close.

Movie from the Vault:

"Mrs. Doubtfire": In this 1993 comedy, a father distraught by his divorce decides to dress up as an English nanny (the title character) to make sure he can see his kids. His ruse works—for a little while, at least. Hijinks and hilarity ensue. There's some heartwarming junk at the end, but there's also the cleaning montage set to "Dude Looks Like a Lady."

Events:

Thursday

Future Islands, Motor Skills Rosemary St. Parking Deck | The last

of this summer's Locally Grown concert series features two NC bands loud enough to knock your socks off. Future Islands brings post-wave, electronic pop music, while Motor Skills plays rock-tinged synth that's meant to be experienced live. 7:00 p.m., free

Friday

Luego, Soft Company, Lilac Shadows Local 506 | William Moose, member of all three bands, is leaving the Triangle, and this shindig is a "last hoorah" of sorts. The bands feature members of The Love Language and the recently defunct Huguenots playing that good, oldfashioned indie pop. 9:30 p.m., $7

Delta Rae, Jeanne Jolly

Casbah | Folk-rock group Delta Rae gained significant online attention (read: tons of YouTube hits) last spring with its cover of Kanye West's "All of the Lights." Its other material is markedly less genre-bending, but pleasant nonetheless. The Durham buzz band doesn't play the Triangle often, so catch them while you can.

8:00 p.m., $8/$5 with student ID Mipso Trio, Mandolin Orange

Hooker Field | UNC-CH's own Mipso Trio has been blowing up lately. Want to try-before-youbuy tickets to its September gig with Papa Avett at the Local 506? Catch it free at Hooker Fields Friday night. Mandolin Orange's Andrew Marlin just broke his hip, so prepare for a once-in-a-lifetime wheelchair-bound performance. 8 p.m., free

MOVIESHORTS

Conan the Barbarian

The original "Conan the Barbarian" was never meant to main character was little more

For whatever reason, director

how dumber and more basic.

Conan (Jason Momoa)

is a member of the barbaric

Cimmerian tribe who witnesses the slaughter of his father (Ron Perlman) and his entire village at the hands of bloodthirsty generic

Lang). From there, Conan sets out world with nothing more than his sword and the occasional dispos-

The film's biggest flaw is able secondary character.

Conan himself. Taking the role made famous by Arnold

Schwarzenegger is admittedly difficult, but Momoa does little more than serve as a sentient piece of meat that makes guttural noises and stabs people. One character warlord Khalar Zym (Stephen to get his revenge and save the Marcus Nispel decided the best way to improve an already bare-bones movie was to make it some-be a complex film, and its titular than a brute spewing one-liners.

Wednesday

Mid Century Modern

Nightlight | That club down Rosemary St. hosts a free dance party centered on the jams of the '50s and '60s. Soul music is a given, but also spinning will be rockabilly, jazz and more nittygritty or otherwise obscure treats. The tiny club has the perfect setup for those who want to dance but aren't up for places with cover charges and blaring Top 40 hits. 9:30 p.m., free

MUSICSHORTS

Katharine Whalen Madly Love

Rock

There's the music, there's your expectation of what the music will sound like and then there's that space in between the reality and your prediction — sometimes a reservoir, sometimes a stream. But for Katharine Whalen & Her Fascinators' Madly Love, the gap between the expected and the actual was a gulf, one that reveals Whalen's breadth and distinguishes her latest from her past work with The Squirrel Nut Zippers. Title track and opener "Madly Love" attests that these songs carry more weight than your standard rock ballad. Weird and intriguing, it's a distillation of David Byrneian quirkiness and an Appalachian folk singer's strange vowels. It exemplifies what Whalen and company do so well - taking what could be hooky and riffy and massaging it around the edges until it only vaguely resembles what you've heard before.

For most of the album, this rule holds true, and the group and its

CD RELEASE SHOW

Time: 8 p.m. Friday, August 26 Location: Motorco Music Hall 723 Rigsbee Ave., Durham, NC Info: motorcomusic.com, myspace.com/katharinewhalen frontwoman throw in enough oddity to keep you on your toes. There are places, especially on the slower tracks, where the momentum falters, but it's momentary. Like clockwork, Whalen's next verse interrupts the malaise, and you're reminded of another influence you didn't see coming.

"With You," the record's closer, defies the precedent its slower forebears set. What seems lethargic elsewhere feels intentional here. That's likely due to the vocals, Whalen's most heartfelt mixed with the sad caw of a crow at the end of the song, they sound completely organic.

Even music critics misjudge, and the basis is often silly — an album cover, a snippet of a song, a naysayer, or, in this case, an artist's past work. But Madly Love is a record that forces you to reset your gauge, an imperfect but enjoyable reminder that unanticipated bits and pieces can end up as a beautiful, distinctive whole.

-Linnie Greene

The Beast Guru Legacy EF

With a seamless fusion of jazz and hip-hop and an affinity for social awareness, The Beast certainly grabs the Bull City by the horns and electrifies the rest of the Triangle with its refreshing pres-

On Guru Legacy EP, the latest from Durham's frenetic hip-hop outfit, this musical fusion is only epitomized. The EP is a tribute to the late emcee Keith Elam, aka Guru, whose Jazzamatazz volumes are memorialized in the six songs performed by the members of The Beast, local poets Shirlette Ammons and D. Noble, emcees John Robinson and Silent Knight and many others.

Remixing Guru careerspanning tracks like "Keep Your Worries" and "Loungin," The Beast revitalizes the memory of Jazzamatazz. While emcee Pierce Freelon and company trade in some of the typical energy for more jazz-oriented fluidity, the EP still packs a punch with the sharp wordplay that defines much of the group's work.

"State of Clarity" touches on racism, politics and the Tea Party — even the Wake County school board. When the smooth beats and soulful keys combine with the poignant words of Freelon and guest stars, each track is infused with a fresh, local appearance.

The album wraps up with an interview between Freelon and ?uestlove of The Roots, touching on Guru's legacy, his death and the state of hip-hop. While interesting, the interview feels out of place and drags down the wellcrafted flow.

Still energetic and fresh, Guru Legacy represents a progression of hip-hop and demonstrates the value of remixing. The record is not only a reincarnation, but a representation of the future of the trade.

 $\hbox{-}{\it Elizabeth~Byrum}$

notes Conan has "the heart of a king" — that may be true, but he has the vocabulary of a brain trauma victim.

> The supporting cast suffers from characterization that is either broad or inane. Despite being a nun, nominal love interest Tamara (Rachel Nichols) has more inexplicable combat skills than the hobbits from "Lord of the Rings."

Unfortunately, the battle sequences that should redeem the movie fall well short of doing so. They're dark and clumsily edited, and filled with CGI blood and screaming men. In fact, so much of the movie contains pained, grunting, burly, leather-clad men that it might qualify better as an S&M film rather than an action

Attempts to update venerable classics often fail, but few do so in such epic proportions as "Conan the Barbarian." Despite all the hacking, slashing and pillaging, the movie's most barbaric act might be making the audience suffer through it.

-Mark Niegelsky

WHAT'S ESSENTIAL FOR BEAUTIFUL HAIR COLOR?

aveda hair color is 99% naturally derived* * from plants and non-petroleum based minerals schedule your FREE custom color consultation today

avedainstitutechapelhill.com | 200 w franklin st | unc campus | 919.960.4769 🚮 🔃 📉 🛝 📆

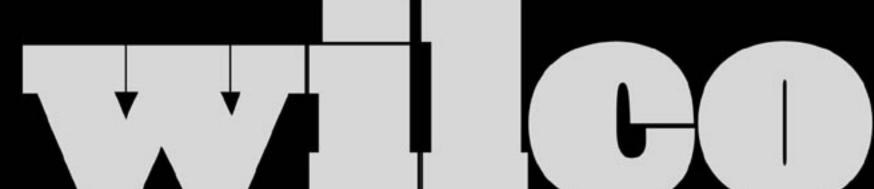

AYEDA INSTITUTE CHAPEL HILL

tuesday sept 27 | with very special guest nick lowe raleigh amphitheater | 500 S. McDowell St., Raleigh

tickets at ticketmaster.com or visit the Progress Energy Center box office presented by cat's cradle | wilcoworld.net

The Baily Tax Heel Thursday, August 25, 2011

THE JOURNEY OF A LIFETIME STARTS HERE

Enter The Create My Journey Sweepstakes

www.startmyjourney.com • text Journey to 72579 ———

SAN FRANCISCO

LONDON

SYDNEY

BARCELONA

COSTA RICA

Enter the Capital One® Create My Journeysm Sweepstakes and you could win a trip for you and three friends to your choice of Paris, San Francisco, London, Sydney, Barcelona, or Costa Rica. After you enter, increase your chances of winning (and your credit knowledge) by checking out credit-smart quizzes, tips, and tools that will help you start your journey with credit on the right foot. It's the journey of a lifetime – and the only way to win is to enter now at www.startmyjourney.com.

Brought to you by Journeysm from Capital One

DIVE: Q&A

Jonathan Scales

Placing the steel pans inside a progressive concept album, the latest release from Asheville's Jonathan Scales has garnered him comparisons to banjo pioneer Béla Fleck. This week, Diversions edi $tor \, Joseph \, Chapman \, asks \, Scales$ just how that music degree is working out for him.

DIVERSIONS: You started playing steel pans in 2002 as a freshman music major at Appalachian State University. What style of music did you start with in class?

JONATHAN SCALES: Steel band is like a 20-piece group that was actually started at that college in 1984. That steel pan group was playing a good mix of traditional steel pan music and also some cool pop arrangements. I was actually a saxophone player going into that school, and a composer.

Originally I wasn't interested in being in steel band, but all my friends convinced me to do it, and I'm very glad I did.

DIVE: In retrospect, do you think your music degree was worth it?

JS: It's based on what you want out of it, really. The paper itself is worthless. Like, my composition degree isn't worth anything. Well — I guess it's worth tens of thousands of dollars, but other than that, it's not really worth anything.

It's about your experience and what you get out of it. When I was in college, I took a lot out of my private lessons and I took a lot out as the most wise decision. A lot of the music theory classes. I'm using that: I'm writing music and people are getting into it, and I'm trying to build my career up.

I'm very happy that I went and got that degree, even though it's DIVE: How did Béla Fleck influence you as a musician?

