

Southern Oral History Program

Informed Consent and Copyright Permission for oral history interviews, images, personal documents, and use thereof

The Southern Oral History Program is a component of the Center for the Study of the American South at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. In order for us to conduct the interview and for the Material provided by you to be deposited in the Southern Historical Collection, it is necessary for you to sign this form. Before doing so, please read it carefully and ask any questions you may have regarding its terms and conditions.

I, Timothy Bazemore Sr., voluntarily agree to be interviewed for this Southern Oral History Program research project and to permanently give, convey, and assign the audio recordings, transcripts, and any other documents or materials ("the Material" to the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill on behalf of the Southern Oral History Program (the "University"). I understand that I am free to decline to answer any questions that make me uncomfortable or to stop the interview at any time, with no negative consequences. There are no foreseeable risks in doing this interview. The benefit of the interview is to increase historical knowledge for the general public.

I understand that the Material created or compiled as part of the interview process may include:

- An audio and/or video recording
- An edited transcript, abstract, field notes, short descriptive essay, and/or tape log
- A photograph or other still image of me in my home or office
- Copies of personal documents of my choosing that I provide

I herein freely share the Material with the SOHP and the Southern Historical Collection under the terms of a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-ShareAlike 3.0 Unported License. This means that I retain the copyright to the Material, but that the public may freely copy, modify, and share these items for non-commercial purposes under the same terms if they include original source information.

I understand that the Material enters UNC's Southern Historical Collection in Wilson Library, and I consent to let the Material be made available for use consistent with the University's mission, including but not limited to use whole or in part in exhibitions, public programs, documentary films, radio broadcasts, and publications in all formats and media, including on the Internet. See examples here: www.lib.unc.edu/dc/sohp/.

I further understand that I will have the opportunity to review and edit a transcript of my interview before it is made available.
