The Daily Tar Heel

The Elevator On the rise

Kendall Marshall

The freshman point guard earned his starting position a couple of weeks ago, then proved Sunday against Florida State why he was given the spot in the first place. In the midst of the team's Larry Drew-inspired shake-up, Marshall had 9 points and a record-breaking 16 assists to help the Tar Heels shut down Florida State. Marshall has proven he can roll with the punches, and that's a good sign for the Tar Heels as they inch closer to March Madness.

Aaron Rodgers

From junior college athlete to Super Bowl MVP, the Green Bay Packers' quarterback has come a long way. He waited two years to take over Brett Favre's starting position, but patience proved to be a virtue for Rodgers as he hoisted the Lombardi Trophy Sunday night in Texas Stadium.

Super Bowl XLV

Christina Aquilera's botched National Anthem and a less-than-entertaining halftime show didn't seem to scare people off. Viewers were clearly intrigued by the black and yellow vs. green and yellow matchup as a record 111 million people tuned in to watch what proved to be an exciting game. It was the fourth Super Bowl win for the Packers, giving cheeseheads everywhere a reason to celebrate.

On the decline

Larry Drew II

He was splitting time with Marshall, but the point guard skipped town without even telling his teammates. To make things worse, having his father break the news was a slap in the face to Roy. Now he'll sit the bench for a year and a half.

The NFL

The NFL's collective bargaining agreement expires in March, and Bloomberg is reporting that there's a 70 percent chance of a lockout. A lockout would mean that there wouldn't be any professional football next fall. What do they expect us to do on Sundays?

Sidney Lowe

The former N.C. State point guard helped the Wolfpack win a national title in 1983, but he hasn't had the same luck as coach of his alma mater. In five years with the Wolfpack, Lowe's earned an unimpressive 83-73 record, and fans are on the verge of mutiny in Raleigh, provided the Wolfpack don't make a miraculous turn.

Zac Bennett tries to escape a waistlock against Virginia earlier this season. Bennett sees Saturday's opponent Nebraska as a team UNC should aspire to. The Cornhuskers come to Chapel Hill ranked No. 13 in the country.

When Nebraska comes to Carmichael Arena on Saturday, it will be one of the last chances for the North Carolina wrestling team to prove to the home crowd that its inconsistency is a thing of the past.

Inconsistency has been a problem for Coach C.D. Mock's team all year, for upper and underclassmen alike. But Mock likes what he's seeing lately.

"I know that the inconsistencies that a lot of the guys have had are getting better," he said. "I feel like we've been on an uphill trend since the Navy-Maryland weekend. I think the guys are practicing much, much better – much, much harder and I think they are bringing that to the mat."

Of the upperclassmen that have struggled week to week,

"I think the guys are practicing much, much better — much, much harder."

C.D. MOCK, NORTH CAROLINA WRESTLING COACH

record this season is 24-14 but he suffered a knee injury last Friday has only managed to win three of his last 11 matches.

Scotton wrestled Burroughs as a sophomore in a bout that Scotton described as one where the "wheels fell off."

Mock expects this match to be competitive if Scotton sticks to his strengths

"Burroughs wrestles a lot like Thomas," Mock said. "Burroughs is an outside wrestler and likes to hit the double leg. Both of them are probably two of the quickest wrestlers on the planet."

The similarity in their style comes from familiarity.

"We're both South Jersey boys, senior Thomas Scotton will have I've known Jordan (Burroughs) against N.C. State and had to turn around and wrestle a much stronger opponent on Saturday. Mock said that he would be good to go by this Saturday.

Nebraska will not only be bringing the best 165-pound wrestler in the country this weekend, but also the No. 13 ranked team.

"They're a very tough, big-time wrestling school, in the Big 12," Mock said, "They've got a couple of exceptional individuals ... Our guys are going to have to bring it."

Freshman Zac Bennett, who has been very hot as of late, doesn't see Nebraska as a challenge as much as something to aspire to be like.

"I really think that is the kind of ant for UNC and ants it." Bennett