JS: Béla Fleck did a show at Appalachian State when I was there. And I saw him at a clinic earlier that day. And it was awesome — that was the first time I saw him, and I loved it.

I wasn't going to the show that night because it was sold out. So I was like, 'Oh, that's too bad, I can't go to the show.'

So, during the set break, my friend Joel called me up and said, 'Hey man, it's the intermission. If you want to sneak in, they're not really checking tickets anymore.'

So I ran down from my dorm and went to the theater and got to see the whole second half of Béla Fleck and Edgar Meyer. That performance was so astounding that, right there, I was like, 'I want to play my own music on the steel pans and travel and tour and make albums.' DIVE: So, in college, you told yourself you were going to make a living being a musician? JS: Yes, I definitely planned on it. When you're in college and you make a decision like that, sometimes it might not be seen

All home regular season athletic events are FREE to UNC Students with a ONECard!

FRIDAY, AUGUST 26TH

#3 Women's Soccer vs. #1 Notre Dame

Fetzer Field; 7pm

Win one of 200 FREE T-Shirts

Don't miss the eating contest at halftime!

SATURDAY, AUGUST 27TH

Meet the Heels Kenan Stadium; 5-7pm Get UNC Football player autographs, posters, trading cards, and more!

#3 Men's Soccer vs. UNC-Wilmington Fetzer Field; 7pm

Win one of 150 FREE T-Shirts!

Don't miss the pep rally at halftime!

SUNDAY, AUGUST 28TH #3 Women's Soccer vs. Houston

Fetzer Field; 3pm

FREE T-Shirts for the first 100 fans!

For more information on UNC Athletics, visit

TarHeelBlue.com, Facebook.com/TarHeels, and @UNC_Athletics on Twitter!

UNC Concessions provided by ARAMARK

thanks all Tar Heel fans for their continual support!

Remember, UNC Concessions accepts debit, cash, credit cards (MasterCard and Visa) and UNC Expense dollars at limited locations only.

STEEL PAN JAMS

Time: 9 p.m. Saturday

Location: The Nightlight 405 1/2 W. Rosemary St.

Info: www.nightlightclub.com, www.jonscales.com

Diversions

By Allison Hussey

Assistant Diversions Editor

In Chapel Hill, there's no shortage of sign space. Bulletin boards, shop windows and signboards are attention. Among the neon sheets seeking jobs, lost pets and lab rats hide works of art with expiration

UNC-CH's Southern Folklife

challenge of preserving thousands

Collection has stepped up to the of posters by local artists. "From the Cradle to the Cave: 18 Years in Davis Library and will run

Chris Williams, Casey Burns,

Jason Lonon and Matt Hart.

The event came to fruition

when director Steve Weiss sug-ing artists whose work he was gested a poster art exhibit featur-already collecting for the library.

"I thought it would be a nice kick off to the fall semester, appealing to students, faculty and community, and a nice opportunity to highlight

UNC alumnus Casey Burns involvement with archiving concert art is a "big thing." He argues that the University's recognition people to pay more attention to importance of archiving works to support local music.

STARS

★ POOR

★★ FAIR

★★★ GOOD

★★★★ EXCELLENT

★★★★ CLASSIC

of these posters as art might push the fliers, hopefully nudging them

Artist Ron Liberti stressed the that are, by definition, temporary.

the artists' work," he said.

noted that the University's through January, displaying 40

posters from artists Ron Liberti, of NC Poster Art" opens Thursday

all cluttered with dime-a-dozen photocopies begging for your dates: concert posters.

of people with my degree, they go off and get their masters and their doctorate and then they teach college music theory or college music composition. And that's not what I wanted to do.

At first, my teacher was really concerned about how I was going to make it. 'How are you going to eat, how are you going to pay the bills, how are you going to do this, how are you going to do that?'

DIVE: You've played almost 40 shows already this year. Are you satisfied with the pace of your

JS: It's kind of a tricky thing. Me as an artist, I see things differently than someone who's perceiving it. To me, a lot of times, to be honest, I don't know that I'm going anywhere. I'm just stuck in my own world, it seems like nothing's moving. I'll just be sitting at home at my desk wondering if anyone is even listening to my music.

I do have times like that, but then I have to sit down and say, 'Alright, in 2002, I started playing steel drums.' And in 2009, I played a jazz festival in Trinidad, the birthplace of steel drums. So sometimes I have to think about it like that. I try not to get too wrapped up in where I am, I just have to keep going.

DIVESTAFF

Joseph Chapman, Editor Allison Hussey, Assistant Editor diversions@dailytarheel.com

Linnie Greene, Rocco Giamatteo, Mark Niegelsky, Elizabeth Byrum, Lam Chau, Lyle Kendrick, staff writ-

Ariana Rodriguez-Gitler, Design

Cover Design: Alyssa Bailey

Cave' preserves posters CHECK OUT THE EXHIBIT

Opens: 5 p.m. Thursday, runs through Jan. 25

Location: Davis Library Info: www.lib.unc.edu/blogs/sfc

'From the Cradle to the

"I'm stoked and honored that [the posters are] up there in a controlled environment, and it'll be around long after I'm gone. For me, just for the local music scene and the people that inspired me to make these posters is important for the future.

"It's garbage today, but tomorrow, it's going to be priceless."

None of the artists have stayed strictly on the design side of the scene. All of them have at some point been musicians, and many of them got started by making posters for their own bands. For Chris Williams of Raleigh's Plastic Flame Press, it was as early as his pre-teen years.

"Somewhere in middle school, when I started wanting to play music, I would draw up little posters for the bands I hoped to form," he said.

He kept up with the poster art scene through his high school and college years, following both Burns' and Liberti's work.

Shortly after graduating college, Chapel Hill's Nightlight recruited Williams to make fliers, and he worked his way up to doing posters for Local 506, and eventually, Cat's Cradle.

The result, he said, is a dream come true.

"It's a rare thing, but I can honestly say that, for the last six years, I've gotten to do what I wanted to do when I grew up. Given that half a life ago, if asked, I would've said I just wanted to make posters for the Cradle. It's pretty rad."

There is a certain futility to poster art: an artist spends hours creating and perfecting a piece, only to have it torn down and destroyed within a few weeks. Public art by local artists — however ephemeral — is nonetheless a contribution to the arts community as a whole.

And if the end result is a thriving, diverse scene, who can balk

Said Liberti, "If I make a good poster for your band, and someone goes to check out your band, it's good for both of us — for all of us."

Contact the Diversions Editor at diversions@dailytarheel.com.

sustainable

STUDENTS, FACULTY, & STAFF

Get involved this year to make UNC a more sustainable campus! Mingle with fellow students and campus staff. Learn about

Carolina's many "green" student organizations, departments, and internship opportunities.

5:00 PM on Thursday, August 25

@ Student Union Art Gallery

Learn more @ CarolinaGreen.unc.edu

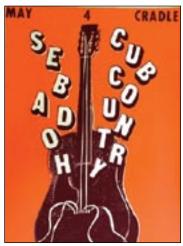

Hosted by the UNC Sustainability Office

& the Environmental Affairs Committee of Student Government

The ArtsCenter

Burns calls this Spoon poster his favorite piece so far, describing it as "conceptually, more interesting" than his previous work.

COURTESY OF RON LIBERTI

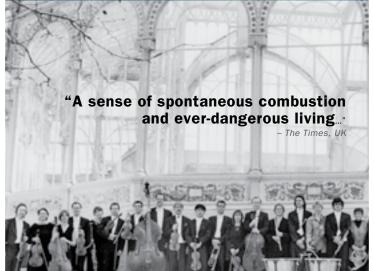

Liberti's work is striking with contrasting colors. According to him, picking a favorite work would be like choosing a favorite child.

COURTESY OF CHRIS WILLIAMS

Williams' posters often involve animals and muted color palettes. Of his hundreds of posters, Williams says he's only proud of a handful.

THE WORLD COMES HERE

ONLY US PERFORMANCE

DEUTSCHE KAMMERPHILHARMONIE BREMEN with Stefan Litwin, piano

SEPT 7/8

SEPTEMBER 7 PROGRAM

Haydn Symphony No. 49 in F minor ('La Passione'), Hob. I:49 Beethoven Wind Octet E-flat major, Op. 103 Beethoven Piano Concerto No. 1 in C major, Op. 15

SEPTEMBER 8 PROGRAM

Haydn Symphony No. 80 in D minor, Hob. I:80 Schoenberg Verklärte Nacht (Transfigured Night) for String Orchestra, Op. 4 Beethoven Piano Concerto No. 3 in C minor, Op. 37

VASQUE • THE NORTH FACE • PATAGONIA • KEEN • PRANA • TEVA • BIRKENSTOCK •

CAROLINA

919-843-3333 | carolinaperformingarts.org

RFORMANCE | EDUCATION | EXHIBITION www.ArtsCenterLive.org CONCERTS CATIE CURTIS • THU 9/8 SHEMEKIA COPELAND • SUN 9/11 LOS LONELY BOYS • FRI 9/16 ADRIAN BELEW POWER TRIO and STICK MEN featuring Tony Levin and Pat Mastelotto • TUE 9/20 CLIMB JACOB'S LADDER with JOE FILISKO & ERIC NODEN • THU 9/22 WOODY WITT & THE QUANTUM MECHANICS with SEVEN STEPS • FRI 9/23 WHY? with SERENGETI • SAT 9/24 An Evening With SHELBY LYNNE • FRI 9/30 PETER LAMB & THE WOLVES • SUN 10/2 LEON REDBONE • THU 10/6

RED CLAY RAMBLERS and BATTLEFIELD BAND • WED 10/19 THEATRE

The ARTSCENTER HONORS featuring

TRANSACTORS IMPROV: SEASON OPENER • FRI 9/9 THE MONTI: SEASON OPENER • SAT 9/10 MIZ HAZEL TELLS ALL • SUN 9/18

ARTSCHOOL CLASSES REGISTERING FOR FALL! UNC STUDENTS GET 10% OFF ARTS CLASSES!

300-G East Main St. Carrboro, NC

(919) 929-2787 • ArtsCenterLive.org

END OF SUMMER GOING ON NOW!

