

REQUEST FOR APPLICATIONS FACULTY SCHOLARS PROGRAM 2017-2018 (Deadline March 20, 2017)

Description of Program. The Carolina Women's Center (CWC) offers UNC-Chapel Hill faculty an opportunity to serve as Faculty Scholar at the CWC for the academic year 2016-2017. Three Faculty Scholars are selected yearly. Each Faculty Scholar will receive funding of up to $10,000 to support a scholarly project consistent with the priorities of the Carolina Women's Center. Scholars will have the opportunity to participate in CWC events and meet with CWC staff, former CWC Faculty Scholars, and invited scholars from other centers or departments.

Faculty Scholar Projects. Proposed projects may focus on teaching, research, engaged scholarship, or service that is directly related to the mission and activity areas of the Carolina Women's Center:

The Center's mission is to create an inclusive education and work environment where gender is not a barrier to success, difference and diversity are celebrated, and everyone is safe to live, learn, teach, and work without threat of harm or unequal treatment.

The activities of the Carolina Women's Center focus on issues central to students, faculty, and staff on college and university campuses, including Violence Prevention, Family Advocacy, Closing Gender Gaps, and Gender, Difference, and Diversity.

Requirements of Faculty Scholars. Faculty Scholars must make a public presentation about their project or their work-in-progress (usually during the Spring semester) and write a column about their work for the CWC newsletter. They are encouraged to participate in CWC programs and activities and to assist in planning of other events related to the subject of their scholarly activity at the Center.

History of the Faculty Scholars Program. Former CWC Director Diane Kjervik initiated this program in January 2006 to promote scholarship on issues important to women and to enhance the scholarly aspects of the work of the CWC. The program is supported by the Office of the Provost. Previous Faculty Scholars are as follows:

Spring 2006: Professor Diane Kjervik, Senior CWC Faculty Scholar (School of Nursing)
Spring 2007: Dr. Kimberly Brownley (Psychiatry), Dr. Maxine Eichner (School of Law)

Application Instructions:

- ✓ Complete applicant information form (next page)
- ✓ Attach your full CV
- ✓ Attach a description of your project (3 single-space pages maximum)
- ✓ Attach a detailed 1-page budget (not included in 3-page project description limit)
- ✓ Include a letter of endorsement from your chair/director/dean that describes how this research support will support your career development goals.
- ✓ Submit entire package, preferably as a single pdf, via email to clarecounihan@unc.edu by 5:00 p.m, on Monday, March 20, 2017.

Eligibility and Selection Criteria. Proposals are welcome from all full-time faculty (fixed-term, tenured, or tenure-track) and from part-time faculty with at least a .5FTE appointment, regardless of gender identity or expression. Applicants should have a minimum of three or more years of service by the start of the grant in any department, center, or school of the University. Applicants must have endorsement from their chair, director, or dean that describes how the project will contribute to the applicant's career development. A committee of faculty appointed by the Director of the Carolina Women's Center will review applications and provide recommendations to the Director. Applications will be judged on the basis of the following:

- Relationship between the project and CWC mission and activities
- Significance of the project
- Potential of the project to engage other campus units or foster interdisciplinary collaboration
- Leaves during the past three years
- Availability of other support for the proposed project.
