Hi everyone,

Today I have sent out 100+ texts to UNC students to remind them to vote for Andrew Powell, with a link to the voting website (<https://studentlife.unc.edu/>). I have gotten 10 or so responses from people saying they had forgotten to vote and will now log on to vote for Andrew!

The point of this story is that we cannot assume everyone will vote after seeing posts on Facebook or our signs in the Pit. A friendly reminder via text to vote for Andrew, with a link to the voting website, is a surefire way to increase our vote count. Please take a few minutes out of your day to text your UNC friends and acquaintances to vote for Andrew Powell!

Thank you and let's win this thing,

p.s. as a note, if people are having trouble voting on mobile, if you scroll to the bottom of the website there is an option to return to the full website – click this and voting should work fine!