Between Fleet Feet & Weaver Street Market

Carrboro

Mon-Fri 10-7 Sat 10-6 • Sun 11-5

LARPING AND LAUGHING

riana and Auriana Laws lie on the ground after roleplay-fighting with former UNC student Annie Maxine Clontz. The twins, who turned six on Tuesday, were immediately intrigued when they saw Clontz and her friends roleplaying from Franklin St. Before the girls left, Clontz told them the times and dates of their practices.

DIVER

FROM PAGE 1

many times," MacDonald said. "It's kind of just getting in the zone and doing what your body knows how to do."

After watching the countless hours MacDonald has spent training to get stronger, UNC diving coach Kevin Lawrence attributes much of MacDonald's success to the power he generates on the diving board.

"He's kind of built like a linebacker, and he's got a good sense of balance and grace," Lawrence

Amid MacDonald's excitement in earning a spot in the Olympic Trials — which will be held in Federal Way, Wash. in June 2012 MacDonald's and Lawrence's expectations are tempered by the fact that only two divers will have the opportunity to represent the United States in MacDonald's event in the 2012 Olympics.

But Lawrence is hopeful that with a strong season at UNC under his belt, MacDonald will have a chance at punching his ticket to the London games.

Earning an opportunity longed for by athletes all over the world would no doubt be an honor for MacDonald.

But for now, he will settle for going down in the North Carolina diving history books.

"When it happened I didn't really know (I was the first)," MacDonald said. "Coach just told me the other day 'Yeah, no one's ever done it."

> Contact the Sports Editor at sports@dailytarheel.com

HURRICANE

ABORTION

FROM PAGE 1

between all these departments is scheduled for every day leading up to this weekend.

Young said students who have not registered their phones already to Alert Carolina should do so.

Jeff McCracken, chief of campus police, suggested that students tell family members where they will be during the storm in case they can't communicate. He said students should have supplies on hand, stay indoors, avoid flooded areas and stay safe. "I just think people should use common sense," McCracken said. He added that having a flashlight on hand would be important in case of a power outage since candles aren't permitted in the residence halls.

Gentry said all students should create a personal action plan and should visit websites like Federal Emergency Management Agency and the Red Cross for tips. Alert Carolina will publish UNCspecific information, he said.

"The better prepared the students are, the better off they will be immediately after the event," Gentry said.

Contact the University Editor at university@dailytarheel.com are investigating, and the organizations could work together if the issue goes to court. Parker said the legislation might also violate the First Amendment, infringing on doctors' and patients' rights to free speech with its information requirements. And Manian said gender equality has become an issue with similar cases

"Normally, we treat adults as capable of making these decisions in medical care, but these laws treat women like children," she said. "These women's right-toknow laws should be called women-know-nothing laws because that's the implication they're UNC senior Shabnam Emdadi said she thinks the law is unnecessary and condescending.

"It's paternalistic, trying to guide you in some supposed right direction," she said.

Planned Parenthood is already in the midst of a court battle with the state for funding. North Carolina's budget banned all funding, state and federal, from going to the organization, saying the state has a right to show its preference for childbirth over

Women's right-to-know laws state by state

Since the 1992 U.S. Supreme Court case Planned Parenthood v. Casey, which upheld Pennsylvania's right-to-know law, other states have adopted similar controversial policies.

Planned Parenthood sued to overturn the ban, and they received a temporary injunction to unfreeze the funding on Friday. The case to permanently overturn the ban is ongoing.

"This will allow us to keep our doors in Durham open while we fight the ban," Colm said of the injunction.

No federal or state funding pays for abortions, so the money funds prevention programs and health services in Durham, she said.

Contact the State & National Editor at state@dailytarheel.com

Are you currently experiencing around one or both of your lower

WISDOM TEETH?

UNC School of Dentistry is presently enrolling healthy subjects who:

🜹 are non-smokers between the ages of 18 and 35 have pain and signs of inflammation (pericoronitis) around a lower wisdom tooth (3rd molar)

Participation requires three visits. Benefits for participating include:

W free initial treatment of painful problem

a free dental cleaning up to $50.00 payment for your time

free consult regarding options for 3rd molar treatment

If interested, please contact: Tiffany V. Hambright, RDH

Clinical Research Coordinator • Department of Oral & Maxillofacial Surgery

919-966-8376 or Tiffany_Hambright@dentistry.unc.edu you will be contacted within 24 hours.

Student Artery to relocate for third time

By Grace Tatter Staff Writer

News

For Chapel Hill's only studentrun art gallery, home is where the

Due to lack of a permanent space, UNC's Student Artery has had three rent-free locations since it was founded in Fall 2009.

Although constantly searching for new space can be challenging, co-founder Gavin Hackeling, who graduated in 2010, said the Artery was founded with mobility in mind. "It's the model we intended — that wherever space is available, we set up," he said. "We never intended to pay rent or occupy a permanent space." Though the founders intended for the gallery to move, they did original budget. Often the spaces require the Artery to pay for paint, wiring and lighting. But current co-director Kate St. John said it's still cheaper to move to different rent-free spaces than not include moving costs in the

"We usually have to do quite a bit to clean up spaces, but in most cases, it's nothing that a mop and a coat of paint can't fix," she said. "We aren't trying to make a dingy basement into the Metropolitan."

The Artery moved into University Mall in July, after Jennifer Collins-Mancour — the mall's arts initiative director read an article about the students' search and offered them space.

Near the end of September, the University Mall space will be occupied by the Chapel Hill Public Library. The current co-directors - St. John and Sheridan Howie

- said they have already resumed their search, this time looking along Franklin Street and in Carrboro. "Our ideal gallery space would be somewhere close to campus," Howie said. Although the gallery was originally intended to move from place to place, Howie said a permanent location would be an asset. "It would help us to maintain our presence in the community," she said. "It would allow for a greater stability and more frequent programming." But St. John added that a permanent space is not possible until they secure more funds.

The gallery's first location -

137 E. Rosemary St. — came relatively easily, gallery co-founder Hallie Ringle said.

Students wrote letters to local property owners, explaining their vision for a student-run art gallery.

"We thought it was going to be impossible," Ringle said. But then the manager of the Bank of America space at 137 E. Rosemary St. offered it to the students.

"We were surprised that someone with the property would allow us to use the space," Hackeling said.

When novelty store Expressions chose to open a hookah bar in the space, the gallery relocated into the vacant bar space next door at 136 E. Rosemary Street.

In April, the group found out they would have to move the gallery yet again, this time because of fire code violations. Their next stop was University Mall.

Ringle said she is happy the Artery still exists, but a permanent location would be a departure from the founders' original plan. "We always envisioned it moving around," she said.

Contact the Arts Editor

at arts@dailytarheel.com.

ALERT CAROLINA

to have a permanent space.

FROM PAGE 1

"Something has happened, but there is not any threat at all," Crisp said. "There is a significant enough event that people might want to know about it."

This would also help to dispel rumors, Crisp added.

Moving forward

University officials, along with some students, have acknowledged that not every situation can be planned for, Crisp said.

You can only do the best you can to anticipate the different kinds of things that can happen," "If you don't feel safe at Carolina you're unable to excel as an athlete, a student or anything."

Mary Cooper, Student body president

he said. "The execution isn't going to be as clean as it looks on paper either."

University officials said they hope students will appreciate the improvements to the emergency warning system and its clearer standards of what requires an

"I think students will appreciate it," Student Body President Mary Cooper said. "The new system took what we already had and recategorized it in a way that made sense and emphasized com-

Cooper added that this should remove confusion around the system and will improve safety. 'If you don't feel safe at munication."

Carolina you're unable to excel as an athlete, a student or anything," she said.

Contact the University Editor at university@dailytarheel.com.

David MacDonald is the first

Tar Heel diver to qualify for the Alert Carolina updates UNC officials are proposing tem. See pg. 1 for story.

Waiting for school

Olympic Trials. See pg. 1 for story.

changes to the Alert Carolina sys-

games

6

3

4

2 4

Level: 1 2 3 4

9

3

4 9

7

9

1

Register for Panhellenic

Recruitment by Sunday.

8/28/2011 at greeks.unc.edu!

For more information, join us for Greek Promo Day in the Pit on Friday, 8/26/2011!

GO GREEK!

8

6

1 6

6

9

TRIBUNE Complete the grid so each row, column bold borders) contains every digit 1 to 9.

9	6	Solution to Wednesday's puzzle
		5	1	4	8	9	3	7	6	2
		2	8	9	6	7	5	3	1	4
		6	3	7	1	4	2	9	5	8
	8	7	2	5	3	8	1	4	9	6
	_	1	6	3	4	5	9	8	2	7
1		4	9	8	2	6	7	5	3	1
•		8	4	2	9	3	6	1	7	5
\sim		9	5	1	7	2	4	6	8	3

With Love"
13 German steel town

22 Anthem contraction

26 Pontiac muscle cars

Slightly cracked

mazes

logo 31 Mars pair 35 __ rock

37 Alone

21 Fashion designer Michael

28 Angler's need 29 Money set aside for garden

30 Drink brand with a lizard

38 Joyce's homeland 40 Ostentatious behavior

Community colleges are having trouble accommodating a rise in enrollment. See pg. 3 for story.

Tar Heel first

Printing delays Officials say first week of classes and relocation of printers is causing delays. See pg. 3 for story.

NCSU hotel N.C. State University is build-9 5 1 7 2 4 6 8 3 ing a hotel across from the 3 7 6 5 1 8 2 4 9 tower. See pg. 11 for story. ing a hotel across from their bell

Not a first-year student? Don't worry! Sororities are actively recruiting

Find out more at greeks.unc.edu!

@unc_panhel

Los Angeles Times Daily Crossword Puzzle ACROSS 68 Milk dispenser Klebb in "From Russia

71 Run for the __: Kentucky

DOWN

2 Auditorium sign 3 "Leading With My Chin" author 4 Film with a creepy motel

1 Boaters and bowlers

owner 5 Archie's heartthrob

6 Denny's competitor 7 Diamonds, but not emeralds 8 Robin Williams forte

9 Tight braid 10 Gone by merchandise?

69 Hardly handsome

Derby 72 Understands

70 Loads

73 Gusto

1 Beatles film 5 Globetrotter's need 9 TV choice

14 x, y and z, in math 15 Israel's Barak Curved moldings 17 Hard to spot 18 Muddy up 19 Chestnut-hued horses

20 Chicken, beef, or fish? 23 Bar order 25 Three-time Oscar winner

for Best Foreign Language Film 27 Saw 32 Membership list

33 Slangy morning cup 34 Tabloid exclusive 34 Inferior 39 Director of the last episode of "M*A*S*H" 41 Concerning
43 Hershey's toffee bar
44 First name in daytime TV
46 World-

46 Worldweariness 48 Gin maker

Whitney 49 Jazz and swing periods 51 Word with crew or key 53 Gridiron call 56 Respectful title 57 French vineyard

Expensive bottle of wine? 64 River including Livingstone Falls astronomy?

67 Balm ingredient

LANAI FAILTONOTICE E L F F R O P R I Z E F A U X F I R E P L A C E A D D L E S I D Y L N S A E S E S O P H M E T H O D

A N E W Y O G I

11 Shop specializing in Winnie the Pooh 12 Lotte who played Rosa 2011 Tribune Media Services, Inc.

_ With Morrie": Albom best-seller
45 Salts on the ocean

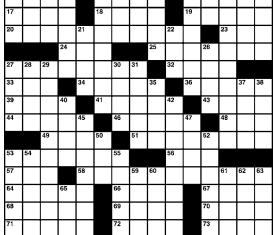

47 Hip bones 50 Star Wars prog. 52 German sub?

53 Present itself, as a thought 54 Tolkien ringbearer 55 1975 Tony-winning play about a stableboy

59 The munchies, e.g.

60 Cruise stop 61 Dark purple fruit

62 Eternities, seemingly 63 Midterm or final 65 "Golly!"

DTH Classifieds

DTH office is open Mon-Fri 8:30am-5:00pm

To Place a Line Classified Ad Log onto www.dailytarheel.com/classifieds or Call 919-962-0252

Line Ads: Noon, one business day prior to publication

Display Classified Advertising:

3pm, two business days prior to publication

 $BR = Bedroom \cdot BA = Bath \cdot mo = month \cdot hr = hour \cdot wk = week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer \cdot OBO = or best offer \cdot AC = air conditioning \cdot w/ = with \cdot LR = living room = hour \cdot wk = week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer \cdot OBO = or best offer \cdot AC = air conditioning \cdot w/ = with \cdot LR = living room = hour \cdot wk = week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer \cdot OBO = or best offer \cdot AC = air conditioning \cdot w/ = with \cdot LR = living room = hour \cdot wk = week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer \cdot OBO = or best offer \cdot AC = air conditioning \cdot w/ = with \cdot LR = living room = hour \cdot wk = week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer \cdot OBO = or best offer \cdot AC = air conditioning \cdot w/ = with \cdot LR = living room = hour \cdot wk = week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer \cdot OBO = or best offer \cdot AC = air conditioning \cdot w/ = with \cdot LR = living room = hour \cdot wk = week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer \cdot OBO = or best offer \cdot AC = air conditioning \cdot w/ = with \cdot LR = living room = hour \cdot wk = week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer \cdot OBO = or best offer \cdot AC = air conditioning \cdot w/ = with \cdot LR = living room = hour \cdot wk = week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer + which is the week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer + which is the week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer + which is the week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer + which is the week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer + which is the week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer + which is the week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer + which is the week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer + which is the week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer + which is the week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer + which is the washer/dryer + which is the week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer + which is the week \cdot W/D = washer/dryer + which is the washer/dryer + which is the$

Announcements

Line Classified Ad Rates

Private Party (Non-Profit) Commercial (For-Profit)

25 Words......$18.00/week Extra words...25¢/word/day Extra words...25¢/word/day Extra words...25¢/word/day

EXTRAS: Box Your Ad: $1/day · Bold Your Ad: $3/day

NOTICE TO ALL DTH CUSTOMERS Deadlines are NOON one business day prior to publication for classified ads. We publish Monday thru Friday when classes are in session. A university holiday is a DTH holiday too (i.e. this affects deadlines). We reserve the right to reject, edit, or reclassify any ad. Acceptance of ad copy or prepayment does not imply agreement to publish an ad. You may stop your ad at any time, but NO REFUNDS of credits for stopped ads will be provided. No advertising for housing or employment, in ac-national origin, handicap, marital status. IT'S T-SHIRT TIME!

cordance with federal law, can state a prefer-

Carolina women's soccer fans, the cabs are heeere! Finish your GTL, grab MVP and come see the situation this Friday night at Fetzer Field. Be there at 7pm to catch hundreds of free t-shirts as the #3 Tar Heels meet #1

ADOPTION: UNC grad and wife wish to adopt a baby. If you are interested in exploring this option for you and your baby, please contact us. Expenses paid. 1-800-373-8846 http:// julieandsteveadopt.squarespace julieandsteveadopt@hotmail com. Homestudy completed 4/4/11

AUDITIONS

This week for Carolina Choir, Chamber Singers, Men's and Women's Glee Clubs. Sign up in Person Hall 106. All singers welcome! More info: skleb@email.unc.edu.

IT'S THE JOBS, STUPID! Visit the website http://itsthejobsstupid.com. Read the book: ISBN 9781 4620 21437, or 21451 (ebook). NEIGHBORHOOD YARD SALE! Heritage Hills

Community Neighborhood: Annual Yard Sale on August 27th 8am-Noon. Smith Level Road and Yorktown.

Child Care Wanted

HILARIOUS KIDS (ages 5, 3, 1, baby) looking for fun, full-time nanny in Durham, Chapel Hill! Send CV and description of yourself to

Announcements

Child Care Wanted

Mondays and Fridays 2:45-5:45pm,

RESPONSIBLE, CARING individual needed to provide afterschool care for our 8 year-old

PART-TIME NANNY needed for 2011-12 school year for 2 girls, 5 and 9. M-F 2:30-6:30pm. Must have excellent references and clean driving record. Email:

CHILD CARE needed for boy 10 and girl 8. Transport to sports and piano. Weekdays 3-4 hrs/day. Email woods038@mc.duke.edu or

AFTERNOON NANNY needed for 2nd and 4th graders. 2:30-5:30pm M-F, in Carrboro. Start

AFTERSCHOOL CHILD CARE: Our kids (3, 7) need a fun and responsible sitter 3 days wk (including Tuesday but not Friday) 2:30-6pm. Cooking skills a plus! Will pay extra for laundry. Must commit to whole school year and have clean driving record. Send resume, references, and your availability to CHILD CARE: Seeking afterschool child care provider for 13 year-old girl in the begin-ning of September. 3-5:30pm, 3-4 days/wk. Must have a car. School and residence are minutes from UNC. jonf1640@bellsouth.net.

ISO RESPONSIBLE, fun sitter for 2 girls, ages 8 and 11. M/Tu/W/F 2:30-5:30pm. Afterschool pick up, homework supervision, occasional drop off at an activity. Location: 3 miles from UNC. lbiggers@unc.edu, 919-360-0795.

AFTERSCHOOL SITTER CHAPEL HILL Caring, energetic sitter needed to pick up children, ages 11 and 7, from school, 2:30-5:30pm, 3 days week. Transportation, experience and references are required. Please send your resume or summary of your experience to

www.dailytarheel.com

Announcements

RAMESES TRYOUTS Have you ever wished you could be a part of Carolina Athletics? Do you want to support the Tar Heels and bring joy to fans of all ages? If so, you might be a perfect fit as Rameses, the beloved Carolina Mascot. An interest meeting will be held Monday, August 29th at

Come be a part of this special tradition!

6:00pm in Fetzer Gym C.

UNC CHEERLEADING TRYOUTS

TRYOUTS

Sunday, August 28th 3:00pm • Gym C Fetzer Gymnasium

All trying out for cheerleading must have a physical approved by UNC Sports Medicine at least two days prior to the date of tryouts

Please visit our website for details: www.wix.com/gotarheels/uncspiritprogram

COME PREPARED TO WORK OUT!

COME PREPARED TO WORK OUT!
More details at www.wix.com/gotarheels/uncspiritprogram

Chapel Hill. 919-968-3386.

daughter in Durham. Job involves tutoring in math and reading, and taking child to after-school activities. 3:15-6pm most days. Email kristinasilberstein@hotmail.com.

4falek@gmail.com.

call 919-451-9796.

mid to late Aug. Excellent driving record, own car required. Send references, experience to Jennifer: jarnold@email.unc.edu.

clows002@mc.duke.edu.

919-932-7749.

dren to sports practices. Reliable car and clean driving record a must. Experience with kids. Non-smoker. Must love pets. Flexible scheduling to begin with. $15/hr +mileage. Reply to: northchapelhillmom@gmail.com. CHILD CARE, HOUSEHOLD CLEANyear-old boy plus household cleaning. Own car and references needed. $11/hr plus gas. Start date: now. 919-906-0105 or beckham@duke.edu.

MOTHER'S HELPER: College student sought as mother's helper in Chapel Hill to carpool. Wednesdays 6:30-7pm and 8:30-9pm. Must have own transportation and safe driving record. Experience with teenagers preferred. Email wendy@tanson.com or call 971-7180.

AFTERSCHOOL SITTER needed August 24 for twin 9-year old boys Monday to Thurs-day from 3-6ish. Duties include picking up n school in Durham and driving to activities. We live between Duke and UNC. Must have reliable car and references. Contact semley@buckleysandler.com.

LOOKING FOR EXPERIENCED child care provider for 2 month-old in our southwest Durham home (near Target) starting in September, 8-10 hrs/wk, Days, times flexible, prefer 2 weekdays for 4-5 hours. Prefer infant CPR certified. Pay: $8-10/hr. Contact Melissa at 310-801-6674 with questions; send resume to mmj@unc.edu.

BABYSITTER FOR 5 young children, though rarely all 5 together. Hours M/Tu/Th 2-4pm, W/F 2:30-6:30pm. Extra hours possible. Located near campus on Gimphoul Road. Partial availability considered. Fluent Spanish a big plus. $12-15/hr. Email:

AFTERSCHOOL CARE NEEDED for 11 year-old boy in Carrboro 3-5pm Tu/Th and a ride from McDougle Middle to guitar lessons at 3pm on Wednesday, S12/fr, $60/wk. Super-vise homework, take to activities. Car required. Send resume, availability to Danielle, daniellegraceking@gmail.com.

CHILD CARE AND DOG WALKING

Talented, animal loving, multi-tasker needed to provide intermittent care and transportation for 2 children. Must also be able to walk dogs 2-3 times a week and run an occasional errand or do some light housekeeping. Must be available for some early Thursday mornings from 5:30-8:30am. Hours vary from 5-12/wk, depending on our work schedules. Must be good with dogs and be able to take on high energy kids and toler-ate some chaos. Pay is $12/hr. Must have your own safe, reliable transportation. Email legatosmom@gmail.com.

Child Care Wanted

PART-TIME CHILD CARE Chapel Hill, 2 girls AFTERSCHOOL CHILD CARE NEEDED: Looking for help caring for 3 children ages 5, 7 and 10. M-Th. 2:45-5:30pm. Help with home-(12 and 6). M/Tu 6:30-8am and 2:45-6:45pm and W/Th afternoons, starting immediwork, taking kids to activities. Whitfield Road ately. Non-smoker. Safe car. 919-619-2487. area. christinaghinkle@gmail.com.

Child Care Wanted

WANTED: AFTERSCHOOL Help M/Th/F for

Chapel Hill, Carrboro family. Need ability to safely drive son and daughter from Mc-

Dougle School to activities. $10/hr. Please

CHILD CARE NEEDED: Looking for a warm, high energy, experienced person to care for my 4 wonderful daughters, ages 8, 11, 12 and 15 (though the oldest will not be around much), on Wednesday and Friday afternoons.

We live very close to campus, but a car is required. If you are interested, please call Andrew, 919-967-4924.

PART-TIME MORNING NANNY needed to take care of a sweet 22 month-old girl in southwest Durham. Located near Garrett

Road and 15/501. $8.50/hr, 9-11:30am, M-F.

Stay at home mom or full-time nanny may use their own house. shcwillis@gmail.com

AFTERSCHOOL CARE. $13/hr. Close to campus. 3 kids, ages 9, 11 and 13. Walk to McDougle schools in Chapel Hill. M-F 2:30-5:30pm starting 8-29.

Must be responsible driver for after-school sports practices in town. obx_ jellies@yahoo.com, 919-599-9282.

EXPERIENCED BABYSITTER FOR afterschool care 2-3 days/wk, occasional evenings for 2 children. 10 minutes from UNC. Reliable transportation necessary. Italian speaker a plus. maalzepa@gmail.com. References

CHILD CARE WANTED. Full-time or part-time.

Immediate start. UNC students only. Please send your CV to malawsky@gmail.com. 919-

RELIABLE SITTER NEEDED to provide in home care for our 14 month-old son. M/W/F from 12:15-3:15pm. 1 mile from campus. $12/hr.

EXPERIENCED SITTER NEEDED ongoing for our children ages 5, 3 and 1, M-Th 5:30-7:30pm and/or Saturday 5:30-8pm plus Sundays 7:30am-12:30pm. Near UNC. $12/hr.

Email resume: chapelhillsitter@gmail.com.

NANNY, CHILD CARE: I am looking for a fun, loving, reliable person to help care for my children, aged 6, 4 and 2 on Tuesday and some Thursday mornings, 8:30am-1:30pm.

Usually, the 6 year-old in school. Must have experience with these ages, clean driving record, non-smoker and provide recent references. Pay highly competitive. Please email interest to lkboucher@gmail.com.

2GREAT KIDS! Looking for afterschool care for 10 and 7 yea-old children. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons 2:45-

5:45pm. Must have own car and safe driving record. Competitive salary, based on experi

AFTERSCHOOL CARE: 3-6pm, M-F, flex-ible. Needed for our 8th grade son in Chapel Hill. Pick up from school, supervise homework, drive to music lessons. Contact:

NEED RELIABLE person to transport my 16

vear-old daughter from school at Pace academy to our house at Erwin Road. M- F. Will Reply to a01saba01@gmail.com. Must have

AFTERNOON CARE AND driving for 2 chilk.r.brouwer@att.net.

a good driving record.

ence. vermeers@mac.com, 919-593-0599.

required.

mgilkey@jhsph.edu.

with resume and references.

email lisa_voss@yahoo.com.

NEWHOPE CHURCH HIRING FOR SUN-DAY. Seeking child care staff for Sunday mornings, 6:00am-1:30pm. $11/hr. Must love working with kids and be committed with dependable transportation. Send resume to: amy@newhopenc.org.

FUN AFTERSCHOOL CARE needed for boys ages 13 and 11 from about 3:30-5:30pm 2-5 weekdays, $10/hr. Supervise homework chores, outdoor play, take to activities. Car required. Send resume, availability to Margaret, mpendzich@mindspring.com.

FUN. ENERGETIC on call sitter needed for my girls! Must drive, be reliable, and flexible. Sense of humor is key. Adjacent to campus. Schedule varies. $12/hr. Email Kristi, AFTERSCHOOL CARE WANTED. I am looking for someone to pickup my 2 children (10 and 12 year-olds) from school 2-3 days/ wk. Kids are very easy going. I pay competitively. Need car, CV and references. Contact sbl.nd1991@gmail.com.

AFTERSCHOOL BABYSITTER

UNC family seeking afterschool babysitter for 11 year-old daughter. Pick up from school and transport home or to activities. Reliable transportation, clean driving record essential. Availability M/W/Th. 3:30-5:30pm. $12/hr. Contact abryan2@email.unc.edu

CHILD CARE NEEDED: Child care, transportation needed for 13 yearold son. Must have car and excellent driving record. 5-10 hrs/wk. Will pay gas. 919-968-9444.

AFTER SCHOOL CHILD CARE. High energy, creative person to care for our 10 and 7 ear-old in our Chapel Hill home (near Lake Hogan Farms) M-F 2:30-5:30pm. Must be able to legally work in the US and be a non-smoker. Please reply to nannysearch27516@gmail.com.

CHILD CARE CLOSE TO UNC. Seeking care for rising 6th grade girl; smart, fun. Help with homework, light house work, walking a great friendly dog. Car is best but close to busline. Great neighborhood with pool and stores.: Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 3:30-6:30pm, 15/hr. 818-430-1963.

CHILD CARE WANTED for 12 and 9 year-olds. Pick up at Woods Charter, homework, transport to activities, light meal prep. M-F 3-6:30pm. $10/hr. Excellent driving record a must. Resume with references to jlja1970@earthlink.net. AFTERSCHOOL SITTER needed for 3 fun children (boy, age 10; twin girls, age 8) in our Chapel Hill home. Monday through Thursday 2:30-6pm. Must have own car and a safe driving record. Competitive salary based on experience. elenalea@yahoo.com WATCHING 2 GREAT KIDS for special hours.

Great opportunity for responsible person to make money watching kids in Chapel Hill area. 919-428-6620. CHILD CARE: 2 children looking for fun loving sitter, Wednesday evenings 6-9pm and occasional weekends. Please send hoathout@bellsouth.net. AFTERSCHOOL CARE TU/ TH: Seeking afterschool babysitter for 6 year-old girl from 2-6pm. Pick up at FPG and take to ballet or swim. Have your own car or use ours. Must have proof of clean driving record (non-certified) and NC driver license. $10/hr. Email: stephanieengel@rocketmail.com. BABYSITTER NEEDED in Chapel Hill. Weekday afternoons for an awesome 4th grade boy. $10/hr. You will need a car to drive him to activities. Please call Meg, 919-357-4941.

CHILD CARE: 2 great kids need fun, dependable sitter. 2 days/wk, 2:45-5pm. Close to UNC. Experience and references required. Education majors and grad students preferred. Send resume to raymari34@gmail.com.

AFTERSCHOOL CARE for my 6th grade daughter in Chapel Hill (near McDougle). M-F from 3pm. Would include dropping off at sports practices. Excellent driving record and references required. glofrese@yahoo.com.

AFTERSCHOOL CHILD CARE: Energetic college student needed for 3 hours 3-4 days/wk. for 2 girls, 7 and 10. In Chapel Hill. Help with homework and transport to activities. Must have own car. Call 919-929-5116.

SATURDAY SITTER WANTED for 4 year-old boy. Most Saturdays from 9:30am-5:30pm. Must like dogs, play-ing all sports, imaginative games, crafts and exploring nature. Some Spanish a plus. $10-$11/hr. Need own car. Email: cabbytwo@netscape.net.

PART-TIME NANNY: Faculty family seeks experienced, reliable, honest and creative person to help with our 2 wonderful girls, ages 3 and 1 for approximately 12-16 hrs/wk. Competitive pay, warm environment. 10 min-ute drive from downtown Chapel Hill. School ear commitment and car is necessary. Email nannyfor2girls@gmail.com.

OCCASIONAL BABYSITTER WANTED for my 2 boys, ages 3 and 9 months, at our home in historic Hillsborough. Must have availability during the day. $10-12/hr. Contact: leighann19@hotmail.com.

CHILD CARE, DRIVER. $15/HR.

Care for girls ages 14, 12 and 9. 3-6:30pm, 2-4 days/wk. Safe driver, light housekeeping, basic meal prep. required. Spanish language skills a plus. Call 933-5330. FAMILY HELPER wanted for general household tasks, 2-4 hrs/wk. No child care involved. $12. Car required. Conscientious, fun? Please send detailed note to tbarron105@aol.com.

Child Care Wanted

CHILD CARE NEEDED: LINC family seeking afterschool care and transportation for daughters, ages 9 and 12. Reliable transessential. Availability needed through Friday, 2:30-5:30pm. r. Contact 919-451-9105 or asauls@email.unc.edu.

AFTERSCHOOL CHILD CARE Tu-Th 5-7pm, 13 year-old. Pick up Mt. Sinai Road, Play sports, make dinner, help with homework, chores. $12/hr. Homestead Road. 919-928-3256.

getic person who loves kids? We'd like someone now to help 2:30-6pm in our Chapel Hill home with our 10 year-old son and 14 year-old daughter. Excellent references, re-liable car needed. $12/hr, negobgavnes@med.unc.edu or 932-7547 after 6pm

CHILD CARE: AFTER SCHOOL SITTER NEEDED for 2 great older boys. Homework, driving, chores, M-Th, 3:30-6:30pm, $10/hr. Contact by email: isweeney@email.unc.edu.

AFTERSCHOOL BUIDDY NEEDED: Male or female buddy needed at faculty couple home in Hillsborough 3:30-6:30pm M-F for our 17 year-old son with Down Syndrome. Experi-ence helpful. References needed. Job sharing possible. $10-$12/hr. 919-732-1680, sweir@unc.edu.

CHILD CARE WANTED: Sitter needed for our 18 month-old daughter. Near Southpoint, starting immediately. 10-15 hrs/wk flexible, $10/hr. Send resume/experience to

For Rent

FAIR HOUSING

ALL REAL ESTATE AND RENTAL advertising in this newspaper is subject to the Federal Fair Housing Act of 1968 which makes it illegal to advertise "any preference, limitation, or discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, handicap, familial status, or national origin, or an intention to make any such preference, limitation, or discrimination, This newspaper will not knowingly accept any advertising which is in violation of the law. Our readers are hereby informed that all dwellings advertised in this newspaper are available on an equal opportunity basis in accordance with the law. To complain of discrimination, call the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development housing discrimination hotline: 1-800-669-9777.

ABOVE GARAGE APARTMENT

1BR/1BA. 800 square feet. H2O, W/D included. $800/mo. Private entry. 68 Oakwood Drive. $200 security deposit. Dogs OK with additional deposit, rent. 919-280-8675.

LOVELY WOODED LOT FOR 2BR/1.5BA townhome in North Chatham County. This Vickers Road duplex has fireplace, a lot of privacy. $750/mo. water included. Pets negotiable with fee. Email Fran Holland Properties at herbholland@intrex.net or call

HOME AT RESORT STYLE COMMUNITY 4Br/4BA, 2726 square feet, 2 car garage At Briar Chapel, Chapel Hill, NC $2,600/mo. Jeff J. 919-490-9050.

WALK EVERYWHERE IN DOWNTOWN CARRBORO. Newly renovated 2BR/1BA apartment at 118-E Bim Street. Hardwood oors, W/D connections. Available imm diately. $750/mo. with water. Fran Holland Properties, 919-968-4545 or email herbholland@intrex.net, 9am to noon.

OUIET CARRBORO 4BR/2BA RANCH (or 3BR with large family room) available August 10. Hardwood floors, W/D connections, nice yard with room for garden. On Cheek Street. You can bus or bike to campus, $1,380/mo. Fran Holland Properties: herbholland@intrex.net or call 919-968-4545

ROOMY TOWNHOME NEAR CAMPUS: 2BR/2.5BA Nice Canterbury townhouse with fireplace, W/D, parking. Great layout for roommates or couple. Near UNC, Highway 54 and 15-501, on busline. No pets. Available early August. $850/mo. 919-360-0991. RRIGHT GARDEN CONDO 1RR/1RA W/D in the unit. Close to UNC bus and walking trail to campus. Quiet area close to shop-$700/mo. includes gas and electric. 919-490-1342. 4BR/2BA HOUSE. New central air, gas heat. Refinished hardwood and tile floors. $1,400/ mo. Ideal for group of 4. Plenty of parking.

On busline. 919-929-3288. WHITE OAK CONDO FOR LEASE 105 Fidelity.

2BR/2BA $950/mo. 9-12 month lease. Email kathydahan@aol.com. 650-814-7650.

4 BLOCKS TO CAMPUS. Franklin Street. Check out this 4BR/2.5BA house on Stephens Street. Hardwood floors, W/D, dishwasher. Great location for students. $1,800/mo. or rent a bedroom for $500/mo. (all utilities included) 10 month lease available. Fran Holland Properties: herbholland@intrex.net.

GARDEN APARTMENT

Large 1BR basement apartment with private entrance available early September. $650/mo. all utilities included, washing machine and dryer, large living room with old barn wood fireplace. Private patio faces the garden. Grad students preferred.

UNC, UNCH, Franklin. 2BR/1BA, fenced yard, parking. Pets OK. $1,100/mo. Terms negotiable. Available 9/1. tgmcinerney@hotmail.com or 919-929-0121. $595/MO. 1BR 1 STUDY. Newly refinished. All utilities including internet, cable free. Great location. Walk to Whole Foods, busline. No pets, smoking. Adam, 919-599-2000.

HOUSE FOR RENT: Walk or bus to

QUESTIONS: 962-0250

Help Wanted

Help Wanted

Deadlines

UNC Phonathon Now Hiring!

Earn $8.50/hour, build resume experience, flexible hours around your class schedule!

Seeking students committed to making a difference at Carolina.

Apply online at http://unc.thecallingcenter.com (no 'www.') or call 919-913-1660 (priority given to online applications)

For Rent

WALK TO UNC Mill Creek $990/mo. 2BR/2BA townhouse layout condo. All appliances. Walk out patio, lot of storage. Water and parking included. 919-671-4230.

WALK TO UNC. 2BR/1.5BA contemporary townhouse on quiet street. Central AC WID, dishwasher, microwave. 2 park spaces. Decks overlooking woods. $985/mo. includes water. 207-420-7070.

4 BLOCKS TO CAMPUS, and Franklin. 2BR/1BA apartment has W/D connections, electric heat, $675/mo, 415 North Columbia Street. Fran Holland Properties: email herb-holland@intrex.net or call 919-968-4545. PROFESSIONAL, GRADUATE STUDENT to share great condo. 15 minutes to UNC. Includes W/D, dishwasher, fireplace, private bath, on bus route. $345/mo. +security deposit. 919-357-4230. FOR RENT: 2BR/1BA. August 10, 2011-2012. 701 Church Street. $1,050/mo. Dunlap Lilley Properties. Audrey. Hartye@gmail.com, TWO STORY TOWNHOME IN CARRBORO. Approximately 1.5 miles to campus, Frank-lin Street. 2BR/1.5BA. $750/mo. W/D in-919-535-8118. 310-429-5814. panmails@yahoo.com. FOR RENT: Graduate student, professional 1BR, studio apartment. on busline. Utilities, cable and internet included. $450/mo. vandermast1@nc.rr.com.

GARAGE APARTMENT. Quiet, wooded neighborhood. Private entrance. Full kitchen. Car peting. Separate living room, bedroom, bath. Many windows. Preferred by grad students. $750/mo. includes utilities. Ávailable August 18. 919-929-6072. WALK, BIKE FROM 13 DAVIE CIRCLE, This campus, it is located off Frankin Street. $1,025/mo. Email Fran Holland Properties, herbholland@intrex.net. WONDERFUL 1BR APARTMENT, unfurnished, near campus with picture windows, great room, patio, fireplace, parking, W/D. Seek-ing quiet graduate, professional student or professional. No pets or smoking. $700/mo.

2BR/1BA house has hardwood floors, W/D, pets negotiable with fee. Only blocks to ncludes utilities. Call 919-619-5138 For Sale

YARD SALE: Great items for students! Comitems. Saturday 27th, 8am-1pm, 200 Forsyth Drive. Chapel Hill, 537-8564.

NURSING APP

FUTURE NURSES: Check out this nursing app: www.pocketcareboard.com. SAVE A TREE, RECYCLE ME

Help Wanted

SPANISH SPEAKER NEEDED for part-time office administrator at wine importer, M-F, 12-4pm. French proficiency a plus. Must be 21+. cpataky@demaisonselections.com.

HABTECH: Keston Care is looking for males and females who are interested in working as Habtech or CNA to work 1 on 1 with the elderly or disabled children in Durham, Orange and Chatham Counties. Afternoon, evening and weekend hours available. Reliable transportation a must! If interested in a CNA or Habtech position, please call Keston Care. M-F 9am-4pm at 919-967-0507 (CPR, 1st aid).

HOUSEKEEPER, CUSTODIAN: Chapel Hill - Carrboro YMCA needs an energetic, self starter for a light housekeeping position. M-F 4-7pm. The job includes cleaning and disinfecting lockerooms, bathrooms, clean-ing offices, gym, 5 star child care center as well as maintaining the overall appearance of the facility; mopping, sweeping, dusting vacuuming, dishes and trash. Provide excellent customer service for members and participants. Ability to follow directions, remain flexible with excellent time management skills. Application is on our website, olications to nchan@chcymca.org or leave at the front desk of the Chapel Hill Branch.

LIFEGUARDS The Y is hiring certified lifeguards and experienced swim lesson instructors. Please visit our website, www.chcymca.org print an application form and mail it Attn: HR Director.

CHILD CARE

Need someone to watch my 7 year-old and 10 year-old in my home; Tuesdays 2:30-6pm, other days possible. $12-15/hr, references required. 919-969-8281. YARD WORKER NEEDED: Must be strong, ex-work. $13/hr. 919-929-4220. ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT: Computer work in CPA's office. Learn Excel, Quickbooks Pro accounting software, bookkeeping, Flexihle hours. Good for accounting majors. Email resume, hourly rate: cardello@fpec.org.

TEACHING ASSISTANT: Small five star center in southern Durham is looking for a full-time assistant to work with 1

HIRING NOW: CATERING server and barbasketball games. Catering experience not necessary. Only responsible, reliable candidates need apply. Please email resume to rockytopunc@gmail.com if interested. First game is Sept. 3rd!

CLASSIFIEDS

HOROSCOPES

To get the advantage, check the day's rating: 10 is the easiest day, 0 the most challenging. Aries (March 21-April 19) Today is an 8 - You can really get into simple work right now, with keen focus. Uncertainty in the morning eases by the evening. Indulge a passion. Taurus (April 20-May 20) Today is an 8 - Take the lesser-traveled road, and bring someone dear along. Keep to your map and be flexible. A negative stretch turns out to be quite afternoon. Love opens new doors this

Gemini (May 21-June 21)
Today is an 8 - Only spend on what's truly needed. Finish up old business, and move quickly. You'll be glad when it's done! This afternoon brings luck with love and money. Cancer (June 22-July 22) the opposite.

humor, and ignore someone's offensive remarks. Your team is hot, financial prospects are good and there's sweet news in the romantic arena. Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) Today is a 9 - Do what you already know works, and use quality materials.

Today is an 8 - Keep your sense of Follow a strong mentor, and dive into focused action. Put your fears aside Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Today is an 8 - Don't launch before you're ready or spend impulsively. Go slow and steady, and you get more than you anticipated. Resist the urge to run away. Others are paying attention.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Today is a 7 - Be generous, but keep track of where your ducats go. Leverage your contribution by inspiring others to do the same. Resist temptation in favor of long-range benefit.

important to you.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

ment or boredom. It's all in how you look at it. Invent something Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Today is a 7 - It's easy to get in your head about money now. The best thing you can do is pay attention to your finances, pay the bills and move on to what's

Today is a 6 - In the adventure of your daily actions, you could discover excite-

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Today is a 5 - There could be some chaos, and you may have some explaining to do. Reaffirm a commitment. There is plenty of action and profit hiding in Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Today is a 7 - Difficulties may arise, but don't let them keep you from doing your job. Provide excellent work, and let a partner take the lead. Keep an open mind and be adaptable.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20) Today is a 6 - Your optimistic nature clashes with your natural pessimism today. Try to favor the first, as the other leads down a slippery slope. Focus on love. Pay attention to cynicism later. (c) 2011 TRIBUNE MEDIA SERVICES, INC

WC Community SERVICE DIRECTORY

Over 600 Micro & Imported Beers Cigarettes • Cigars • Rolling Tobacco 306 E. MAIN STREET, CARRBORO • 968-5000 (in front of Cat's Cradle)

SPEEDING • DWI • CRIMINAL Carolina graduate, expert in traffic and FREE criminal cases for students for over 20 years. CONSULTATION 312 W. Franklin Street • 967-2200 • Chapelhilltrafficlaw.com

ROBERT H. SMITH, ATTY AT LAW

Dr. Chas Gaertner, DC On the properties and the properties of the prop Keeping UNC Athletes, Students & Staff Well Adjusted + www.mcchi

PASSPORT PHOTOS · MOVING SUPPLIES

COLOR/BW PRINTING, NOTARY PUBLIC, LAMINATING, BINDING, MAILBOX SERVICES, FAX, STAMPS, PACKAGING, INTERNATIONAL SHIPPING! CLOSE TO CAMPUS at CARRBORO PLAZA ~ 918.7161

NEED STORAGE SPACE? Hwy 15-501 South & Smith Level Road (919) 942-6666

Brenman Law Firm, PLLC • Visas-us.com

Lisa Brenman, NC Board Certified Specialist Work Visas • Green Cards • Citizenship Reduced Consult Fee for UNC Faculty & Students • 919-932-4593

STARPOINT STORAGE

All Immigration Matters

BOCC examines volunteer residency

By Corinne White Staff Writer

Requirements for Orange County advisory board members are up for revision after a volunteer was denied reappointment.

County officials said May Becker, who holds residency in North Carolina and Florida, was not reappointed due to issues with her dual residency.

But Becker says she was denied a second term on the planning board because of her political

"It wasn't really a question of residency," she said.

Becker said her hard line on the environment wasn't welcomed by the commissioners and prevented her reappointment.

She said after being found eligible to serve on the board she was asked by the commissioners if she wanted to be considered for a second term.

Becker said she told them that she would be interested in serving Then, after she brought up her opinions on the environment, the county attorney repeatedly called and questioned her, she said. But County Attorney John Roberts said Becker's dual residency might have caused a conflict of interests, and that is why she was not reappointed.

County Commissioner Vice Chairman Steve Yuhasz said during the last two years the Orange County Board of Commissioners has been working to revise how it appoints people to advisory boards.

He said the board, which looks for members with diverse views, could begin to interview applicants and look into backgrounds.

The county attorney is working on a set of legal regulations and expectations for board members, such as the legal definition of residency for those who wish to sit on an Orange County advisory board, Yuhasz said.

Roberts said the commissioners have considered two residency definitions — members would have to either be a permanent resident or registered to vote in Orange County to be appointed.

County Manager Frank Clifton said Becker was on a board that is popular among volunteers.

"... (The) county commissioners can't have a resident of another state advising them on land usage."

John Roberts.

News

Orange County attorney

Becker said Roberts asked her specifically about her Tampa, Fla., property after issues were raised with her residency status and her reappointment became uncertain.

She said the questions were irrelevant because she considers herself a North Carolina resident.

But Roberts said every question he asked her was relevant.

"It's a serious question for the planning board because the county commissioners can't have a resident of another state advising them on land usage,"

Roberts said.

Becker said the "harassment" of questioning has not turned her away from public service.

"I wouldn't say I'm in politics. I would say I care about my community," Becker said.

"I was asked to be there to contribute something, and I feel that others have encouraged me to contribute to continue to do something in that direction."

> Contact the City Editor at city@dailytarheel.com.

in talks to build hotel

The project would offer retail space and room for NCSU families.

> Brendan Cooley Staff Writer

The long-term effort to revitalize N.C. State University's retail corridor on Hillsborough Street is now expanding to accommodate travelers.

The university announced Tuesday its selection of two firms to build and manage a proposed hotel — with ground-floor retail space on property the university bought across from the historic bell tower using its endowment

But the project is not without its drawbacks.

Some students and business owners are weary of construction.

"I'm kind of fed up with what's going on campus, and if they're adding more construction that seems a little annoying to me," said Alexandra Anastasi, a sophomore at NCSU.

Local businesses, including Sadlack's Heroes, a sandwich shop popular among students, are in line to be displaced by the construction.

Rose Schwetz, owner of Sadlack's, said she has very little information on the project and does not know how long her business will be able to remain open.

"We're just going to roll along like normal until somebody says we can't be open," she said. "I just have to ride it out," she said. "That's just the way life is." The university selected Bell View Partners, based in Raleigh, to develop the land, and The Bernstein Companies, based in Washington, D.C., to manage the development, said Ralph Recchie, director of real estate at

The university has not sold the land to Bell View Partners yet, and all revenues from that sale will return to the university's endowment, he said.

Despite mixed emotions about the development plans, some business managers say the new hotel does have its perks.

A recent overhaul of Hillsborough Street, which included repaving the road and adding traffic circles, cost the city of Raleigh $10 million and caused disruptions for many businesses, but the new layout also boosted business for stores, said Chris Filan, manager of Porter's City Tavern, a restaurant on Hillsborough Street.

There are very few places for parents of NCSU students to stay, so the proposed hotel would be beneficial for businesses, Filan said.

"I really see this as nothing but a great thing for us," he said. Specifics of the hotel construction are not yet finalized. The hotel construction will cost tens of millions of dollars, and it will not be complete or occupied for a few years, Recchie said. The development will house an array of local retailers, which will be tailored toward the tastes of students and residents, he said. "I think it will definitely add to student life when it comes to Hillsborough," Anastasi said.

Contact the State & National $Editor\ at\ state@dailytarheel.com.$

Davis Library to feature concert poster exhibit

By Britton Alexander Staff Writer

Davis Library isn't just a haven for studying — it's also a venue

Tonight, the library's gallery will open "From the Cradle to the Cave: 18 Years of North Carolina Poster Art."

The exhibit features reproductions of 40 posters from the past two decades advertising local bands and music venues.

As a part of an initiative to document the region's music culture, Steve Weiss, head of the Southern Folklife Collection, asked the individual artists to donate their

The University Library Public Art Committee chose to place the artwork in Davis due to the space available and the large audience, Weiss said.

While the Chapel Hill library system has many art pieces, this is only the second exhibit brought to the Davis gallery, said Winifred Metz, cochairwoman of the committee.

"Our goal for the gallery is engagement," she said. "Engaging and getting folks to think about art and what's available here on campus."

The poster art comes from local venues, including Carrboro's Cat's Cradle and Franklin Street's Local

Many of the posters featured are copies of ones seen previously on lampposts. Similar work is featured at the Ackland Museum Store and was seen last January in the Carolina Union Gallery.

The posters are clustered together to highlight the five contributing artists.

These posters have commonalities which make for a cohesive display," said Linda Jacobson, keeper of the North Carolina Collection Gallery.

"This is something really new that we're doing," Jacobson said. "We're trying to think of things that are attractive to the campus community as well as the general

Jacobson said that the tones of the poster artwork vary.

"You will note the differences in the artwork, from the more representative and nostalgic to the fanciful and abstract," she said. The artists — Matt Hart, Ron

Burns and Chris Williams — have played significant roles in shaping

Liberti, Jason Lonon, Casey shows, the posters remind me history," Weiss said.

of all the great live music I have heard in our area and our musical

At tonight's opening, all five artists will participate in a panel

A concert by local band The discussion about their work.

Kingsbury Manx will follow.

DTH/MARY KOENIG The art of Ron Liberti is featured in the Davis Library Gallery. His posters can also be seen in the Ackland store.

> Weiss said he hopes the event will be well-attended. He said, "I hope students will have a great time and enjoy the music and wonderful artwork on display."

> Contact the Arts Editor at arts@dailytarheel.com.

On the wire: national and world news

Know more on today's stories: dailytarheel.com/nationworld

>>> Jobs resigns as Apple CEO, serve, if the Board sees fit, as becomes chairman of board

SAN JOSE, Calif. (MCT) -Steve Jobs has resigned as CEO at Apple, the company he cofounded at age 21 and turned into an international business icon, known for its tremendous profits and elegantly designed devices like the iPhone, iPad and Mac computers. The Cupertino, Calif., company announced Wednesday that veteran executive Tim Cook has been named as Jobs' replacement. "I have always said if there ever came a day when I could no longer meet my duties and expectations as Apple's CEO, I would be the first to let you know. Unfortunately, that day has come," Jobs wrote, in a letter addressed "to the Apple Board of Directors and the Apple Community."

The 56-year-old Jobs has been on his third medical leave after previously being treated for pancreatic cancer and a liver trans-

The company said the board had voted to elect Jobs as chairman. In his letter, Jobs told the Apple board, "I would like to

Chairman of the Board, director and Apple employee." He also recommended the company implement its succession plan by naming Cook as CEO.

Cook, who had been acting in Jobs' place while Jobs was on medical leave, had previously served as chief operating officer, responsible for the company's worldwide sales, supply chain and other operations. He also headed Apple's Macintosh division.

Apple's stock dropped more than 5 percent in after-hours trading Wednesday after the company released Jobs' letter.

North Korean and Russian leaders meet in Siberia

MOSCOW (MCT) — Reclusive North Korean leader Kim Jong Il met with Russian President Dmitry Medvedev in remote eastern Siberia on Wednesday reportedly to discuss such issues as a natural gas pipeline, economic aid and nuclear disarmament.

Kim, on his first trip to Russia in nearly a decade, is desperate for economic aid for his starving country, and Medvedev is seeking to bolster Russia's economic involvement in northeast Asia.

the Chapel Hill music scene.

"To me all the work underscores what is so great about our local arts community," Weiss said.

aesthetically pleasing advertisements — they're also historical

"Because they advertise past documents.

He said the posters aren't just

Russia wants to build a pipeline through the Korean peninsula to sell Siberian natural gas to North Korea, Japan and South

In a statement released before the meeting, the Kremlin said the pipeline project was critical.

Russian media reported that Kim and Medvedev tentatively agreed to move ahead with the pipeline, but analysts expressed doubts over any deal with the authoritarian regime.

The two leaders also reportedly discussed a plan for Russia to extend power lines into North Korea to sell electricity from facilities like the Bureya hydroelectric

Federal deficit is expected to hit $1.3 trillion in 2011

WASHINGTON, D.C. (MCT) A third consecutive year of massive federal deficits and a slumping economy with high unemployment portrays a bleak fiscal outlook for the U.S., promising a divisive political debate this fall over how to get the country

MCT/WIRE

>>> Steve Jobs, seen in this file photo from September 9, 2009, resigned as Apple CEO in a letter released Wednesday afternoon.

back on track.

The Congressional Budget Office said Wednesday the federal deficit is projected to hit $1.3 trillion in fiscal 2011, the third year of shortfalls at levels not seen since World War II.

As the economy continues to struggle, unemployment is expected to remain stubbornly high through the end of the year, but dip to 8.5 percent as the 2012 election approaches, a slight improvement but still high and on par with previous projections.

Democrats and Republicans seized on the report as Congress and President Barack Obama prepare to battle anew over the best approach to improving the economic outlook while reducing the nation's debt.

The Daily Tar Heel

The Daily Tar Heel

DRIVERS: OTR and regional. Great pay and excellent benefits. 401K, bonuses. Miles and guaranteed hometime! CDL-A 6 months. OTR experience required. 866-265-3715.

Help Wanted

DIRECT CARE STAFF NEEDED: The Arc of Orange County is seeking direct care staff to work with individuals with developmental disabilities. Part-time, afterschool, weekend hours available. High school dima, clean record required. Application: ckeller@arcoforange.org.

CLINICAL TEACHING TUTORS needs advanced math, science, English, writing, special educators, reading, educators for tutor-ing. Car. Superb scholarship. MAT, scholars welcome. Superb spoken English. Days and hours available: 7 days available. $17/hr and up. Marketing and organization: $10/hr

RETAIL SALES: Omega Sports at New Hope Commons is seeking part-time sales associates. Training uying discounts, incentives, flex-le schedules. Contact Michele at MHinnant@OmegaSports.net.

UNC COLLEGE STUDENT to work at Chapel Hill deli restaurant. Several positions open. Apply in person at Tracy's Deli, Galleria, 400 South Elliott Road or tracysnewyorkdeli@yahoo.com.

MORNING BARN HELP: Do you miss horses already? Small dressage barn 20 minutes from UNC. 10-15 hrs-wk. $10/hr. No riding, lessons available. Send resume: NCDressageBarn@gmail.com.

Help Wanted

CARRBORO RECREATION AND PARKS (Athletics). Part-time temporary. YOUTH BASEBALL UMPIRES: August thru October for games involving ages 6-12, umpiring experience and/or sound baseball, softball knowledge preferred, 2-10 games/wk played M-F evenings and Saturdays. Pay rate: $15.50-$23.50/game, depending on league. BASKETBALL OFFICIALS: October thru February for games played M-F evenings and Sat-urdays, 2-10 games/wk, flexible scheduling, previous experience and/or sound basketball knowledge preferred. Pay range: $16.50-$21.50/game. FACILITY, ACTIVITY SUPER-VISORS: August thru October, 4-20 hrs/wk; week day, evening and weekend hours. Assist with special events, general and athletic programs. Recreation program experience and knowledge preferred. Pay rate: $9/ hr. Positions are open until filled. For more information, call 918-7364. For an application contact HR. 301 West Main Street. Carrboro, NC 27510; or visit our website at www.townofcarrboro.org. EOE.

PART-TIME OFFICE ASSISTANT

UNC alum owned transportation business. 15-24 hrs/wk. Flexible schedule. Minimum GPA 3.2. Prefer junior, senior. $12-$14/hr. Must have car. Great opportunity to work in small business setting. Email UNCAs-sistant@gmail.com with letter of interest, desired schedule.

PLACE A CLASSIFIED www.dailytarheel.com OR CALL 962-0252

Help Wanted

GYMNASTICS INSTRUCTORS WANTED! Sport Art Gymnastics Center Chapel Hill looking for enthusiastic, reliable individuals. Teach recreational gymnastic classes part-time. Children age 5 and up. Start now. Gymnastic teaching experience required. Mark, 919-929-7077, 919-732-2925.

FUN RECEPTIONIST NEEDED! Outgoing, organized receptionist needed for fun children's hair salon near Southpoint.. Part-time, Tu-F. $8/hr. Email resume and availability: jill@peekado.com.

OFFICE MANAGER The Chapel Hill-Carrboro YMCA Boomerang Program is seeking administrative office manager. Responsible for providing support services by overseeing and performing clerical and administrative tasks. Proven experience in developing work procedures and standards to improve office efficiency and effectiveness. Strong proven skills in managing multiple projects in an ever changing environment; Professional demeanor a must with ability to communicate, verbally and written, with youth, families and community partners; Proficiency in Microsoft Office required, as well as other office equipment.

Full-time, M-F with benefits: medical, dental and life insurance paid for by the YMCA. Submit resume, cover letter and application to N. Chan at nchan@chcymca.org or 980 MLK, Jr. Blvd., Chapel Hill, 27514. Applica-

www.dailytarheel.com

Help Wanted

BECOME A BARTENDER! $250 a day potential No experience necessary. Training courses available. 1-800-965-6520 ext. 105.

AFTERSCHOOL COUNSELOR: Chapel Hill-Carrboro YMCA are hiring afterschool counselors. Positions are available for grades K-8th, Monday thru Friday, 2-6pm and flexible schedules are available. You must be 18 years or older and have experience working with children. Education majors are preferred but most of all you need to enjoy working with children. Ap-plication is on our website, www.chcymca. org or you can apply at Chapel Hill Branch at 980 MLK Blvd. Forward applications to nchan@chcymca.org or leave at the front desk of the Chapel Hill Branch.

EGG DONORS NEEDED. UNC Health Care seeking healthy, non-smoking females 21-30 to become egg donors. All ethnicities welcome. $3,000 mpensation for COMPLETED cycle All visits and procedures to be done local to campus. For written informa-tion, please call 919-966-1150 ext. 5

Homes For Sale

WALK TO CARRBORO!! Close to UNC. 105-K Jones Ferry Road. 2BR/2.5BA. Hardwoods, stainless appliances, granite counters, tiled bathrooms, 2 master bedrooms, walk in closets, large loft, covered rear natio. all ar pliances convey. MLS #1774181 $258,000. Call Craig (CB HPW), 919-593-4439.

Parking

PARKING SPACE RENTAL, Walking distance to campus. $200/semester. Call 919-219-2891. GREAT LOCATION: Parking space 2 blocks from Carolina Inn. $340/semester. Call 919-929-3494.

Roommates

ROOMMATE WANTED: Furnished 2BR/2BA condo 10 minutes from UNC and Duke. Available 8-24, $750/mo +utilities. sdula@live.unc.edu, 704-213-4440.

FEMALE GRAD, PROFESSIONAL looking to share beautiful 2BR/2BA in quiet condo community. $500/mo. W/D, large bedroom, bath, on busline. rmbeitia5@hotmail.com, 386-405-4863. 919-240-5385.

1BR WITH PRIVATE BATH available in 4BR house with 3 male UNC seniors. $550/mo.

+utilities. Available now with lease through 5-28-12. s2schwartz@gmail.com. 1BR WITH PRIVATE BATH available in 4BR house with 3 male UNC seniors. $550/mo. +utilities. Available now with lease through 5-28-12. s2schwartz@gmail.com

Rooms

$425/MO. ROOM TO RENT. Beautiful 3BR home in Woodlake Subdivision. Minutes from UNC, Duke, Southpoint Mall. Fireplace, W/D, front porch, back deck, fenced yard, views of the lake and walking trails, pool and gym room. Call Sarah, 919 321 8545 or Steve, 919 593 1684.

Rooms

FURNISHED ROOM WITH PRIVATE BATH IN PRIVATE HOME. Major busline and park and ride. Kitchen privileges, much privacy. Nonsmoker. 919-225-7687.

$100/MO. OFF chapelridgeliving.com. Rent is usually $594/mo. but will rent for $494/

Services

MATH TUTOR, editor, proofreader, vegan chef and tutor, organic hand tool gardener, mother's helper, convalescent or elderly helper, housekeeper. Dr. Christi Jones, PhD. 919-923-1313, christijones55@gmail.com. HOUSE CLEANING: Professional, thorough, reasonable. 1 time, ongoing, special events. Carrboro Cleaning by Marc Kolman (owner, operator). 724-3840.

Tutoring Wanted

TUTORS NEEDED FOR 9TH GRADER. Need 1 tutor for English, World History and 1 for Geometry, Biology. All honors classes. Smart student with learning differences Prior teaching, tutoring experience required. Less than 1 mile. from UNC. Late August thru early June. 1-2 hours twice a week. jessicaxsmith@nc.rr.com.

MATH TUTORING: Reliable math tutor to help delightful Chapel Hill High freshman learn and manage her math homework. 6-7:30pm, 3 days/wk, $20/hr, Please email words@nc.rr.com or call 919-824-6045

Volunteering ARF YOU A WOMAN who smokes cigarettes

ute to science by participating in a smoking study that examines how smoking affects thinking and mood. Do you answer yes your thinking and mood. Do you answer yes to the following questions? Are you between the ages of 18 and 45? Are you smoking at least 10 cigarettes per day? Do you have a normal menstrual cycle? If so, please call Joe at 919-416-2099 or Liz at 919-416-2425. If you participate in this study, we will compensate you up to $118 for your time. Pro0002799

Wheels for Sale

PIAGGIO FLY SCOOTER: Low mileage and in pristine condition with helmet and battery charger. $2,000 or best offer.

RECYCLE ME PLEASE!

Place a Classified: www.dailytarheel.com/classifieds or Call 919-962-0252

Thursday, August 25, 2011 The Daily Tar Heel

John 30% OFF New Textbooks at Amazon

Students get FREE Two-Day Shipping

amazon.com/textbooks